Dempsey Denied N. Y. License

SPORTING CLOSING STOCKS

BOSTON AMERICAN

A HOME PAPER FOR PEOPLE WHO THINK

THE Peach

VOL. 23—No. 117 — BOSTON, TUESDAY, AUGUST 10, 1926 — 2 CENTS — WITHIN 50 MILES OF BOSTON, 3 CENTS

GAY LITTLE FILM STAR'S LIFE IN DANGER

JACKIE COOGAN
His beautiful place in California was the scene of a mysterious shooting, thought to have been caused by revenge.

MOVE FOR NEW WRIT TO SAVE CARBARN TRIO

Man Shot in Jackie Coogan Plot

WATCHMAN IS BADLY WOUNDED BY THREE BULLETS FROM GUN

Los Angeles, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—What police believe may have been an attempt to seek revenge against Jackie Coogan, boy film actor, and his parents for a fancied wrong was frustrated early today.

The attempt resulted in the serious wounding of Joe Block, 42, a special watchman.

Block was shot three times when he stumbled over a man hidden among shrubbery lining the driveway of the Coogan home in the Wilshire district. The watchman emptied his gun at his assailant, but the man, identified by Block and police as Don McKee, alias Don Shepherd, a former chauffeur for the Coogans, left the scene in a roadster automobile. The car was found by police a half-hour later on the other side of the city.

McKee, police say, was "fired" by the Coogans on several occasions, but re-employed. He was discharged by his employers in New York lately and returned to the Coast a short time after they arrived here from the East.

Arthur L. Bernstein, Jackie Coogan's manager, informed police that shortly before the gun battle he was called to the telephone and informed that he was marked for death. He reported that he recognized the man's voice as McKee's.

DEMPSEY-TUNNEY ASK FOR RIGHT TO FIGHT

New York, Aug. 10.—Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney appeared before the license committee of the New York Athletic Commission early this afternoon.

For waiting for the License Commissioners Muldoon weighed Tunney and the champion with little street clothes on.

Tunney tipped the scales at 191½, while Dempsey registered 192. It was estimated that stripped Tunney would weigh 193½ and Dempsey 197.

"Gene has certainly filled out since I saw him last," said Dempsey.

Both Dempsey and Tunney, together with their managers, were individually called before the two members of the License Committee.

Neither the Champion nor Tunney would reveal what occurred in their sessions, but it was significant that some obstacles remained in the way.

Colonel J. J. Phelan, chairman of the license committee, went into the meeting in an open frame of mind as regards granting licenses to either Dempsey or the fighting marine.

He said if everything was all right, the applications would be granted. But if there were any irregularities contrary to the box

Continued on Page 13, Column 1.

JACK AND ESTELLE AWAITING VERDICT

The case of Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, is today before the supreme court of boxing, and the fate of the Dempsey-Tunney battle hangs in the balance while the New York license committee, headed by Col. Phelan, mulls over its decision. If Dempsey is granted a boxing license by the committee he will fight Tunney at the Yankee Stadium. If he is refused Rickard will have to take the bout to New Jersey, Pennsylvania or some other State. (See sport section for first action pictures of Jack Dempsey snapped in New York gymnasium.)

JUGGINS GOING OVER FULLER'S HEAD TO SAVE SLAYERS FROM CHAIR

In a surprise move to save the three carbarn slayers by forcing the Governor's Council to consider the question of John J. Devereaux's mental condition, Attorney Francis A. Juggins prepared to file an application for a writ of mandamus in the Supreme Court today.

Deputy sheriffs in every county where executive councillors reside were asked to stand ready to hunt them out and serve summonses on them when Clerk John F. Cronin of the Supreme Court issued the necessary order in response to the application.

Attorney Juggins was ready to fight for the condemned youths along this line at the same time that he pursued his efforts to get a writ of habeas corpus from the Supreme Court and a review of Devereaux's mentality by that body.

"This move is a direct result of the failure of the Council to take part in the case on my previous petition," said Attorney Juggins. "If the Governor will not submit the question to them we will try to have the highest court in the Commonwealth force them to listen to our plea."

While the twin moves to save the youths were being perfected, preparations for the execution were continued at Charlestown.

Warden Hendry conferred with Governor Fuller's secretary, Herman A. McDonald, in regard to his duty in case the Supreme Court proceedings now pending extend beyond the present week, which was set by the court for the time of the execution.

He was informed that in the event the court fails to decide the habeas corpus proceedings before the end of

Continued on Page 2, Column 1.

DEMPSEY REFUSED NEW YORK LICENSE

New York, Aug. 10.—The license committee of the New York Athletic Commission today refused Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, a license to fight Gene Tunney in a 15-round bout at the Yankee Stadium on Sept. 16.

STOCKS RALLY AFTER A SETBACK

Stocks rallied in New York after sharp setbacks. General Motors was off around 14 at its lowest. Steel was off over 3. Du Pont sank over 15. Setbacks appeared all over the list. Loose-Wiles Biscuit staged a sensational comeback, breaking 9 points to 146 1-2 in the early trading and then soaring to a new record high for all time at 166 3-4. The close was mixed.

GENERAL MOTORS OFF AS MARKET SLUMPS

General Motors sold off a dozen points and Steel more than 3 points in another recessional movement that started in early trading today.

U. S. Cast Iron Pipe dropped 8. Warner Pictures dropped 4. Remington sagged over 3. Losses spread over a broad list soon after the opening, but soon a good rally was underway, and this was followed by further selling.

Considerable nervousness was manifested in Wall Street over the $86,000,000 increase in brokers' loans reported after the close of the market Monday.

Losses were most severe in the industrial stocks which have been leading the upward procession in recent weeks. Du Pont was off over 15.

4 PRIESTS REPORTED SLAIN BY MEXICANS

Mexico City, Aug. 10 (I.N.S.).—Four priests were killed, several citizens wounded and forty-three taken prisoner in a clash between Catholics and soldiery at Aguayo, in the State of Michoacan, the Mexican Catholic episcopate announced today.

Details of the riot were lacking. The dispatch did not state whether any of the soldiers were injured.

The conflict between the Catholic Church and the government appeared hopelessly deadlocked today. All efforts at mediation have ceased following President Calles' repeated rebuffs of well-meaning intermediaries both from within the government and without.

Pastors of Protestant churches in Mexico City have appealed to the American Embassy to prevent an inventory of objects within the buildings which government agents are seeking to take as a preliminary step toward their nationalization.

As the embassy it was stated that

Continued on Page 5, Column 4.

Today

Good Last Words
Power in Russia
Religion in Politics
Trouble for Democrats

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1926, by Star Publishing Co.)

IT IS SUGGESTED that nineteen old churches in London, threatened with demolition, some designed by Sir Christopher Wren, be removed and set up in the United States.

Better spend the money for a monument to Wren, one of the world's great men. He was a great architect, great mathematician and a great astronomer.

LAST WORDS of great men are piously collected. Frederick the Great's "Tete D'Armee"; Pitt's "My Country, How I Love Thee," or "How I Leave Thee"; Goethe's "More Light," etc.—

A YOUNG POLICEMAN, Frank Murphy, killed by bandits in the course of duty, said to his captain who consoled with him as he lay dying, "That's all right, Cap. It's all in the job." Those last words are as good as any.

NEWS COMES from Denmark of uprisings in Russia, stories of Trotsky leading military revolts.

The Russian government has power, first of all the power of revolution, which is great. It enabled French revolutionists to conquer and terrorize European countries.

The revolution in Russia possesses the power that comes of giving land to people working on it.

Bolshevism took gigantic es-

Continued on Page 4, Column 4.

GARLAND'S WIFE WINS DIVORCE AND CHILDREN

New Bedford, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—Mrs. Mary Wrenn Garland was granted an unconditional divorce from Charles Garland today at Barnstable Probate Court.

The hearing was made before Judge Collen C. Campbell. Mrs. Garland, who took the stand for a few minutes, giving the date and place of her marriage, was granted the

Continued on Page 2, Column 8.

NEARLY KILLS WIFE AS HE ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Worcester, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—Choking from illuminating gas, Mrs. Lara M. Nelson, 72, an invalid, escaped from her home shortly before midnight after her husband Lars, 99, had turned on three gas jets in the kitchen range in what the police believe was an attempt at suicide.

Hoover Going West

Washington, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—After a visit with President Coolidge at White Pine Camp the latter part of this week, Secretary Hoover will spend three weeks in the West.

Dr. True's Elixir
Aids in keeping you fit
The True Family Laxative

26 FISHERMEN GONE; SCHOONER IS WRECKED

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 10 (A.P.)—Twenty-six fishermen were believed today to have been drowned when the Sylvia Mosher of Lunenburg was pounded to pieces on the outer bar to the north of Sable Island.

The wreck was reported in dispatches from the Sable Island lifesaving service, where it was believed the schooner was a victim of last Sunday's hurricane. No signs of the crew was seen on the wreck.

Priceless relics of the sea were lost in the yacht club blaze. Among the most valued of these were gifts by the late Admiral Robert E. Peary, brought back from his expeditions to the North Pole.

Additional losses were $10,000 on the machine shop and fitting up plant of the Portland Ship Calking Company and $17,000 by R. M. Lewis on surplus war supplies stored on Brown's wharf.

Get it at —
IVER JOHNSON'S BICYCLES
Washington St. at Cornhill

WILDEY SAVINGS BANK
82 Boylston St., Boston
Deposits Go on Interest
AUGUST 16
JOIN OUR VACATION CLUB

CLOUDY FAIR SHOWERS RAIN COOLER
THE WEATHER
HIGH TIDE
1:03 A. M.
1:33 P. M.
Sun
Rise 5:45 A. M.
Sets 7:54 P. M.
Light All Vehicles at 8:36 P. M.

NORTHEASTERN EVENING
POLYTECHNICAL SCHOOL
College Courses in Civil, Mechanical, Electrical, Chemical and Structural ENGINEERING
50 different subjects—Special and regular students admitted.
Registration begins September 20
Write, call, or phone for catalog.
Carl S. Ell, Dean, 316 Huntington Ave.
Tel. Back Bay 4490, Boston Y. M. C. A.

Looking for a better room? Cooler, lighter, larger?

Turn to the next-to-the-last pages. There you will find a good selection of desirable rooms listed alphabetically and grouped by districts in the Classified Ads.

FREE WORLD TRIPS FOR 'FILM FACE' WINNERS

SEE PAGE 9

JUGGINS PLANS TO GO OVER FULLER'S HEAD TO SAVE SLAYERS

FATAL HOUR FOR DOOMED TRIO THAT ONLY COURT CAN AVERT

GRIM REAPER POINTS THE TIME
Here is the dial of fate in the dread hour of midnight when the slayers are listed to die unless court intervenes.

IN DEATH CELLS
Left to right, Edward J. Heinlein, John J. McLaughlin and John J. Devereaux, condemned to die in electric chair.

CHILDREN KNOW NOT THE ISSUE
The hands of the clock at State prison are twin hands of death to Devereaux, Heinlein and McLaughlin, for when they reach the dreaded time of five minutes past twelve some morning of this week, the three youths must forfeit their lives, unless the Supreme Court intervenes. McLaughlin's children, Helen and Jackie, are unaware of the terrible story the ticking clock is unfolding.

SEEKS NEW WRIT IN COURT

Continued from First Page.

the week, the Governor can call a meeting of the Council and grant a respite.

The "killer" who has been hired for the task of actually performing the electrocution by throwing the switch is not yet in Boston. He was to have arrived today. It was said at State Prison, and his grim job was to have been done at midnight tonight, according to prearranged plans, but the delay obtained for the trio necessitated a change in his schedule.

His pay will be $450, figured at the rate of $150 for each man executed.

Cheered by their new lease of life and the possibility of being allowed to appear in court themselves tomorrow, all three of the condemned men, John J. Devereaux, Edward J. Heinlein and John J. McLaughlin, surprised their visitors today by their demeanor.

RALLY PLANS BLOCKED.

Plans for a public rally for them were pushed but Secretary Frank Manning of the Clemency Committee met with red tape in arranging for a Cambridge location and the time of the meeting could not be set.

Peter McLaughlin, brother of John J. McLaughlin and himself awaiting trial on the same charges that brought the death sentence to his former pals, will be aided by the Clemency Committee that has been working for the condemned trio. This announcement was made by Manning who declared that a fund has been started for this purpose.

One of the witnesses that Attorney Juggins expects to bring to court in the habeas corpus proceedings tomorrow morning, when the fate of the slayers will rest with Supreme Court Justice Henry K. Braley, is Dr. Isadore Green of Bay State street, who examined Devereaux in connection with his claim for permanent compensation and found him to have a "phychopathic personality."

James J. McDonald, legal adviser of the Veterans' Bureau in Boston, will be called upon to present government records in Devereaux' case.

Devereaux was once recommended for confinement in an insane hospital by city of Boston experts, according to records which Dr. Green reports having found in the bureau.

Although able to order any delicacies they desire, the three chose to eat the regular prison fare at breakfast. Shortly afterward Father Mich ael Murphy, the prison chaplain, visited them in company with Dr Joseph F. McLaughlin, the prison doctor, and both reported on the cheerful spirits of the condemned men.

Heinlein was reported expressing regret that he is not allowed to have his radio set in his death cell. When the three youths were at East Cambridge Jail beh ad a one-tube set, which helped pass the monotonous hours of confinement, and when there were no programs broadcast, he spent much of his time tinkering with the set, for is an amateur expert of many years' practice.

Attorneys generally are awaiting with much interest Justice Braley's decision. He may decide the matter himself or he may report it to the full bench.

Attorney Juggins will make a verbal plea before Justice Braley, in addition to testimony of a group of alienists which he will use. Dr. Edward B. Lane of the Adams Nervine Hospital and the United States Federal Bureau, who provided the doctor's report on Devereaux's mental state will be called when he applied for compensation.

TELLS OF FIGHT IN HALL CASE

Newark, N. J., Aug. 10 (I.N.S.)—An entirely new witness in the Hall-Mills murder investigation was discovered today who, for the first time, described a fight that took place at the Mills home early on the morning that the bodies of Mrs. Eleanor Mills and the Rev. Dr. Edward Hall were discovered on the Phillips Farm.

This new witness was discovered while James Mills, husband of the slain choir singer, was undergoing his second day's questioning at the hands of Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson.

She is Freida Vogel Ferguson, 21 of Newark. Four years ago, then Freida Vogel, she lived to the rear of the Mills home, she said, and knew all of the principals in the Hall-Mills case. Describing the fight, she said:

FROM BACK ROOM.

"Mine was a back room on the second floor, less than ten yards from the Mills porch. I had gone to bed shortly before midnight and soon fell asleep. At about 3 o'clock I was awakened by loud voices and the chuffling of several figures. It sounded like a violent fight.

"There were at least three persons talking, maybe four. I seemed to hear considerable knocking, as though a scuffle was going on. I got out of bed and peered out of the window toward the Mills home. The back porch was only a short distance away, and I could see it clearly. There was an one on it, nor was there a light in the house."

FOUGHT 20 MINUTES.

Mrs. Ferguson said she thought she saw some shadows come from the Mills home, but could distinguish no individuals. The fighting continued for about 20 minutes and one voice shouted:

"Shut up, there's too much noise."

After that, she said, the noise subsided and she went to bed. The next day her landlady informed her of th murders.

Mrs. Ferguson is to be questioned by Senator Simpson later.

FREED AS LOVE GROWS COLD ON APRIL FARM

MRS. MARY WRENN GARLAND
Wife of Charles Garland, exponent of "free love," who won her divorce today in Barnstable Court. She was granted custody of four Garland children.

TOWN IN PERIL FROM BOMBS

Bristol, R. I., Aug. 10—Forty-two unexploded bombs, declared by experts to be enough to blow half this town off the map, were found today near the scene of the explosion of the Bristol Fireworks Company's plant which killed four persons and injured twelve.

By order of the town authorities the bombs were taken down Narragansett Bay and dumped into deep water.

The Bristol town council is investigating the explosion, as the town faces civil suits. Property owners cannot collect insurance for the thousands of dollars damage done.

MAYOR BAUER DEMANDS 2 OVERSEERS RESIGN

Mayor Bauer of Lynn went into action again today, announcing he will demand the resignations of Mrs. Carolyn M. Engler and Bernard J. Curtin as members of the Board of Overseers of the Poor of that city. The Mayor added at the same time he will prefer charges against William H. Symonds, for 20 years an investigator for the Poor Department.

Mayor Bauer contends Symonds went to New Hampshire on his vacation the last two weeks in July, taking with him a municipally-owned automobile with the permission of Mrs. Engler and Curtin. The Mayor says Symonds used the car for private business.

VICTIM OF SHOOTING STRANGELY MISSING

Providence, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—With the disappearance of the victim himself, the mystery shooting of Joseph Sylvia, Bristol farmhand strangely attacked by unknown gunmen, today deepened. Sylvia failed to report for an X-ray examination of his leg, which was badly wounded. The authorities are baffled, the only explanation they have to work on being that Sylvia may have left at midnight on a mysterious errand to Boston.

Duke Carl a Priest

Beuren, Wuerttemburg, Germany, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—Duke Carl Alexander, youngest son of Duke Albrecht of Wuerttemburg, was ordained a priest today in the presence of his family. The Duke was born March 13, 1896, and was formerly an officer in the army.

SURPRISES KIN OF HAMMONDS

Gloucester, Aug. 10.—The marriage of John Hays Hammond, Jr., son of the world-famous mining engineer, and Mrs. Irene E. Fenton Reynolds, announced exclusively in yesterday's Boston Evening American, was as much a surprise to the ex Mrs. Hammond's family as to North Shore society folk.

Mrs. Hammond's mother, seventy-seven years old, is a confirmed invalid, but her son, Dr. Alfred A. Fenton of Walpole street, Norwood, said that none of the family knew of the marriage.

"However, my sister is old enough to take care of herself and handle her own affairs," he added.

Dr. Fenton said he had never met either of the Hammonds, senior or junior, personally, though he knew both of them by sight.

Today curious society folk made pilgrimage by automobile to the Hammond estate overlooking Norman's Woe, which is to be the newlyweds' love-nest, it is understood, when young Hammond returns from Europe.

EAST WIND HITS HEAT WAVE

Winds out of the East and a hot breath from the Southwest staged a battle over Boston and Massachusetts today and the heralds of rain won out.

Early today all signs pointed to a "scorcher" for Boston and Eastern Massachusetts, this section apparently being the target for the hot wave that was driven out of the Middle West after parching Kansas, Missouri and points adjacent. But the good old East winds came to the rescue of Boston, saved the day and will bring on rains tonight.

1600 FALL IN BATTLE OF FRENCH AND DRUSES

London, Aug. 10 (I.N.S.)—The Druses have made a successful attack upon a French column between Suedia and Shaiba, killing and wounding 1,600 French, according to reports from Jerusalem to the Central News. The report comes from sources friendly to the Druse cause.

LABOR TO PUT UP TICKET

Massachusetts labor organizations will frame a platform and nominate independent labor candidates at a campaign convention to be held August 12 at Wells Memorial Hall, No. 987 Washington street, Boston.

Invitation to labor organizations throughout the State was extended today by the call committee of the Massachusetts Labor Campaign Committee.

The purpose of the convention, according to the call notice is "to enlist the co-operation of all labor's forces for the formulation of an adequate platform of labor's demands, the nomination of a slate of independent labor candidates and the organization of a State-wide campaign."

MRS. PAULINE FRENCH REPORTED RECOVERING

Mrs. Paulina LeRoy French, former wife of Ames Tuck French of New York and Newport, was today reported on the road to recovery from an illness which brought her to death's door at the Hotel Pilgrim, Plymouth.

Two days ago physicians despaired of saving the life of Mrs French, who is 61 years old, but they now hold out hopes for her ultimate recovery.

One of Mrs. French's daughters, Julia Steel French, electrified Newport in 1921 by eloping with "Handsome Jack" Geraghty, Newport chauffeur.

Lost something? Turn to the Classified Lost and Found Column.

SPURNS POISON MOTHER OFFERS

Springfield, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—Mrs. Alice McNally, thirty, is today recovering in a hospital from the effects of a dose of poison taken last night which she attempted to induce her seven-year-old son, Earl, to share with her.

Frightened at his mother's proposal, the boy ran from the apartment, then returned to see his mother sink unconscious to the floor. He called a neighbor, who notified the police.

The suicide attempt occurred when Mrs. McNally returned home, discouraged over fruitless efforts to obtain work.

Irak Premier Slashed

Bagdad, Irak, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—The Premier of Irak, Sir Abdul Mouhsin Beg al Sa'Doun, is suffering from wounds received in an attempt on his life by a customs clerk named Himi. Mouhsin was slashed with a razor. The attack is attributed to a fancied grievance.

CHINESE DRAGON JUNK IS SEIZED BY COAST GUARD

New York, Aug. 10 (A.P.)—Coast guard boats have brought strange prizes back from their coastal forays before now, but even habitues of the Battery stared today when patrol boat 180 escorted the dragon-colored Chinese junk Amoy up the bay.

The Amoy, which was sailed across the Pacific in 37 days three years ago, was picked up "on suspicion" when found flying the Chinese flag and with two young Chinese on board who had no passports with them.

After it was brought to America, the junk was bought by Leroy Lewis, head of the H. J. Lewis Oyster Company of Stratford, Ct., as a pleasure yacht. Early this spring the boat started out on a leisurely cruise under captaincy of Alfred Nilson, author.

Nilson today explained that the Chinese flag had been flown just to dress the boat up," and that the United States flag had been kept flying also. He said the Chinese, Dan Yank Skill and Choa Han Shih, were students at Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and uld later produce passports.

Thomas H. Saunders Dead

Webster, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—Dr. Thomas H. Saunders, for years town and school physician, died suddenly at midnight.

MRS. GARLAND GIVEN DIVORCE

Continued from First Page.

custody of the four Garland children.

The principal witness was Paul Scott, Steleo, N. J., a teacher, who was a member of the April Farm colony at Allentown, Pa., where Charles Garland was alleged to have lived with Bettina Hovey.

A letter from Garland to his wife, in which he called the law "a wolf in sheep's clothing," played a prominent part in the hearing.

Less than twenty minutes was occupied in the giving of testimony.

LIKENS LAW TO "WOLF."

Dated May 5, 1926, Garland's letter to his wife, which was written while he was in Allentown jail, said, in part:

"All of this has little to do with my feeling toward you personally and you must not take it as a measure of my affection. My affections would perhaps grow more freely if all the laws of our ancestors, together with the memory of those laws, were cast into the sea with a millstone attached to their necks.

"It is more important I believe to maintain a relative indifference toward outward laws than attempt to be technically correct.

"The law (in this respect) is a weapon only and has ceased to have moral significance. I lean more and more to the conclusion that the law as it is practiced today is a wolf in sheep's clothing. This opinion is strengthened by recent experience with two respectable gentlemen of the law.

GREATER LIFE IS AHEAD.

"Perhaps some day you will realize that I have cared for you not less than you expected but more than you had hoped; that while your old life has died, perhaps through neglect, a much greater life has been born through sorrow and devotion—perhaps.

"I think lots of the kids, too, and I feel ripped inside from being so much away from them. I think that they will be much better off with only you and Jean to look after them. Lots of love, Charles Garland."

Scott testified that he lived with the April Farm Colonists from September in 1924 to February in 1925, but that he left because he "could not get enough atmosphere."

CAN SEE CHILDREN.

He testified to various acts on the part of Garland who lived with Miss Hovey in a one-room shack on the farm.

"Their relationship was an open one and understood throughout the colony," he said. Scott said a child was born to Miss Hovey on July 4, 1926, which died the following October.

Judge Campbell, although he granted unconditionally the uncontested petition, secured an agreement from Mrs. Garland and her counsel that Charles Garland would be permitted a reasonable opportunity to see their children.

MAN IN CAMBRIDGE CELL BEATS FOUR OFFICERS

Attacked in a cell at the East Cambridge station, where he had gone to prepare Mike Wirshesky, thirty-five, of Windsor street, for appearance in the district court on a drunkenness charge, Captain Timothy Leahy, of the East Cambridge station was thrown to the floor and kicked.

Three other officers were beaten before they could kuiet the prisoner, handcuff him and place him in a straight jacket and leg irons.

Boy Killed by Auto

Springfield, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—Clayton Smith, eight, was fatally injured by a testnig car for a local automobile manufactory today when he walked into its path. The driver, Alfred O. McDonald, was questioned by the police, who are further investigating.

Wonderful tire values are found in the Classified Ads.

Listen In and Watch Out for Meteors

Tune in on Station M-E-T-E-O-R tonight.

This celestial station is expected to broadcast a wave of meteors that will break over the Earth in great volume all through the night.

According to astronomers a shower of meteors will descend upon the Earth, many visible to the naked eye and, seemingly, coming from the Constellation Perseus.

The visit is an annual one, falling every year upon Aug. 10.

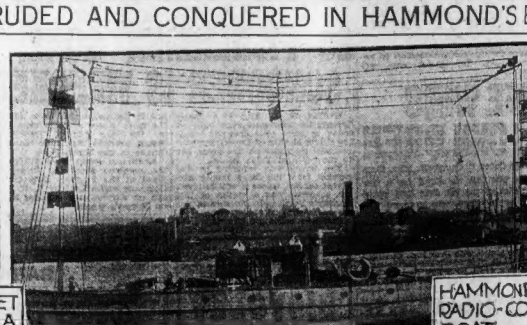
WOMAN IN BATHING SUIT DIES ON BOSTON BEACH

An unidentified woman clad in a bathing suit was stricken while seated on the beach near the Head House, South Boston, today, and died before medical aid could reach her. The woman was about 50 years old. Near where she woman was sitting were a Boston bag, a small gray hat and a black and white dress.

WHERE ROMANCE INTRUDED AND CONQUERED IN HAMMOND'S ELECTRICAL RESEARCH LABORATORY

BENEDICT
John Hays Hammond, Jr., noted inventor, was married a year ago.

HIS CHOICE
His bride was formerly Mrs. Irene E. Felton Reynolds, of Gloucester. Story on page 3.



HAMMOND'S FAMOUS NATALIA
This radio-controlled boat belonging to Hammond probably aided him in the experiments which finally enabled him to direct the controlling by radio of the battleship Iowa off the coast of Virginia in 1921. He is the inventor of the radio-controlled torpedo.

WHERE HE FIRST EXPERIMENTED
This is the first radio station of John Hays Hammond, Jr., at Gloucester and probably was the first stepping stone in the path which has led Hammond to the top of the American radio industry, where he stands today.

RUNAWAY CAMBRIDGE COUPLE WED IN DRUG STORE

As sensible a thing as getting sleep. You can find anything and everything in the alphabetically listed Classified Ads.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN
A HOME PAPER FOR THE PEOPLE WHO THINK
BOSTON, TUESDAY, AUGUST 10, 1926

GENERAL NEWS SECTION

Influence of League Is "Slipping," Says Envoy

"JACKIE" IN DANGER

EUROPEAN PROBLEMS BLAMED

Grecian Minister Declares Readjustment Needed to Meet New Conditions

Williamstown, Aug. 10 (A. P.).—Revision of the League of Nations covenant is proposed by M. Nicholas Politis, Minster of Greece to France and delegate to the league in 1923, who is lecturing at the Institute of Politics here.

Constitutional defects and the tendencies that have made political disputes almost entirely European in nature while the economic readjustments carried on under the league have assumed an universal character, point out the necessity for a reorganization, M. Politis said.

READJUSTMENT NEEDED.

Furthermore the European character of the political problems that have thus far centred about disarmament and security has made the influence of non-European powers disproportionate in those problems.

"There is no doubt that with the development of its activity the league has little by little slipped from the universal to the European plane," added M. Politis. "The principal problems with which it deals, such as disarmament and security, are of more interest to Europe than to other parts of the world, and there seems no settlement for those problems other than on the basis of continental regionalism.

M. Politis then traced the steps necessary to adjust this condition. The present league, he said, would confine its activities to problems of international co-operation, and would serve as a connecting link between the new European society, the Pan-American Union, and other similar associations.

BEAR CHASES MAINE BLUEBERRY PICKERS

Biddeford, Me., Aug. 10 (A.P.)—Claiming that she and her husband were chased by a bear while they were blueberrying, Mrs. Turgeon Odina has made an appeal for a posse to organize a bear hunt in York county.

According to her story she and her husband were picking blueberries three miles from City Hall when a large black bear appeared. They fled, she says, but the bear continued his chase for over half a mile. The animal quit when they came within sight of a farm house.

JEWELERS MUST MEET 'CHEAP' COMPETITION

Philadelphia, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—Injury to the jewelry trade inflicted by cheap articles and novelties sold by news-stands, department stores and other retail merchants can be overcome by educating the public to appreciate integrity in the reputable jeweler, speakers declared today at the opening session of the American National Retail Jewelers' Association.

Jewelers whose business has been hurt by competition of firms handling cheaper lines can improve their position by gaining public confidence, J. F. Archbald, Blairsville, Pa., past president of the association, said.

CHARGES 'PLOT' TO HANG 'CANDY KID' ON FRIDAY

Baltimore, Aug. 10 (I.N.S.).—A charge that New York and Maryland officials were "guilty of conspiracy" to hang Richard Reese Whittemore was made today by Mrs. Virginia Peters Parkhurst, a Democratic candidate for the Senate.

She has arranged for a conference with Governor Ritchie to urge the "Candy Kid's" sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. Whittemore is scheduled to hang at 12:10 a. m. Friday for the murder of a penitentiary guard.

SHIPPING BOARD MUMM ON LEVIATHAN CHARGES

Washington, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—The Shipping Board does not expect to announce the results of its recent investigation into charges of liquor-selling aboard the Leviathan.

Officials indicated today they desired to take no further part in the public controversy started by W. H. Stayton, head of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, when he charged liquor sales had been made on the Leviathan and government ships.

Four Tracks Blocked

Philadelphia, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—All four tracks of the Pennsylvannia Railroad main line, between Philadelphia and New York, were blocked early today when ten cars, loaded with sand and gravel, were wrecked between Tullytown and Morrisville, Pa.

OH, SO LOVING!
Jackie and one of the "grown-ups" in screenland of whom he is fond—and she of him. He is a great favorite with all.

JACKIE SNAPS GOVERNOR FULLER AND
When he was in Boston the movie boy visited the State House... ook away a souvenir of the chief executive. He is cautioning them to look pleasant as he aims his camera.

IN "THE KID"
Scene from play with Jackie and Charlie Chaplin.

FATHER AND MOTHER
Mr. and Mrs. John H. Coogan, who's son has made such a hit with movie fans.

ROMANCE ISENDED OVER ICE CREAM

Betty Niven Marrier to Florida Broker at Quincy; Will Break News to Parents

Eighteen - year - old Betty Niven of Cambridge and Henry Allan Balcomb, late of St. Petersburg, Fla., who last week gave Cambridge reporters a run-around on their prospective marriage, had the ceremony performed early today in a Quincy drugstore.

It may be the couple thought they were still avoiding the publicity which caused them to refrain from using their marriage license last week, but if so they were strangely deluded.

Within a short time after the ceremony in its unique location, practically all of Eastern Massachusetts was aware of it, and it is likely there will be some explaining for the bridegroom to do.

FOR ICE CREAM.

The young couple, accompanied by friends, were motoring from Hampton Beach to Cape Cod when they reached the Elks' Home Pharmacy in Quincy Centre and went in for an ice cream.

While in the store the question of getting married was brought up, and someone suggested calling a clergyman. The idea proved popular, with the result that the Rev. James H. Sankey of Quincy was awakened and after the matter was explained to him he dressed and hurried to the drugstore, where he made Miss Niven and Balcomb one. Joseph Norton of St. Petersburg, Fla., a friend of the groom, was best man.

After the wedding the couple left for the United States Hotel, where they planned to break the news to Betty's family.

The bride is a former Cambridge High and Latin School student, who lives with her mother and married sister, Mrs. Robert A. Craig, at No. 71 Norfolk street, Cambridge.

IN SECRET PACT.

Balcomb appeared from Florida in Cambridge a short time ago, giving his occupation as a broker, and carelessly broadcasting the information that he had "cleaned up" in Florida land deals.

On July 28 he appeared at Cambridge City Hall and filed intentions to marry Miss Niven. At that time he begged the newspapermen to help him maintain secrecy and they agreed on condition he give them the story immediately after the wedding, which was scheduled for the following Wednesday. Wednesday arrived, but no Betty, although later Betty appeared and obtained an additional postponement of the story from the soft-hearted reporters.

Again the young couple ran out on their agreement, and the next event was the drug store wedding. According to Mrs. Craig, the girl's family knew nothing of the romance until informed last week by newspapermen.

BAD BILLY GOAT NEEDS LESSON IN ETIQUETTE

New Orleans, Aug. 10 (I.N.S.).—Samuel Jourdan, who is said to be the owner of a "notoriously vicious billy goat" that butted Mrs. Ella Miller last year while she was opening a gate in front of her house, was defendant today in a $5,000 personal injury suit.

The woman said she was under a physician's care for several months after being butted.

Accused Slayer Escapes

Joliette, Que., Aug. 20 (I.N.S.)—Albert Teville, twenty-two, charged with attempting to slay Miss Iwan Grandchamp, escaped from jail and was sought today. Teville met the girl as she was driving in a buggy with another young man and in a jealous rage opened fire with his revolver.

Rooms of all kinds in the Classified Ads.

SAVED DROWNING WOMAN

Robert W. Daley, Boston College High School student, and his sister, Margaret, of Dorchester, will have Carnegie hero medals if the Summer colony at North Conway, N. H., has anything to say about it. He pulled Mrs. Olive Chase out of Echo Lake after she had gone down three times.

BOY AND SISTER RESCUE HEROES

Robert W. Daley, Boston College High School student, and his sister, Margaret G. Daley, of Bowman street, Dorchester, will receive national recognition of their heroism if the Summer colony and "natives" of North Conway, N. H., have their way.

Young Daley swam to the rescue of Mrs. Olive Chase of Kearsarge, N. H., after the woman had gone down for the third time in Echo Lake.

Then, when her brother was having trouble bringing the woman ashore, Margaret, though no great swimmer, leaped into the water and aided in the rescue work. Physicians said that Mrs. Chase must have died in any event had it not been for Miss Daley's yeoman work at resuscitation by the prone system.

Vacationists and townsfolk of the Summer resort have joined in a petition that the heroic brother and sister be awarded Carnegie medals.

EAST BOSTON MAN SAVED FROM DEATH ON THIRD RAIL

Coleman Kelly, twenty-three, of No. 135 Third street, East Boston, a laborer, was saved from electrocution at the Maverick square terminal, East Boston, today by the heroic action of his foreman, Clifford Wanberg, who, at the risk of his own life, dragged Kelly off the third rail.

Finishing a night's labor, Kelly stepped across the tracks to put away his tools and caught his left foot against the rail. He was unconscious when Wanberg reached him.

With a heavy piece of wood, the forman pushed Kelly's form out of danger

STORM-DAMAGED SHIPS ARRIVE AT HALIFAX

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 10 (I.N.S.).—Two steamers, victims of the recent hurricane that swept over the North Atlantic, arrived here today for repairs. They are the Ronan Prince, from Norfolk for England; and Balachistan, from Hampton Roads, Va., for England. Two of the crew of the latter were removed to a hospital when the vessel docked.

DOCTOR HELD ON 5 CHARGES

Dr. James S. Goodwin, dentist, of Cambridge Turnpike, Concord, faced Waltham District Court on an arry of automobile charges that included about everything in the repertoire of the other Mr. Goodwin, registrar of motor vehicles.

The dentist was charged with drunkenness, driving an automobile while he was under the influence of liquor, driving so as to endanger the public, driving without license, driving without registration.

Police said he was travelling at a rate of fifty miles an hour on Lincoln street, Waltham. His car crashed into a parked car in which sat Mrs. Thomas Norton of Lincoln street. The target car was hurled against a telegraph pole, and Mrs. Morton, who is soon to become a mother, was so severely injured she was taken to the Waltham Hospital.

At the station house the dentist protested he was not drunk, and demanded to be examined by two physicians. The two doctors he named were called and the police themselves called City Physician Fuller to examine the man.

The case was continued to August 13.

FIREWORKS FACTORY BLAST LOSS $50,000

New Durham, N. J., Aug. 10 (I.N.S.).—The charred and shattered remnants of a building of the New York Fireworks Company here are being watched today lest some unexploded bits of fireworks go off in the smouldering ruins and detonate nearby storehouses of the concern. The blast which razed the building and did $50,000 damage sent residents of the neighborhood fleeing, fearing another Lake Denmark arsenal disaster.

UNFILLED ORDERS OF STEEL SHOW INCREASE

New York, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—Unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation on July 31, made public today, were 3,602,522 tons, an increase of 123,880 tons compared with the end of the preceding month. The gain was the first recorded by the corporation this year.

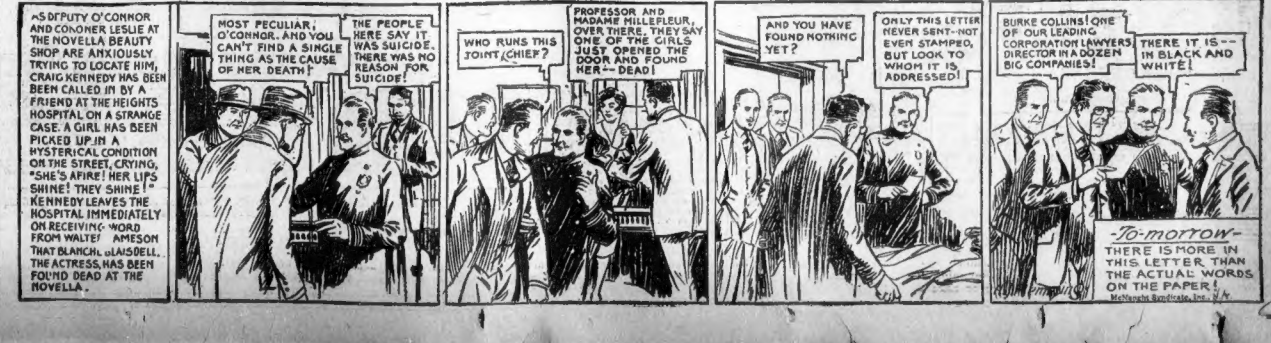
CAVEMAN PURSUED HER

This is Miss Edith Erickson. Police saved her when Fred Bracunaer pursued her into her Roxbury home and demanded she marry him. Her ardent admirer was sent to the Psycopathic Hospital for observation. Modern cavemen seem to find ancient tactics don't go in 1926.

Craig Kennedy in "The Beauty Shop"

"Poor Little Dead Butterfly"

By Arthur B. Reeve



AS DEPUTY O'CONNOR AND CORONER LESLIE AT THE NOVELLA BEAUTY SHOP ARE ANXIOUSLY TRYING TO LOCATE HIM, CRAIG KENNEDY HAS BEEN BEEN CALLED IN BY A FRIEND AT THE HEIGHTS HOSPITAL ON A STRANGE CASE. A GIRL HAS BEEN PICKED UP IN A HYSTERICAL CONDITION ON THE STREET, CRYING, "SHE'S AFIRE! HER LIPS SHINE! THEY SHINE!" KENNEDY LEAVES THE HOSPITAL IMMEDIATELY ON RECEIVING WORD FROM WALTER AMESON THAT BLANCHE LAISDELL, THE ACTRESS, HAS BEEN FOUND DEAD AT THE NOVELLA.
MOST PECULIAR, O'CONNOR. AND YOU CAN'T FIND A SINGLE THING AS THE CAUSE OF HER DEATH!
THE PEOPLE HERE SAY IT WAS SUICIDE. THERE WAS NO REASON FOR SUICIDE!
WHO RUNS THIS JOINT, CHIEF?
PROFESSOR AND MADAME MILLEFLEUR. OVER THERE. THEY SAY ONE OF THE GIRLS JUST OPENED THE DOOR AND FOUND HER -- DEAD!
AND YOU HAVE FOUND NOTHING YET?
ONLY THIS LETTER NEVER SENT - NOT EVEN STAMPED, BUT LOOK TO WHOM IT IS ADDRESSED!
BURKE COLLINS! ONE OF OUR LEADING CORPORATION LAWYERS DIRECTOR IN A DOZEN BIG COMPANIES!
THERE IT IS -- IN BLACK AND WHITE!
-TO-MORROW- THERE IS MORE IN THIS LETTER THAN THE ACTUAL WORDS ON THE PAPER!
McClure's Syndicate, Inc.

Those "Scoops" Again

Yesterday was an interesting one from the news point of view.

THE BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN told of this EXCLUSIVELY in its Night Edition.

Three hours later its contemporaries carried the facts.

The secret marriage of John Hays Hammonds, Jr., was told of EXCLUSIVELY in the Night Latest Edition, and no other Boston paper carried it until this morning.

And by the way, you didn't have an opportunity to read the chatty interview with Elsie Ferguson unless you read THE BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN.

You're welcome.

EX-SECRETARY HACKETT DEAD

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 10.—Frank W. Hackett, eighty-five, former Assistant Secretary of the Navy, died today at Portsmouth Naval Hospital, where he had been ill with heart disease a month.

He practiced law in Boston, Philadelphia and Washington, was appointed Assistant Secretary of the Navy by President McKinley in 1897 and took part in settling the controversy between Admirals Sampson and Schley regarding the Battle of Santiago.

A graduate of Harvard, class of 1861, he enlisted in the navy and was paymaster on the U. S. S. Miami when she fought the Confederate ram Albemarle off North Carolina in 1864. In 1873, at Havana, he was private secretary to Caleb Cushing, senior counsel for the United States in arbitrating the Alabama claims.

He is survived by his wife and two sons, W. H. Y. Hackett of Dedham, Mass., and Chauncy Hackett of Washington.

2 HELD AFTER ALKY KILLS 60

Elmira, N. Y., Aug. 10 (I.N.S.).—Federal agents held Dave Lewis and J. Horowitz in custody here today while they searched for two others wanted in connection with the distribution of wood alcohol. The seizure here of 1,625 gallons of alcohol led to the arrests of the two men.

The arrests and seizure of alcohol were results of the crusade against the distributors of the poison liquor who brought about 60 deaths in New York State.

BELGRADE DEMANDS THAT BULGAR RAIDERS DISBAND

Belgrade, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—Jugoslavia, says the government organ, Vreme, has demanded of Bulgaria the complete disbandment of the Macedonian comitajis, or irregulars, recently accused of making raids across the Serbian border.

A demand for extradition of the leaders of the irregulars to Jugoslavia and compensation for dependants of the gendarmes killed in recent raids also is made.

SAYS OFFICIALS TOOK BRIBES

Ballston Spa, N. Y., Aug. 10 (A.P.).—Charges of collusion between Saratoga County officials and alleged gamblers at Saratoga Springs were before Supreme Court Justice Christopher J. Heffernan, special commissioner appointed by Governor Smith to investigate the gambling charges today

District Attorney Charles B. Andrus was singled out for special attack by Jules Formel, who has served time in State Prison for operation of a gambling house in Saratoga Springs in 1913.

Formel charged that Andrus received 10 per cent. of the profits of a gambling place Formel ran at No. 210 South Broadway, even complaining at one time that he was not getting his share

Andrus promised to pay Formel's wife $100 a week while Formel was in prison, in return for a promise of silence by the gambler on the district attorney's alleged activities.

"I kept my word," said Formel, "but he never paid the money. I was framed and went to prison for Andrus."

ALL WEDDING LACKED WAS A BRIDEGROOM

Northbridge, Aug. 10.—Voila mot, attendant a l'eglise. That is the French version of the old Cockney song, "Waiting at the Church," as chanted by Yvonne Lafreniere today. Yvonne was left desolate in the midst of her wedding party at St. Peter's Church, because of the recreant truck-driving Romeo, Joseph Mathieu.

Joseph simply didn't appear, and didn't even send a note, as did the missing bridegroom in the song. His relatives know no reason for his failure to enter the marital picture, and the search for him is on.

Dedicate New Church

Uxbridge, Aug. 10.—The new $250,000 St. Mary's Church will be dedicated Sunday.

TODAY

Continued from First Page.

tates from which revenues were spent by worthless grand dukes and divided the land among Russian peasants.

Those peasants support Bolshevism despite its defects, fearing to lose their land if Sovietism should fail.

TROUBLE WILL COME, presumably as it always does, from quarrels among leaders. In the French Revolution, Robespierre cut off Danton's head after he had presided as "high priest" at the "Festival of the Supreme Being." Then the convention declared Robespierre an outlaw, and, with his jaw broken, Robespierre was dragged to the guillotine and his head chopped off.

Marat had his day of power, but Charlotte Corday murdered him. The French got tired of revolution, and Napoleon took charge of them, dragged them all over Europe and gave them something to make them really tired.

Something like that probably will come in Russia, for history really does repeat itself.

MEXICO IS SAID to now be comparatively quiet. During the past week from fifty to sixty men have been killed, two hundred hurt. A boycott on all merchandise from Mexico is suggested in Spain, but that would be a boycott on Mexican Catholics earning a living. Practically all workers in Mexico are Catholics.

HERE A RELIGIOUS-POLITICAL fight starts two years ahead of time. Bishop Adna W. Leonard, general superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Church in New York, attacking Governor Al Smith, says: "No Governor, be he nullificationist or not, can kiss a Papal ring and ever get within gunshot of the White House."

Bishop Leonard wants "immigration laws enforced against Latin races that would flock to this country." The bishop shouted, "I am 100 per cent. Anglo-Saxon; America is a Protestant nation and always will remain so."

The bishop might remember that if Christopher Columbus, who was not 100 per cent. Anglo-Saxon, hadn't come to America the earnest bishop might not be here.

ALSO NOBODY can say, with certainty, "I am 100 per cent. Anglo-Saxon." Many things happened on those foggy British Islands, when the Basques came from Spain and left their broadheads there, when Caesar brought his troops of the "Latin races," taking possession of Saxon lands and Saxon ladies; when William the Conqueror brought his Frenchmen, also of the "Latin races," with his half brother, the tall Catholic bishop, riding beside him. The Methodist bishop might have some of his blood.

MARK SULLIVAN believes that Mr. Pomerene of Ohio might be elected as compromise candidate between Smith and McAdoo. But if Governor Smith is thrown out of the convention because he is a Catholic, the chances are ten to one that no other Democrat will be elected in 1928.

Democrats can hardly expect to throw out a Catholic candidate because of his religion, without also throwing the Catholic vote out of the Democratic party.

Today at primaries in four States, Ohio, Nebraska, Alabama and Arkansas, citizens will vote on issues, none of which ever worried Thomas Jefferson or Washington—the Ku Klux Klan, labor issues, farm relief and, especially, prohibition.

THIS IS A RELIGIOUS country, financially at least. Dr. Lovejoy, of the "Council of the Churches of Christ of the United States and Canada," says religious Americans gave to religion last year $648,000,000. That sum, about $6 a head for everybody in the United States, ought to save many souls, if carefully spent.

On the other hand, you notice that the little New England church was packed when Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge attended divine service, whereas ordinarily there are plenty of empty seats. The President is well worth seeing, of course, but, if religion were really a vital part of life, you would expect the church to be crowded with or without the President, the Lord Himself being always there.

W. C. Chapin Dead

San Francisco, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—William Cantner Chapin, 82, widely known as a mining man, publisher, soldier and capitalist, died here early today after a month's illness.

20,000 K. P.'S IN SESSION

Chicago, Aug. 10 (I.N.S.).—The thirty-fourth convention of the Knights of Pythias opened today with 20,000 members from many parts of the United States and Canada in attendance.

The delegates were welcomed by Mayor William Dever.

$600,000 PROPERTY LOSS IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Washington, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—Highways of the United States must be constructed in the future with a view to protecting lives, and not merely to provide a temporary means of transportation, in the opinion of Secretary Hoover of the Commerce Department.

Property loss as the result of accidents in the past twelve months was placed by the Secretary at more than $600,000,000 with a death toll in excess of 20,000.

Uniform traffic regulations throughout the United States and Canada, are necessary he declared in a statement made public today by the American Roadbuilders' Association.

"Uniform laws by the States are necessary to check the terrific toll in life and property that reckless automobile driving levies annually in America," Hoover said.

Looking for a room? Turn to the Classified Ads.

BOY NEBRASKAN GETS REPRIEVE FROM DEATH

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 10 (A.P.).—Ernald Ringer, 19, the youngest Nebraskan ever condemned to death, today received a three-day reprieve.

Governor McMullen granted the third respite so that the Board of Pardons and Paroles can hear Ringer's application for commutation. Ringer was sentenced to be electrocuted for the murder in 1924, of Carl Moore, a Hastings, Neb., automobile salesmen.

Get your bearings through the Classified Ads.

Exceptional variety of styles and colors of which bags sketched are typical.

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT

Newspaper advertisements don't tell you about all our lots—there are too many to advertise them all; so walk thru—hundreds of unadvertised lots on sale here daily—all equally underpriced under the automatic plan or we lose 25% after 12 selling days, 50% after 18 selling days, 75% after 24 selling days, goods given to charitable institutions after 30 selling days.

WEDNESDAY at 9 A. M.

great lot of leather handbags

surplus stock of five makers

leather or fabric 58c

odd lots and SECONDS

Also some fabrics—many styles—red, tan, brown, gray, black or combinations—some leather lined.

FINE SAMPLE LEATHER BAGS

Calfskin, Russian calf, pin morocco, patent, pin seal, cowhide and others in Chanel styles, pouches, envelopes, etc. $2.95

hundreds at $1.95

Chanel pouches tailored pouches
Deauville pouches envelopes, large or small bags fashionable bright or subdued shades

Persian leather
Shoe leather calfskin, cowhide pin Morocco and others

NO MAIL ORDERS

Your Favorite Foods

A&P

Where Economy Rules

At the A & P you are sure to find your favorite, nationally advertised brands of groceries—at low prices!

A Value-Giving Event of Importance to Thousands of Women!

OUR ANNUAL MID-SUMMER COFFEE SALE

These coffees are our regular brands—selected by experts as the very best coffees sold in this country—and offered this week at very low prices

BOKAR COFFEE SUPREME lb pkg 45c

RED CIRCLE FAMILY BLEND lb 39c

EIGHT O'CLOCK PURE SANTOS lb 35c

Delicious milk crackers for use with salads, milk or cheese!
Royal Lunch Crackers 2¼ lbs 37c

The favorite summer breakfast food!
Puffed Rice 2 pkgs 25c

Selected pea beans—carefully cooked with pork and tomato sauce!
Campbell's Beans 3 cans 20c

Let soaking take the place of rubbing!
Chipso large pkg 19c

For cakes, candies—and as a finishing touch for salads!
Marshmallow Fluff small can 10c large can 19c

RAJAH. A novel meatless filling—try it!
Sandwich Spread jar 22c

The modern dentifrice that really cleans the teeth and mouth!
Mellex Tooth Paste large tube 19c

A crisp, brown, nut cookie—very tasty!
Nut Wafers EDUCATOR lb 21c

PRESERVING AIDS

Mason Jars dozen quarts 93c dozen pints 79c
Jelly Glasses doz 41c
Everseal Jars doz qts $1.09 doz pts 99c
Jar Rings 3 pkgs 25c

BUTTER

The finest pure cream butter that is made. Always at a low price. lb 46c

BACON

Sliced, rindless, sugar cured bacon. Serve crisp slices for breakfast. lb 39c

Grandmother's Bread

A quality loaf at a quantity price. Made in our own bakery of the best materials. Taste it!

RAISIN BREAD THURSDAYS loaf 12c

Large loaf 9c

The A & P News, published weekly, contains many recipes and helpful household hints. Ask the store manager for your copy

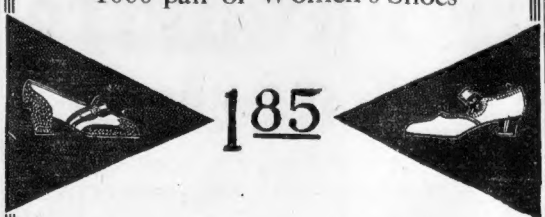
THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO.

E. W. BURT & CO.

17 West St.

A Hurry-Away . .

1000 pair of Women's Shoes



This Summer's Favorite Models; odd sizes and broken lots; but excellent choosing in the popular sizes.

Wise economy, indeed, to buy several pair at this low price

At $1.85 a pair they are sure to go quickly— Come early tomorrow

SALES FINAL, OF COURSE

4 PRIESTS ARE SHOT DOWN IN MEXICO RIOT

Continued from First Page.

no opinion would be hasarded pending instructions from the State Department. However, it is regarded as significant here that the American Ambassador and the British Minister, Esmond Ovey, conferred at length.

The British Minister has already forwarded a note of protest to the Mexican government.

Mission From U. S. Lauds Calles' "Welfare Program"

Mexico City, Aug. 10 (A.P.)—The self-styled "good will mission from the United States to Mexico" which has been studying the religious situation here, is of the opinion that the administration of President Calles is engaged in a great program of social reforms which are essential to the welfare of Mexico.

A resolution passed by the mission, which is headed by Dr. Alva Taylor, editor of "The Christian Century," says:

"We believe a program of education and social reform necessary for the rehabilitation of Mexico. We believe the Calles administration is engaged in a great program of social reform, and that all truly interested in the welfare of Mexico will co-operate in its essential undertakings."

FAIR TO ALL RELIGIONS.

The mission issued a statement in which the President is quoted as saying that the Mexican government respects all religious equally and gives to all the same protection and liberty.

He reiterated, the statement read, that the Catholic church throughout history had disobeyed the laws and fought about wars, disturbances and bloodshed in Mexico and that the present government had been forced by the Church's attitude to make the Church obey the law, and declared that the religious laws of Mexico would never be repealed, even if the Catholic Church turned toward the Government, but that in that event it would not be necessary to enforce penalties.

NO DISORDERS SEEN.

The statement of the mission says the members have seen no riots or any signs of riots in Mexico.

The mission, which includes in addition to Dr. Taylor, the Rev. Sidney Gulick of New York, numbers thirty-two, including about ten Protestant ministers from the Middle Western part of the United States.

The "good willers" informed the President, the statement says, that they had heard the Protestants had opposed the religious law as vigorously as the Catholics.

"That is not so," the President is quoted as replying. "The Protestant leaders have all submitted themselves to the law. We have no difficulties whatever with them. They are all at peace and putting their time to religious work."

Finance Head to Probe Mexican Economic Status

Mexico City, Aug. 10 (A.P.)—Alberto J. Pani, Minister of Finance has appointed a committee of experts representing all important banking and financial institutions in Mexico to investigate the economic situation and fluctuations in exchange.

The committee is to be headed by Daniel Aguilar, head of the technical fiscal department of the Treasury. The committee will recommend measures, political, economic and fiscal, for the stabilization of exchange and improvement of the general economic situation.

There has been a sharp drop in the value of silver money in Mexico and prices of certain foodstuffs are rising.

The bankers assert that there is no necessity for alarm, although the people are linking the fall in the value of silver with the economic boycott declared by the National League for the Defense of Religious Freedom. The bankers deny that this is a fact.

It is asserted by the bankers that the slump in silver is due to the government's having accumulated a large gold reserve to support a new issue of paper money by the Banco de Mexico and for the payment of Mexico's foreign debts. For this purpose they estimate that some 70,000,000 pesos of gold had to be withdrawn from general circulation and assert that the natural law of supply and demand has increased the value of gold in terms of silver.

Pistol Battle Causes Panic In Mexican Theatre

Mexico City, Aug. 10 (A.P.)—A panic was narrowly averted in a downtown theatre during a joint debate on the religious question when a battle with pistols over political animosities took place in front of the theatre.

The feeling inside the theatre was tense when a group of Congressmen staged a free-for-all gun fight. The fight was not connected in any way with the religious situation, being due purely to politics.

The audience in the theatre, however, became highly excited, thinking the shooting was brought about by the religious controversy. Order was soon restored and the debate continued. None of the fighters was killed or wounded.

K. of C. May Ask U. S. Intervention in Mexico

Paul Smith's, N. Y., Aug. 10 (Universal).—The formal protest of the Knights of Columbus against conditions in Mexico together with the appeal for intervention by the United States will probably be lodged with President Coolidge here shortly.

A delegation of officials, of the Supreme Council, was unfavored to be on its way here, having asked for an appointment with the President.

President Coolidge has already made plain that the government looks upon the Mexican trouble as a domestic matter in which the United States government would be unwarranted in interfering.

Shimmy-y-y-y!

GILDA GRAY

Gilda Gray, noted dancer, as she stepped from a train in Los Angeles to fulfill a contract on the West coast. (I. N. R.)

MORE OFFERS OF MEDIATION IN MEXICO

New York, Aug. 10 (A.P.)—The New York World says today the Mexican government has received offers to mediate its differences with the Catholic Church which have not been published nor brought results.

In a copyrighted statement of Archbishop Joe Mora y Del Rio, it is declared that such offers have been received from "highly qualified personages" other than President Leguia of Peru and Latin-American diplomats, whose tenders were published.

The archbishop denied that the church is attempting to set up a State within a State, but, he said, "the beliefs of the Mexican people do not harmonize with the Mexican laws and constitution."

"To ask and to try for derogation of these laws," the archbishop said, "is not going against the sovereignty of the nation."

Some of the State Legislatures, he continued, "absolutely attack the dignity and existence of the Catholic priest; for example, in the State of Tabasco, there is a monstrous law which aims to oblige Catholic priests to marry."

In answer to the government statement that the registration of the priests is merely a police measure, the archbishop stated that it is not only unnecessary but that the government's reason is merely an excuse to bring the clergy under civil rule and withdraw the priests from the control of the church as far as possible.

Replying to President Calles' statement that Protestant ministers are doing their work tranquilly, he said:

"If this is true, it is one more proof that his idea is to attack the Catholic religion—the religion of a majority of the nation—or that the Protestant ministers do not mind the intromission of civil power in their purely religious matters and submit voluntarily to it, a thing which Catholics cannot do in accord with the Divine constitution of the church."

Mexican Soldiers Stage Revolt; Overpower Police

Mexico City, Aug. 10 (A.P.)—Captain Fanfilo Plata and his company of Federal soldiers have revolted, disarmed all the local police of Ayutla, in the State of Guerrero, and gone into the country, according to special dispatches from Ayutla.

CANDY

(TINY A POUND PRICE)

Old Timers— with a Charm that is always new

Old Fashion Gum Drops 19¢ Full Pound

Special all this Week! Regularly 39c

For Tomorrow Wed., only

Milk Chocolate Covered Assorted Fresh Fruit Regularly 40c Half Pound 29c

Old Fashion Cocoanut Bon Bons Regularly 59c Full Pound 44c

Loft

505 Washington St. and 123 Summer St. Also 309 Westminster St., Providence, R. I.

Women's Misses' Stout Style C. F. Hovey Co Women's Misses' Stout Style

Established 1841

BEGINNING TOMORROW (Wednesday) at 9 FOR 3 DAYS ONLY

Annual Advance Sale Fur-Trimmed Coats

IN WOMEN'S, MISSES' and STOUT STYLE SIZES

1200 Coats---Nearly $100,000 Worth --- To be Sold for $69,600--- Actual Savings of $17 to $40 on Every Coat!

Choose Your Coat Now to Obtain This Saving—PAY IN NOVEMER, When You Want Your Coat to Wear

Charge Purchases Billed Nov. 1st. $10 Deposit on Cash Purchases

Prices After This Sale Will Be $75 to $98

Choose from Over 30 Styles; All Style Leaders for Fall 1926

BEAUTIFUL FABRICS

Leading fabrics emphasizing Pile and Bolivias

VENISE FABRIC
LUSTROSA FABRIC
VELSHEEN FABRIC
F. & H. CAMEL HAIR CHECK
MOUSELERA FABRIC
AM. BROADTAIL CLOTH
GLOWANA

$58

THE COLORS

Black: Monaco Brown: Levier Gray
Turenne Blue: Gracklehead Blue
Chanel Red: Navy: Friar Brown
Lebanon Green

See the New Fabrics, the New Colors, the New Silhouettes, the New Fur Trimmings

RICH FURS

BEAVER COLLARS AND CUFFS
FOX
NATURAL SQUIRREL
RINGTAIL OPOSSUM
VICUNA FOX
MANCHURIAN CANADIAN WOLF
MINK DYED SQUIRREL

Misses' Sizes 14 to 20--Women's Sizes 34 to 46--Stout Style Sizes 42½ to 54½

Misses' Coats, Third Floor—Women's Coats, Second Floor—Stout Style Coats, Second Floor

GILCHRIST'S

One of the Great Stores in the American Retailers' Association, Inc.

3 Striking Values in Our August Furniture Event!

Cut Velour Suite, 3 Pieces

A very low price, but made to Gilchrist's very strict standards; all new materials—a big advantage; kiln-dried frames; loose spring-filled seat cushions.

$95.00

Bed, Spring and Mattress

A complete bed outfit at this low price; fit up an extra room; bed finished in brown, like walnut; guaranteed spring; cotton mattress with durable ticking.

$24.50

We've Sold Hundreds!

End Table

$2.45

Birch, finished in mahogany; note rim under the top—gives added strength; well-made and durable.

FURNITURE DEPARTMENT—SEVENTH AND EIGHTH FLOORS—GILCHRIST'S

Legal stamps given and redeemed

MARITAL FILM AT ORPHEUM

"Low Tyler's Wives," the feature photoplay at Loew's Orpheum this week is a picturization of a story that proved a "best seller" in book form.

It concerns the love tangle of "Low Tyler," who was married to one woman, infatuated with another and couldn't forget a third. Frank Mayo and Ruth Clifford are the featured players.

However, this web of matrimonial discontent is finally worked out in happiness for Low and the three women in a dramatic chronicle that is highly entertaining.

The vaudeville headliner is Bobby "Uke" Henshaw. The Pitter Patter Revue, a novel scenic offering in song and dance, is another act that is well received. Others are Russell & Burke in "Johnny's New Car"; the Four Pepper Shakers, colored dancers late of "Plantation Days"; Count Perone and Triz Oliver in "A Song Symphony," and Bert & Hazel Skatelle in a novel acrobatic stunt. Short picture subjects complete the bill.

Every day is Bargain Day in the Classified Ads.

The Kid Himself

A STERLING ACTOR! Ford Sterling proves his worth with his splendid portrayal of the "Kid from West Philly" in "The Show-Off" at the Metropolitan.

FORD STERLING PROVES FINE ACTOR

Forsakes Mere Farce in Role in The 'Show-Off' Now at Metropolitan

After years of strenuous intimacy with the property pastry in the Sennett studio, and the hardly less artistic obscurity of "comedy relief" in all sorts of pictured entertainment, Ford Sterling has at last inherited a role that calls for something more than farcical foolery.

In the film treatment of George Kelly's "The Show-Off," now at the Metropolitan, he has had the chance of a lifetime and he has grabbed it with the same distinction that his protagonist of the stage won for himself when "The Ol' Kid from West Philly" struck out on his first pompous strut.

And thanks to Sterling and Director Malcolm St. Clair, the "Kid" is still strutting. Nothing of moment has been left out of the picture. The distortions of the usual "adaptation" are not to be detected and, what is more, Mr. St. Clair has added a fine touch in pitching his scenes in Philadelphia, the original locale of the play.

To begin with, there are some splendid "shots" of various places in the city, Independence Hall and the statue of William Penn. And later, the irrepressible Aubrey is seen striding importantly across Market street, and again, allowing his blundering flivver to come bounding over the stairs at City Hall.

As for the Fishers, Mom, Pop, Joe and the girl, they are done to the life by Claire McDowell, C. W. Goodrich, Gregory Kelly and Lois Wilson. Aubrey barges his way in on them and they see him—all but the girl—as the bumptious bluff that he is, but are forced to bear with him with the fatal resignation of "one of the family."

On the stage at the "Met," Dan Quinlan's "Minstrel Memories" are seen with black-face comedians, soft-shoe dancers, sweet singers and "the entire company."

TWO HELD FOR BREAK ATTEMPT AT LAWRENCE

Lawrence, Aug. 10.—Two men, said by the police to be old offenders, were arrested charged with attempting to break into the house of Mrs. Robert McCreery at No. 544 South Broadway. They gave their names as Frank Heffron of Lowell and Edward Ryan of Boston.

Marceline Day Given Part by Barrymore

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,
Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 10.—The frantic search for a leading woman to play opposite John Barrymore in "Francois Villon" has ceased. John breathed a sigh of relief, walked out of United Artists' studios, and said:

"No more tests of beautiful women for me to look at to try to make a decision."

After an intensive search to find just the right girl Marceline Day was finally chosen. Marceline, who is not yet of age, and who has figured in more contract difficulties than most young women twice her age, has been loaned by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for this picture.

John Barrymore

A few years ago she was unheard of and so was her pretty sister, Alice Day, but actresses are made overnight and as I have frequently remarked it only takes one good part to establish them.

Marceline is now established, at least you would think so if you knew the companies that have tried to borrow her. Anyway, Mr. Barrymore believes he has exactly the type he wants and everybody is happy.

E. A. DUPONT BELIEVES IN REALISM mixed with a little romance. And, because he finds just that combination difficult to get, he has written an original story called "Moulin Rouge." This, incidentally, will be his next producting preceding "The Marriage of Death," Gloria Swanson's second picture for United Artists.

Because of the widespread interest in "Variety" I think everyone will want to hear something about "Moulin Rouge." As far as I can understand, it is a study in contrasts between two chorus girls, one in this country and one in Paris, both of them in love with the same man.

The American girl leaves Chicago and takes a job with the Ziegfeld "Follies," the French girl goes to Paris and gets a job in the "Moulin Rouge." Both eventually find themselves in Spain attending a bull fight.

The foreign exteriors will be made abroad and Dupont is already arranging his plans so that he can film them on the other side.

Lua Lee

LILA LEE IS WORKING HARD these days getting ready to sail August 18 for Europe. Leaving a husband and a son entails certain domestic responsibilities and Lila is not one to neglect either James Kirkwood or James Kirkwood, Junior.

When she was offered the job as leading lady in "One Increasing Purpose," opposite Edmund Lowe, she hesitated because she couldn't make up her mind to stay away from home so long. But when one has a career one has to forget such things as being in love with one's husband and anyway she only will be on the other side a few months.

Bradley King and Harry Baumont, scenario writer and director of Hutchinson's well-known novel, are already in London holding daily conferences with the author.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Lowe, Lilyan Tashman, and Miss Lee leave for New York together.

COLLEGE YEARS WASTED, SAYS H. G. WELLS

British Author, In Magazine Article, Attacks 'Sports' Universities

Wasted are the four years spent by youths at colleges like Harvard, Yale, Oxford and Cambridge, in the opinion of H. G. Wells, noted British author, historian and critic, whose every published book is devoured by the reading public in England, America and throughout the world.

"The annual cricket, boat-racing, baseball and football universities," he calls the four great universities in an article in the September issue of Hearst's International and Cosmopolitan magazine.

"Every sort of intellectual activity is subordinated to a main business of attracting, boarding and amusing our adolescents. Only a minority do sound work. They do it against the current of opinion.

GRAVE LOSS OF TIME.

"This three or four-year holiday is too grave a loss of time at a crucial period. All the antiquated nonsense of calling people bachelors and masters and doctors of arts and sciences might very well go, with the gowns and hoods that recall some medieval alchemist or inquisitor, to limbo.

"They mean nothing. There is no presumption that a man who has the diploma, or whatever they call it, of M. A., is even a moderately educated man."

Wells outlines an idea for a new type of university, supplanting the traditional institutions and their outworn prestige.

And as if to lend color to the British writer's arguments there appears in the same issue of the magazine the dramatic story of the rise of Marcus Loew from New York's East Side to a $1,000,000 palace on Long Island, from a Penny Arcade to the centre of a network of theatres that pour tribute into his pockets from Frisco to Cairo via all the great capitals of the Western world.

A cool sail to the Tip of CAPE COD and return. S. S. Dorothy Bradford. See Tour & Travel Page.

Smothered in Oats

Chicago, Aug. 10.—Walter Bray, butcher, was smothered to death when he toppled, unconscious from apoplexy, into a bag of oats.

5 Dead in Autos

Buffalo, Aug. 10.—Auto accident took a toll of five lives, serious injuring four, when the Ohio Sta Limited struck a car.

UPRIGHT AND PLAYER BARGAINS

J. P. COLLINS

1926 New Uprights, Players and Baby Grands at Great Sacrifice
Good Allowance on Your Old Piano
Undersselling All Dealers

A Good Used Player Is Better Than a Poor New One

As Low as $5 Down—$1 a Week
Free Delivery in N. E.

CHICKERING UPRIGHT . . $46
CHICKERING BABY GRAND 150
CHICKERING PLAYER . . . 221
VOSE UPRIGHT 88
VOSE PLAYER $219
H. F. MILLER UPRIGHT . . 79
H. F. MILLER PLAYER . . 221
GULBRANSEN PLAYER . . 136

J. P. COLLINS Open Mon., Thurs. & Sat. Till 9 P. M.
700 SUMMER ST.—COR. DEVONSHIRE

FIRST NATIONAL STORES INC.
WHERE NEW ENGLAND BUYS ITS GROCERIES
O'Keeffe-CONNOR-GINTER

First National Low Prices

Reflect the benefit of our huge purchasing power, and the economies of three organizations welded into one. This week's specials are another example of "Highest Quality at Lowest Cost."

Shredded Wheat 9c Pkg

P & G Soap The Famous White Naptha Bar 4c

Matches Parlor Large Size 6 Boxes 25c

Shrimp Large Firm Wet Pack Can 15c

Peas Sweet Sifted 3 Cans 29c

Franco-American SPAGHETTI With Tomato Sauce Can 9c

Sardines Norwegian Smoked In Olive Oil Can 9½c

Pickles For the Picnic Lunch Sweet or Sour Mixed Pt. Jar 19c

Vinegar Full Strength Cider Buy now for your Pickling Requirements Gal. Jug 53c

3 Full Pints 25c

"The World's Finest Butter"

YOUR first taste of the rich, full, SWEET-CREAM flavor of EVANGELINE Butter, will convince you that here is the finest butter that can be made. Produced in the finest dairylands of America. Made from the cream the minute it leaves the separator with no delays to lessen its fragrant freshness and purity.

Double wrapped in parchment. Never sold in bulk

49c 1-Lb. Prints

FIRST NATIONAL STORES

Look for the words "SWEET CREAM"

Eggs Large Choice Selected Egg Doz. 39c

Bacon Fancy Thin Sliced, no rind Lb. 39c

Bread Unsurpassed in quality. Made in our own modern light Bakeshops. Priced Boston District. Lge. Loaf 9c

Flour 1-8s bag $1.21

Ginger Ale 3 Pint Bots. 25c 2 Large Bottles 25c

PLEASING BILL AT KEITH'S

There is music in the air at B. F. Keith's Theatre this week with the "Meistersingers," old favorites, presenting a collection of some of the songs that made them famous—and some that they made famous interspersed with a few of the better popular hits.

The quality of their selections is excellent. In the newer numbers "Bye, Bye, Blackbird" scored heavily, while the "Indian Love Call" pleased the audience.

Billy Glason, comedian, possessing a wide assortment of jokes, in addition to a rather good voice, puts over a number of songs in a manner that wins him applause. Hubert Kinney and five dazzling young misses have a smart act, and McCloud and Norman are a good, Claudia Coleman in "Feminine Types," Eddie Ryan, Gloria Archer and company in a clever sketch, and another act entitled "Just Fun," with Louis Bennett, Dan Fits and the Murphy Brothers, are all good.

An aerial act, the Four Bellis, Noel Lester and Company, and the regular news and feature pictures complete an excellent bill.

CATCH MAN WHO FLED COURTROOM IN 1924

Owen V. Quilty, 26, of Worcester square, South End, who escaped from the Superior Courtroom and got away by the roof in August, 1924, is at Charles Street Jail and will later be arraigned on a charge of being a fugitive from justice.

NEW YORK BY AUTO

In a "MOHAWK" through Metropolitan New England by daylight DAILY from Hotel Westminster, 8:30 A. M., $7.50.

TWO-DAY TRIPS to New York via Deerfield Valley, Mohawk Trail, Berkshires, Catskills and Storm King Highway and West Point. Daily Service.

ALL EXPENSE TOURS by MOTOR in connection with Lake, River and OCEAN Steamers, to MONTREAL, QUEBEC, Niagara Falls, Adirondacks, White Mountains, Mohawk Trail, Thousand Islands, Sesqui-Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia, Daily Departures. CRUISES on the GREAT LAKES—SHORT SEA TRIPS—TOURS through EVANGELINE LAND — BERMUDA — CUBA—the NATIONAL PARKS—CANADIAN ROCKIES, etc., etc.

Send for "TRAVEL," the book of a Thousand Tours. FREE.

HARSTERS TOURS
248 Washington St., Boston
Telephone Main 3760

FINE MUSIC AT STATE

Playing everything on the musical calendar from the classical to the jazzy, the "California Nighthawks" Band made their initial Boston appearance yesterday as the stage stars at Loew's State. To prove their versatility, the boys also sing a few songs.

The seven-piece portion of the State program offers two excellent photoplays. "The Lone Wolf Returns," tops this department with a story from the pen of Louis Joseph Vance, and in which Bert Lytell and Billie Dove have the leading roles. It is a crook drama.

In "Then Came the Woman," the companion feature of the bill, Mildred Ryan, Cullen Landis and Frank Mayo have the leading roles. This is another "gun man's" picture, and some situations call for some hard battling on the parts of Landis and Mayo. But the big punch is a rag, ing forest fire that lays waste great strips of timberland in the North Woods.

YOUR SATISFACTION IS OUR SUCCESS

If you must wear ARTIFICIAL TEETH have them made where fit and appearance are assured. WE SPECIALIZE IN PLATE AND BRIDGE WORK. All work guaranteed.

SPECIAL OFFER
RUBBER PLATE $12.50
Full upper or lower made of red rubber. Not like pictures.
BRIDGE WORK per tooth $6
Silver Fillings $1
Cleanings $1
PORCELAIN FILLINGS
POSITIVE PAINLESS EXTRACTION FREE when plate or bridge work is ordered.
Consultations FREE.
PLATES REPAIRED WHILE YOU WAIT—OF LET PLATES REMODELLED NEW THE SAME DAY.
DR. HEWSON DENTAL CO.
457 Washington St., Opp. Filene's. Hours Daily: 8:30 a. m. to 6 p. m. Lady Attendant. Phone Dover 1967-J

Amusements

THE REFRIGERATED SCOLLAY SQ. OLYMPIA
Biggest Show Value in Boston NOW PLAYING A Saucy, Spicy Comedy Scream
POLA NEGRI IN Good and Naughty with TOM MOORE & FORD STERLING
Vaudeville's Biggest Attractions
featuring the world's most renowned comedian, THE ORIGINAL DAFFY-DIL
BERT FITZGIBBONS
The World is "Cuckoo"—He's All Right
7 ALL STAR ACTS
OUR COOLING PLANT IS THE TALK OF NEW ENGLAND

LOEW'S STATE
Mats. Ave. Doors Open 12:45. Continuous from 1
Herer's Music for You—Joe Rea
California Nighthawks
The Second Greatest Band in the World
—MERRY MEN—
ON THE SCREEN:
BERT LYTELL — BILLIE DOVE
In Louis Joseph Vance's Story
"THE LONE WOLF RETURNS"
Companion Picture
"THEN CAME THE WOMAN"

MODERN BEACON
A FIRE PROOFING OF BOSTON THEATRES
ROMANCE OF A MILLION DOLLARS
GLENN HUNTER. ALICE WILLIAMS
FOOTLOOSE WIDOWS
LOUISE FAZENDA JACQUELINE LOGAN

KEITH-ALBEE BOSTON
Thrilling Northwest Mounted Police Melodrama
JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD'S
THE WOLF HUNTERS WITH JAMES MURRAY HARRIS
Vaudeville Pat Daly & Co., You Gotta Know Your Lawrence
Bierner, Goode & Leighton, Fergu son & Sweet, Romagy's Canaries. New Comedy Hits.

LOEW'S ORPHEUM
Continuous 9:15 A. M. to 10:30 P. M.
ON THE SCREEN:
LEW TYLER'S WIVES
With FRANK MAYO RUTH CLIFFORD ON THE STAGE:
BOBBY "UKE" HENSHAW
The Merry Mimic
Pitter Patter Revue
Song and Dance Offering
8 FREE ACTS

B. F. KEITH'S Telephone HANcock 2700
Billy Glason—Meistersingers
CLAUDIA COLEMAN, BREMS-FITZ & MURPHY BROTHERS, McCLOUD & NORMAN, LESTER & LEONARD, FOUR BELLIS, PATHE, FABLES, TOPICS
NUBAT KINNEY—EDDIE RYAN
500 Orch. Seats, Mat. 50c, Eve. $1.10

THE COOL TREMONT Tel. Mat. Tom's Prices. at 8.15
Dearest Enemy
Exquisite Musical Success with HELEN FORD & CHARLES PURCELL

NORUMBEGA NOW IN FULL SWING

BOWDOIN SQ. THEATRE
"THE PHANTOM EXPRESS," with Ethel Shannon and David Butler, Mary Carr in "SOMEBODY'S BOYFRIEND," Bobbe Green in "HOOKED AT THE ALTAR." 7 VAUDEVILLE ACTS.

Need any male help? Turn to the Classified Ads.

Amusements

EXCURSIONS

Sunday, August 15

Old Orchard $2.50
Train leaves North Station, 8:30 A. M. (D. S. T.). Stops at No. Lawrence (special train service), So. Lawrence, Haverhill and Dover. Returning, leaves Old Orchard 8:15 P. M.

Winnipesaukee $2
Train leaves North Station, 9:40 A. M. (D. S. T.). Stops at Lynn, Salem, Beverly, Ipswich, Newburyport and Portsmouth. Connects with Boston & Maine R.R. at Rochester, N. H. Returning, leaves The Weirs 8:00 P. M.

Avoid Motoring Worries and Enjoy Your Week-End at These Famous Summer Resorts
BOSTON and MAINE RAILROAD

The Show Off
FORD STERLING
LOIS WILSON
LOUISE BROOKS
The Blushing Boob from Down East
Filmed at last.
METROPOLITAN

For Auld Lang Syne
MINSTREL MEMORIES
Darkies, Dandies and Dancers
Chorus Girls and Comedy
Dan Quinlan
Dave Seed Richard Dix
Billy Wilkinson Lois Wilson
White Band

FENWAY Mass. Ave. at Boylston
Lester Furcods — Jaccuelino Logan in "FOOTLOOSE WIDOWS" Conway Tearle, Barbara Bedford in "THE SPORTING LOVER"

OLYMPIA WASH. ST.
Pauline Frederic in "Her Honor the Governor" BIG VAUDEVILLE BILL

PHOTOPLAY DIRECTORY
TONIGHT AT YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD THEATRE

ALLSTON
CAPITOL COMM. AVE. — Rod. Tom. Moore in "GOOD AND NAUGHTY" Viola Dana in "Bigger Than Barnum's" Visit the Starlight Promenade
ALSTON BRIGHTON AVE. — Lorraine Logue in "OUT OF THE STORM" Fred Thompson in "THE TWO GUN MAN"

BOSTON (SO. END)
COLUMBIA SQUARE — Conway Tearle in "The Sporting Lover" Helen Holmes in "Mistaken Orders" Basket Night

CAMBRIDGE
CENTRAL SQ. CAMBRIDGE — Richard Dix in "SAY IT AGAIN" Big Vaudeville Show
HARVARD HOPKINS CAMBRIDGE — Anna Q. Nilsson in "The Greater Glory" Harold Lloyd in "HOW OR NEVER"

CHELSEA
OLYMPIA CHELSEA — Richard Dix in "SAY IT AGAIN" Dorothy Devore, John Harron in "The Gilded Highway"

DORCHESTER
DORCHESTER THEATRE — All Star Cast in "Lady Windermere's Fan" Lefty Flynn in "Smiling at Trouble"
FRANKLIN PARK — Patsy Ruth Miller in "Hell Bent For Heaven" Corinne Griffith in "MILLE. MODISTE"
STRAND UPHAM'S CORNER — Richard Dix in "SAY IT AGAIN" Special Cast in "TYPHOON LOVE"
CODMAN'S DORCHESTER — Alleen Pringle in "THE WILDERNESS WOMAN" Harry Carey in "The Frontier Trail"

DORCHESTER
FIELD'S CORNER — Alleen Pringle in "THE WILDERNESS WOMAN" Sierra Dawn in "SHIPWRECKED" HAMILTON — Chas. "Buck" Jones in "The Fighting Buckaroo" Bean, Comedy, Screen Snapshots

GROVE HALL
NEW SHAWMUT METROPOLITAN — Marie Prevost in "Up in Mabel's Room" Anna Q. Nilsson in "Her Second Chance"

JAMAICA PLAIN
NEW JAMAICA JAMAICA PLAIN — Rod La Rocque in "Bachelor Brides" Anna Q. Nilsson in "Her Second Chance"

MALDEN
STRAND MALDEN — Irene Rich, Clive Brook in "The Pleasure Buyers" 4 Acts New York Vaudeville

ROSLINDALE
RIALTO ROSLINDALE SQUARE — Colleen Landis, Dorothy Revier in "ENEMY OF MAN" Eleanor Boardman in "THE CIRCLE"

ROXBURY
DUDLEY DUDLEY ST. — Gaylord Dorsey in "ROLLING HOME" All Star Cast in "GRASS"

HOMERVILLE
STRAND THEATRE — Josh Hall in "THE BLIND GODDESS" Fatty Harrison in "DUCKING THE TRUTH"

COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Smart Set Out in Force for Princemere Polo

WHETHER PRINCEMERE won at polo or the visiting orange-clad riders carried off honors, made little difference to the smart throng which invaded Princemere for the final meeting between these two spirited teams. Superb horsemanship under a cloudless sky on a field well-nigh perfect made an inspiring picture.

POLO WAS A NORTH SHORE morning rendezvous. Mrs. Frederick Henry Prince, chatelaine of beautiful Princemere and its various appurtenances, was, with Mr. Prince, the centre of a gay little gathering.

THE PETITE AND ALWAYS TRIG MATRON was for the polo in a morning ensemble of knitted buttercup yellow frock ,topped with one of those small hats which so smartly complete such army. The little Princeling with her, her small grandson, was adorable in a little French knitted suit.

MRS. R. CODMAN, JR.

The handsome yacht, Megilais, has been named after the part taken by the former Elinor Patterson in "The Miracle."

MISS ELEONORA SEARS turned up for the match in trim riding kit, as did Mrs. Francis P. Sears, a lovely young matron of the Shore, whose gray habit was most effective. Mrs. Gordon Prince was in white, with large hat.

THOSE TWO INSEPARABLES, Miss Ella de T. Snelling and Mrs. John R. Mitchell, motored to the match. Both were in white, their silk frocks covered by fur collared white coats, and both, of course, wore pictures.

AS MRS. MITCHELL, the former Miss Elizabeth Caswell retains all the piquant charm that made her days of single blessedness one round of admiration and attention. As society's very prettiest girl, "Bister" Caswell long held sway.

MRS. CHARLES FANNING MAYER from her motor and Miss Theodora Ayer from a group of young people thrilled at the spirited play, as Orange County men in orange blouses flashed up and down the field against green and white-bloused Princemere players.

TWO ATTRACTIVE DAUGHTERS of Dr. and Mrs. Maynard Ladd were there. Miss Gabrielle Ladd, next year a senior at Vassar, in white with black velvet jacket and small black hat, and the younger sister, Miss Vernon Ladd, all in white.

FROM A MOTOR Mrs. Nathaniel Simpkins, Jr., watched the polo. Mrs. Simpkins, like others of the smart set, was in riding togs, making Princemere as part of her morning constitutional. Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman tooled a car over, likewise Mrs. Reginald Boardman.

THE VISITING ORANGE COUNTY players, including the world-famous "Tommy" Hitchcock, Jr., have been much feted during their Shore stay. Frederick Prince, Jr., was their host at his cottage on the Princemere estate, and North Shore matrons vie with one another to do them honor.

SUCH PLAYERS as Wing Commander Wise, a Britisher of much polo fame, Averill Harriman, Frederick Henry Prince, Jr., Robert E. Strawbridge, Harry East, J. Cheever Cowdin and Louis Stoddard lent much glamour to local polo, and resulted in play that electrified the gallery.

Betty Alden

BROKER BEGINS THREE-YEAR TERM IN PRISON

New York, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—After fighting his case to the highest court in the State and losing his appeal, Louis Montgomery Kardos, Jr., former head of the stock brokerage firm of Kardos & Burke, which failed for several million dollars, began his three-year sentence at the penitentiary today. He was convicted of trading against the account of a customer.

FLIGHTS OF LOS ANGELES BOOM AERIAL COMMERCE

Lakehurst, N. J., Aug. 10 (A.P.).—The future of the lighter-than-air craft as a means of commercial transportation in the United States may be stimulated by frequent flights of the dirigible Los Angeles, it is believed by Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of naval aeronautics, who was at Lakehurst today for another flight on the Navy ship.

After his return from a trip out to sea and over Long Island, he expressed his confidence in dirigibles as a valuable business unit, and declared that had Henry Ford "and a few more of his progressive type" experienced a flight aboard the Los Angeles the United States would be on a par with European countries in this respect.

The dirigible is prepared for a flight today to Cape May for celebration tests. The rear admiral will be a passenger.

Need any female help? Turn to the Classified Ads.

Wilson Bros. Co
Movie Plan SPECIALS
Mon-Tues-Wed
10c Down
Take Your Choice $6 Every Watch Now
ALL GUARANTEED

This Dainty Little Watch for Ladies and Misses. White Gold filled, fashionable bracelet shape. Guaranteed.

This Practical Sport Watch, solid nickel case, luminous dial, genuine leather strap, recommended for all-round service. Guaranteed.

This handsome gentleman's size Watch, finely chased and engraved, thin model—taking up little room in the pocket—a desirable timepiece for man or boy. Guaranteed.

ONLY ONE WATCH TO A CUSTOMER
Name Sold for Cash—No Mail Orders filled on these specials.
Here's How You Pay on the Movie Plan:
10c Now 70c Month Wed
$0c Second Week 60c Eighth Week
70c Third Week 50c Ninth Week
80c Fourth Week Then Pay $1.00 a week until entire 90c Fifth Week $6 price is paid for
$1.00 Sixth Week
We Want You and Your Friends for our Customers
Wilson Bros. Co
BIG JEWELRY STORE
28-30-32 SCOLLAY SQUARE
Send for Watch and Diamond Booklet. Terms to Suit.
OPEN SATURDAY NIGHTS

The Coney Island of New England! Three miles of thrills absolutely free!

WATCH FOR YOUR NAME DAILY

You are entitled to $5 in passes for Revere Beach amusements and discounts at three of the leading restaurants if your name is among the hundred printed in today's

Classified Pages

Misses' Surf Satin (Cotton) Bathing Suits
Smart styles with ruffle skirts. Embroidered models and others trimmed with contrasting colors. Sizes 14 to 20 ..... 1.00

Jordan Marsh Company
Great Basement Store
The Famous Store Within a Store For the Sale of the Less Expensive Merchandise

Women's Colored Felt Hats
Splendid assortment of styles and colors. Good head sizes..... 1.00

Tremendous Demand and Limited Qualities make it Impossible to accept Mail or Phone Orders

Printed Rayopac
In all the wanted patterns and plain colors. Guaranteed fast. 36 inches wide.
3 yards for 1.00

In Our Great Basement Store
On Sale Wednesday--For One Day Only

Men's Athletic Union Suits
Sleeveless, knee length. Made of fine count nainsook.
2 for 1.00

112,540 Extraordinary Dollar Values
AN AVALANCHE OF SUPREME BARGAINS---DON'T MISS THEM
You Save from 25% to 50% on Every Dollar

Women's Chiffon Silk Hose, lisle garter tops. Black and colors. Seconds ..... 2 FOR $1

Women's Full-fashioned Silk Hose, silk tops and lisle tops; discontinued numbers and colors..... $1

Children's Mercerized Sports Hose, fancy tops. Seconds. 4 PAIRS FOR $1

Boys' Cotton Golf Hose, good mixtures with fancy tops. 4 PAIRS FOR $1

Boys' Long Trousers, woolen mixture, assorted colors. Sizes 6 to 15 years $1

Women's Untrimmed Hats, of transparent straw. Large broad brimmed and small shapes. Styles for the matron and younger woman..... $1

Heavy Imported Pongee, natural shade. For skirts, dresses, underwear, etc. 33 inches wide. A YARD $1

Women's Silk Hats, also hats of silk and straw combination, and all straw hats for dress wear, variety of styles and colors..... $1

Women's Voile Handkerchiefs, of good grade colored voile. 5 DOZEN FOR $1

Women's Cotton Handkerchiefs, odd lot in white and popular colors ..... 25 FOR $1

Boys' Blouses, sport and high neck styles. Sizes 7 to 16 years. 2 FOR $1

Boys' Broadcloth Shirts, in tan, white and blue of imported broadcloth. Seconds. Sizes 12½ to 14 neck..... $1

Boys' 1-Piece Cotton Pajamas, in pink, white and blue. Sizes 4 to 12 years ..... 2 FOR $1

Absorbent Turkish Towels, good grade seconds..... 6 FOR $1

Turkish Bath Towels, very firm, first quality..... 4 FOR $1

Rubber Sheets, white or maroon. Size 36x72 inches. Reinforced sides and ends. Eyelet in each corner.. $1

Krinkled Bedspreads, in rose or blue with wide colored stripe. Require no ironing. Seconds..... $1

Women's Corsets, lace back, rubber tops. Non-lacing with rayon stripe and elastic section over hips. Four hose supporters..... $1

Summer Net Corsets, lace back, four hose supporters..... 2 FOR $1

Fancy Rayon Braids, ¾ to 1 inch wide..... 5 YARDS FOR $1

Lamp Shade Braids, 1 to 2 inches wide. Mostly cut-out patterns. 2 YARDS FOR $1

Women's Kimonos, of plain and figured crepe. Assorted patterns and colors $1

Japanese Grass Rugs, figured centers with borders. Size 3x6 feet.. $1

Bar Harbor Cushions, full size for porch chairs, covered with cretonne ..... EACH $1

Oval Shaped Braided Rag Rugs, assorted colors. Size 20x40 inches $1

Rayon Drapery Damask, rose, gold and black in all-over and stripe effects. A wonderful value. 36 inches wide ..... YARD $1

Filet Nets, several good patterns to select from—32 inches wide. Cream only..... 4 YARDS FOR $1

Check Muslin, good quality, suitable for long or sash curtains. 5 YARDS FOR $1

Spanish Lace, black, brown, gray and white. 36 inches wide. 2 YARDS FOR $1

Flowers for Trimming; roses for dresses and hats..... 2 FOR $1

Lace and Ribbon Trimmed Garters, twelve good colors, 3 PAIRS FOR $1

Boys' Mixture Pants, also crash pants. Broken sizes..... $1

Women's Sport Ties, large size in novelty crepe de chine. Also plain ties in very good Summer colors. 2 FOR $1

Sample Neckwear, assorted lot lace and net. Organdie and novelty styles. Collar and cuff sets, vestees and separate collars..... 2 FOR $1

Net Sleeves, trimmed with venice laces in full length. Assorted styles ..... 2 FOR $1

Men's Leather Slippers, in brown, blue and black with cushion elk sole. Sizes 6 to 11..... $1

Men's Moccasins, elk and brown leathers. Ideal for house or cottage. Seconds. Sizes 6 to 11..... $1

Men's Broadcloth Shirts, attached collar and neckband styles. White, blue and tan; sizes 14 to 17.. $1

Men's Fancy Shirts, in neckband and attached collar styles. Madras and percales. Sizes 14 to 17.. $1

Men's Bathing Suits, part wool, in brown only. Sizes 34 to 44. Limited quantity $1

Men's Linen Caps, white unbleached, grays and overplaids..... $1

Children's Drawer Combinations, neat hamburg trimming. 2 FOR $1

Misses' Princess Slips, good grade, shadow proof..... 2 FOR $1

Girls' and Misses' Bloomers, of good grade cotton. Double elastic at knee ..... 3 FOR $1

Children's and Misses' White Middies, regulation style. Sizes 8 to 20..... $1

Cotton Broadcloth Blouses in tan, blue and white. Sizes 8 to 16.. $1

Women's Muslin Nightgowns, cut good and full. Sizes 16 to 17. 2 FOR $1

Women's Muslin Envelope Chemises, trimmed with neat embroidery ..... 2 FOR $1

Women's Muslin Costume Slips, bodice top; hip hem. Sizes 36 to 42..... 2 FOR $1

Women's Muslin Bloomers, cut good and full. Flesh and white. 3 FOR $1

Men's and Women's Umbrellas, of good grade black cotton $1

Women's Bib Aprons, of good quality percale trimmed with rick rack braid. Three practical styles. Some seconds..... 3 FOR $1

Imported Perfumes, in several pleasing odors..... 2 OZ. FOR $1

Women's Silk Hats, also hats of silk and straw combination and all straw hats for dress wear, variety of styles and colors..... $1

Tampa Bay Novelty Coating, fine grade novelty fabric at a very low price. 54 inches wide. A YARD $1

Men's Hemstitched Handkerchiefs, made of good grade white cotton..... 20 FOR $1

Women's Printed Handkerchiefs, in novelty colors. 17 FOR $1

Boys' Bathing Suits, pure worsted in one-piece style. Small sizes to 8 years only..... $1

Boys' Fancy Cricket Sweaters, good color combinations. Sizes 6 to 12 years..... $1

All Linen Crash Toweling, red or blue borders. Irish made. 5 YARDS FOR $1

All Linen Breakfast Cloths, with colored borders. Good oyster crash. Size 45x45 inches..... $1

Turkish Bath Towels, extra good quality and will give long service ..... 3 FOR $1

Mattress Covers, box style of unbleached cotton. Tape ties, full size or twin bed size mattress. CHOICE $1

Women's Corsettes, pink rayon stripe. Hook side and four hose supporters $1

Women's Brassieres, hook side, tape shoulder strap. Pink rayon striped material..... 2 FOR $1

Misses' and Girls' Wool Felt Hats, several popular styles and colors $1

Misses' and Girls' Straw Hats, odd lots in a variety of styles. EACH $1

Men's Fancy Hose, rayon and mercerized hose in several fancy effects. Seconds..... 4 FOR $1

54-Inch Silk and Cotton Crepe, also voile. In bordered and floral effects. Firsts and seconds. 2 YARDS FOR $1

Silk and Cotton Crepe, big assortment of wanted patterns. 36 inches wide..... 4 YARDS FOR $1

White Nainsook, extra good substantial quality. 6 YARDS FOR $1

Printed Cotton Charmeuse, good variety of patterns. Seconds. 3 YARDS FOR $1

Girls' Gingham Dresses, plaids and checks. Sizes 7 to 14 in lot.... $1

Girls' Skirts, plaids and checks. Attached to white cotton waist. Sizes 7 to 14 years..... $1

Cotton Domet Flannel, 27 inches wide. All white, twilled weave in good weight..... 8 YARDS FOR $1

White Wool Flannel, 34 inches wide. Wool and cotton mixed. Fine close weave ..... YARD $1

Children's Bloomers and Drawers, of good quality lingette and cambric. Some with embroidered edge and elastic waist. Sizes 4 to 6 years..... 3 FOR $1

Little Girls' Play Suits, of blue peggy cloth. Pleated bloomers, middy trimmed with white braid and facing. Sizes 3 to 6 years..... $1

Boys' Flapper Style Wash Suits, short sleeves, low neck and fancy belt. Some seconds. Sizes 3 to 6 years..... 2 FOR $1

Children's Voile and Printed Dresses, with cute nursery designs. Twelve styles. Sizes 2 to 4 years ..... 4 FOR $1

Infants' Overalls, Rompers and Creepers, and odd suits. Broken sizes. Sizes 1 to 4..... 3 FOR $1

Women's Silk and Rayon Hose, colors only. Seconds. 3 PAIRS FOR $1

Women's Mercerized Ribbed Sport Hose, black and colors, 4 PAIRS FOR $1

Women's Cotton Union Suits, sleeveless, knee lengths. Sizes 38 to 50..... 2 FOR $1

Hand Embroidered Towels, good full size..... 2 FOR $1

Misses' Side Fastening Girdle, long section back, two sets of hose supporters $1

Patent Brown and Satin Pumps, in Spanish and Cuban Heels. Widths AA to C. Sizes 2½ to 8. Not all sizes in all widths..... $1

Stamped White Muslin Nightgowns, made up in dainty designs ..... 2 FOR $1

Children's Sandals, broken sizes. Variety of good styles. PAIR $1

Children's Wool and Cotton Golf Hose, sample and discontinued numbers..... 2 FOR $1

Boys' and Girls' Nainsook Union Suits, sleeveless knee length style..... 2 FOR $1

Boys' Overalls, small sizes, 4 and 5 years only..... 3 FOR $1

Boys' Play Suits, of good quality blue denim, red trimmed. Sizes 4 to 6 years..... 2 FOR $1

Women's Long Silk Gloves, good variety of popular colors. Sizes 6, 6½, 7..... 2 PAIRS FOR $1

JARDINE WITH PARTY IN HUB

W. J. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture, was a bird of passage through Boston today.

With his family and party the Cabinet member stopped at the Hotel Curtis in Quincy last night. They were shown the historic spots there by Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce John Scott.

Today the party motored in three cars through Boston and to Harvard University, and then left for Portland.

POINCARE UPHELD IN NEW ASSEMBLY VOTE

Versailles, France, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—Premier Poincare's scheme to give constitutional weight to his sinking fund measure for refunding the floating debt moved forward rapidly at the first session of the National Assembly today, notwithstanding obstructive tactics by the Socialists and Communists.

After voting urgent procedure for the sinking fund bill, the Assembly adjourned while committees went through the formality of examining the measure.

Watch Your Breakfast

Energetic Mornings Depend on Breakfast —Start Always with Quaker Oats

HOW you feel all morning depends largely on your breakfast. Thousands have unenergetic forenoons because of wrong breakfast eating.

To feel right, you must have a well-balanced, complete breakfast ration. At most other meals—lunch and dinner—you get it. But breakfast is hurried, often badly chosen.

Thus Quaker Oats, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder; 58% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all-important vitamines and the "bulk" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today.

It is food that "stands by" you through the morning.

Get Quaker Oats today. Grocers have two kinds: Quick Quaker, which cooks in 3 to 5 minutes, and Quaker Oats.

Quaker Oats

WOMAN OUT FOR MARTIN'S SEAT

Miss Minerva D. Keppie of Fall River, Democrat, and an active party worker, is out for the seat in the National House from the 15th District held by Congressman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of North Attleboro, Republican. Nomination papers for Miss Keppie were filed today at the State House.

Today, the last day for filing papers for all offices with the exception of State representative, brought forth a swarm of candidates, taxing the office force of the Secretary of State to capacity.

Among those filing were: Francis X. Sheehan, Boston, Councillor, 4th District; Nathaniel M. Clark, Boston, Senate, 5th Suffolk District; Robert E. Fitzney, South Boston, Senate, 4th Suffolk District; Michael J. Mahoney, Cambridge, Senate, 3rd District; Joseph L. Holland, Waltham, Senate, 5th Middlesex District.

For Representative — Joseph M. Ward, Boston, 11th Suffolk; William C. Creed, Boston, 6th Suffolk; Martin S. Kilgallon, Boston, 10th Suffolk; James E. Hagan, 23rd Middlesex; Charles T. Cavanaugh, Cambridge, 3rd Middlesex; Patrick J. Sullivan, Boston, 8th Suffolk; Charles S. Sullivan, Jr., Boston, 2nd Suffolk.

SIX LIVES LOST IN BRITISH SUBMARINE

London, Aug. 10 (I.N.S.).—Six lives were lost when the submarine H-29 sunk in Devenport Harbor yesterday, the admiralty announced today. Salvaging is progressing.

A leak in the hull of the submarine is believed to have been the cause for its sudden sinking, but the actual cause will not be known until she has been raised.

The craft had returned from a short cruise and was undergoing diving tests in the harbor when it suddenly keeled over and went down. Sixteen men were aboard the vessel, but all except five were able to release themselves and make shore.

BURIED MINERS' FATE WILL SOON BE KNOWN

Salem, Ky., Aug. 10 (A.P.).—Speculation as to whether five miners entombed in the Hudson zinc and spar mine near here last Thursday might remain alive is expected to end by night as the result of the continuous efforts of rescue squads to force their way into the mine, or to reach the men through a shaft.

Meanwhile a contingent of State troops remained on duty to keep spectators from interfering with the work.

$1,314 In Game Law Fines

Seventy-four persons, convicted of violating the fish and game laws during July, paid fines totalling $1,314 in the various courts throughout the State.

Looking for a cool room? There is a good selection offered in the Classified Ads.

BROTHER, SISTER, SPURN RICHES, JOIN SALLIES

ARE TRAINED MUSICIANS

Lyell Rader, Jr., and Frances Rader, son and daughter of wealthy chemist of Maywood, N. J., have joined the Salvation Army, spurning an offer from their father to give them shares, equal to his own, in his business. They are trained musicians. Photo by I.N.R.

Hundreds Flee Floods

Mexico City, Aug. 10 (I.N.S.).—Torrential rains have wrought havoc on the isthmus of Tehuantepec. The [illegible] flooded with water three feet deep. Hundreds of families have had to flee their homes. Adobe houses have crumbled and railroad communication is interrupted.

Get your bearings through the Classified Ads.

Sick? Taft Laughs

Montreal, Aug. 10 (I.N.S.).—Chief Justice William Howard Taft, who is summering at Murray Bay, laughed heartily today when told that rumors regarding his illness were again current. He said he had been out for his customary walk today.

3D DRIVE ON SO. SHORE AUTOS

For the third time within a week, a drive on automobile licenses and registrations was conducted today in Quincy, thousands of autoists being held up at Fore River Bridge, Quincy Point.

Five policemen checked up on "papers," and traffic was jammed along the highway from North Weymouth to the bridge, many motorists from Nantasket and other South Shore resorts being held up for half an hour.

While no figures were given out it is understood a number of people were found operating without licenses or registrations.

On Friday night and Saturday morning similar checkups were made, at which time twenty-five motorists were found to be operating cars without the necessary authority.

HELD IN $5,000 BONDS ON ASSAULT CHARGE

The charge of assault brought against William Linehan, No. 241 Harrison avenue, in Municipal Court today may be changed to something more serious, as his alleged victim, David Bloomberg, No. 162 Congress avenue, Chelsea, hovers between life and death at City Hospital.

Bloomberg, who, police say, was knocked down by Linehan, has been unconscious 24 hours. As Bloomberg stepped out of a Washington street restaurant, Special Officers Di Sessa and Joyce of the East Dedham street station charge he was accosted by Linehan, who said: "What do you mean by looking at my wife?" Before Bloomberg could answer, it is alleged, Linehan punched him in the jaw. Linehan is held under $5,000 bail.

SAUSAGE KING'S WIDOW CALLS HUBBY BIGAMIST

New York, Aug. 10 (I.N.S.).—Preliminary steps to an action to annul her marriage to Dr. Stewart J. Reed, known also as Joseph Rittmeier, were taken today by Mrs. Ottilie Gobel Reed, president of Adolf Gobel, Inc., and widow of the late sausage king, who left an estate valued at more than $4,000,000.

Papers filed by Mrs. Reed allege Reed is wanted for bigamy and that his present whereabouts are unknown. Permission to serve a summons and complaint against Reed was granted by the court.

VAHEY ARGUES FOR CARMEN AT HEARING

James H. Vahey, counsel for the carmen of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company, today combated the argument of the public trustees of the road that business conditions throughout the road's territory is suffering depression, at a continuation of the wage arbitration hearings at the State House.

Arthur Wadleigh of the trustees again insisted it was.

Jordan Marsh Company

Value—Quality—Service—Assortments

Special Values in Women's

Robes and Kimonos

Lined Corduroy Robes

Fine robes with long set-in sleeves, long Tuxedo collar—two pockets. Lined throughout with Seco.

Colors:

Bluebird Fuchsia Wisteria
Rose Peach Orchid

6.00

Serpentine Crepe Kimonos

Practical Crepe Kimonos—trimming of self material in tie side models. Two styles.

Colors:

Pink Orchid Rose Wisteria Peach Copen Blue

1.50

Second Floor—Main Store

1876 DIAMOND JUBILEE YEAR 1926

R.H.White Co.

MEN!

A Special Purchase! New Fall 2-Trouser Suits

New Fall Materials, Single or Double-breasted — for $36.00 — Browns, Greys, Heather, Blue Cheviots

Our August Clearance 2-Trouser Spring Suits Reduced

Some to	Some to	Some to	Some to
$29.50	$34.50	$38.50	$44.50

Goodman & Suss Suits Now Reduced to $39.50

4-Pc. Sport Suits

Coat, Vest, Long Trousers, Knickers — Reduced to — $34.50 and $38.50

Palm Beach Suits	Blue Flannel Sport Coats	Mohair and Tropical Worsted Suits
Reduced to	Reduced to	Reduced to
$10.00	$10.50	$14.50

2nd Floor, Mezzanine

R.H.White Co.

Mail Orders Filled—Boston 8 Telephone Orders Filled—Hancock 4100

Wednesday and Thursday

Serpentine Crepe Kimonos

$1.72

Good quality and design.

2nd Floor

Wednesday and Thursday

New Fall Hats

$7.50

New shapes, in Lyons velvet and French felt. New Fall colors.

2nd Floor, North

Wednesday and Thursday

Little Fellows' Wash Suits

$1.08

Middy, button-on and sport models. White and a variety of colors and materials.

Sizes 2 to 6.

Infants' White and Colored Creepers

88c

Variety of colors and materials.

Infants' Dept., 2nd Floor

Wednesday and Thursday

Boys' Golf Hose

59c

Made of fine grade worsted. In camel, beaver and buff with contrasting jacquard tops.

Reinforced heels and toes.

Sizes 8½ to 10½.

Boys' Own Store, 2nd Floor

Wednesday and Thursday

Girls' Rain Coats and Bonnet

$2.81

Coats are made with set-in sleeves, strap cuffs, standing collar, lined with corduroy, two patch pockets.

Colors are green, red and blue.

Sizes 6-8-10-12-14.

2nd Floor

Wednesday and Thursday

Single or Double Garages, 87c each

Attractively decorated all metal garages. The single style has Ford car, the double has sport touring and touring car with top.

All styles are run with clock motors.

Toy Dept., Basement

Wednesday and Thursday

Young Men's 2-Trouser Suits

$29.40

New Fall 2-trouser suits. Mixtures and plaids, grays and browns.

Single and double breasted styles. Sizes 34 to 40.

2nd Floor, Mezzanine

Wednesday and Thursday

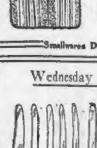
Metal Beds

$8.89

Heavy metal bed with Gothic top and wide perforated steel panel. May be had in ivory or brown color. In full, ¾ or single bed size.

4th Floor

Wednesday and Thursday

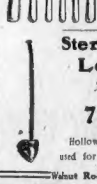


Floral Pattern 8-Pocket Shoe Bags

52c Each

Smallwares Dept., Street Floor

Wednesday and Thursday



Stainless Steel Knives

$2.10

Set of Six

Pointed blades for steaks or chops. Solid handles, also stainless.

Sterling Silver Lemonade Spoons

73c Each

Hollow handles that may be used for a sipper.

Walnut Room, Street Floor

Wednesday and Thursday

Men's Lawn Handkerchiefs

6 for 79c

¼ and 5/16-inch hems.

Street Floor

Wednesday and Thursday

Imported Imitation Metal and Stained Glass Effect Lamp Shades 48c

Metalized fiber.

Height 9 inches, diameter 13 inches.

Stationery Dept., Street Floor

The Taxi Dancer

by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

A Thrilling Story of Night Life and Night Clubs; a Mad Whirl of Adventure

Joslyn Poe, daughter of a proud, but impoverished Virginia family, wants a career, not marriage. Her mother wants her to wed. The wild blood of a line of daring women runs in her veins. She wants adventure. A seeress tells her of the "wildness" in her blood. She goes to a dance. She determines she will settle her problem that night—to marry George Ransom, well-to-do, but no dandy, or—go to New York in seek of adventure. She meets a stranger at the dance.

Milton Stein, the stranger, advises Joslyn to go to the city and to dance. Joslyn, hungry and discouraged, is heard weeping by Kittie Lane, a manicurist. Kittie gets Lee Rogers, a friend, to invite them to dinner.

While the girls are at the table with Rogers, James Kelvin, movie star, attempts to cultivate Joslyn's acquaintance There is a near row with Rogers. Kelvin goes away leaving with Joslyn a sense of some strange influence over her. A few days afterward Kittie is brought home blind from bad booze. Joslyn rushes to Stein's Academy to take a job as a "Taxi Dancer" to care for Kittie. In the academy she meets Stephen Bates, a man-about-town, who offers to go to Kittie's help.

Kittie's life and sight are saved by the doctors secured by Bates. They both go to a party at Bates'. Kelvin is there. He kills Bates in a quarrel.

Kittie saves Joslyn by telling the police that the death row was over her.

With Kelvin hiding in her apartment Joslyn is called by the district attorney. She beats him. Police watch her flat.

Great luck comes to Joslyn. She is offered $250 per week as a dancer. Brierhalter asks her not to accept and offers her $500.

CHAPTER XX.

JOSLYN'S little white teeth clicked with satisfaction. The sweetness of victory throbbed with its stimulating excitement through every cell of her being. This meant triumph, the solution of the fear-stricken anguish of poverty. Two hundred and fifty dollars a week! It was almost unbelievable; it was like a pleasant, fantastic dream that had miraculously solidified into reality. Even the very air she drew into her lungs seemed impregnated with magic.

The feeling of invincibility expanded like a cloud and enveloped the exotic personality of Mercedes, who was now subtly deferential—almost obsequies. Joslyn was lavishly happy. She had acted a lie, had shamelessly pretended that she was —she scarcely hesitated at the word —the mistress of the millionaire Brierhalter. The deception was the fruit of desperate, driving circumstances.

Even as she reveled in the sense of established importance Joslyn retained moral sensitivity—knew that she had stepped across the line of right conduct. Right conduct, at least, as she had previously understood it. But the promptings of conscience were too feeble to disturb her serene enjoyment.

"It's all in the game," she told herself secretly. I'm only paying with the coin of my surroundings. And I haven't hurt a single living soul."

The possibility that she might have hurt herself occurred to her as a senseless truism. It was too thin-skinned. A girl, to get anywhere at all in New York, had to be hard. The only trouble was that in some secret place in her heart there was a slight twinge of regret, but she was able, resolutely, to stifle the qualm and forget it.

The room was filled suddenly with the sonorous music of De Costa's expensive phonograph.

"You'll forgive me, won't you dear?" Mercedes' smile was flatteringly amiable. "All wives are cats, you know. We admit it." Her smile became cool and calculating and she took Joslyn into the sisterhood of her own worldly code. "You'll find less trouble in holding Brierhalter, too, if you make a public hit. Men don't want the simple gingham girl beauties—they fall for the silken glisten in the spotlight."

De Costa came up to them with mirthless chuckle.

"Thats' a laugh," he commented —"giving good advice to this little lady that was smart enough to swing Brierhalter. You'll be telling Babe Ruth how to bat a ball next, Mercedes."

Over the two who so lately had seemed so successfully important, Joslyn felt a pleasant superiority. "Well, I came up here to rehearse the dances, but if there is to be any further quibbling I'd just as soon

Continued on Page 14, Column 7.

ORCA TO MAKE HISTORIC TRIP

On a day late in the month of March, next, the winners of the First Local Prize in the Boston Evening American's Great Movie Season Contest will be looking upon the wondrous golden coffin of Tutankhamen, in the museum at Cairo in Egypt.

Carrying the prize winner, and the friend he has selected to be his traveling companion, the steamer "Orca," of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, reaches Egypt on March 23, to remain six days. From Alexandria passengers will proceed by special train to Cairo, where they will be accommodated at the best hotels.

CHARMING CAIRO.

Few cities in all the world have more charm for the traveler than Cairo.

The daylight voyage through the Dardanelles, on the following Wednesday, will be one of the great days of this memorable cruise. On leaving the land of the Pharaohs, the "Orca" will steam northward to a land that we think of as belonging to remote antiquity—the land of poetry and mythology, that Homer sings about, where "prehistoric" happenings took place. Yet, when they said Tutankhamen" in his golden coffin in the Valley of the Kings, all of these things were to be.

HISTORIC SPOTS.

From the "Orca's" deck the eye sweeps over windy plains to the little mound to the eastward, to cuttings in the hillside that tell where the archaeologist has found Priam's city. If the mood is right, one half looks to see the thousand ships drawn up along the beach and the Wooden Horse outlined against the city's battlements. Ships and horse and battlements and men are nothing now, yet they live in Homer's verse, a thousand times more real to us than the Pharaoh whose withered form and gorgeous trappings the eye of flesh may see.

And as it is all the way along this fateful stream that separates Europe and Asia. Interests throng one another until the "Orca" sails out across the Sea of Marmora and anchors in the Bosphorus, while the glorious domes and minarets of the city of Constantine loom against the sunset sky.

And all to be given to some reader of the Boston Evening American, for conspicuous success in the great movie contest which will be inaugurated next Monday. A trip for two, the prize-winner having the privilege of taking a guest along with him!

OTHERS TO GET GOLD AWARDS

National Prize Will Be Trip Around World; Enter This Contest Now!

Because he knows the movie stars and the movie plays better than any other participant in the Greater Movie Season Contest, some one who reads these lines today will be going aboard the cruising steamer "Orca," in New York, on the evening of Friday, February 25, next, to sail at 1 o'clock Saturday morning for a 70-day cruise of the Mediterranean!

This Mediterranean cruise will be First Prize—that is to say, the First LOCAL Prize—in the Boston American's Greater Movie Season competition.

Madeira, Algiers, Tunis, Malta, Beirut, Palestine, Egypt, the Dardanelles, Constantinople, Athens, Delos, Nauplia, Crete, Katakolon, Itea, Corfu, Catteo and Ragusa, Spalato, Venice, Syracuse, Palermo, Naples, Monaco, Gibraltar—and home again!

With all expenses paid!

OTHER PRIZES.

And for TWO PERSONS, the prize-winner and the friend he selects to accompany him.

There are other splendid prizes in this memorable contest, many of them, and ALL worth striving for.

There will be Five Hundred Dollars in Gold for the person who finishes second; two hundred dollars for the third; one hundred dollars for the fourth. And there are other cash prizes in addition to these.

The Sixth Prize is a new and improved Freshman Masterpiece Console Radio; the ninth prize, a library of 10 Grosset & Dunlap photoplay editions of popular novels.

Among the most useful and most popular of all the prizes, however, will be annual passes to some of the best motion picture theatres in New England. Each of these passes will be good for two persons and for one year.

NATIONAL PRIZES, TOO.

All the awards referred to above are "local" prizes; prizes which MUST and which WILL be won by Boston Evening American contestants.

The Greater Movie Week Contest, however, is to be staged in co-operation with the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America —the "big" movie organization, the Will H. Hays organization—and so there are to be NATIONAL prizes.

Many great newspapers throughout the country are participating in the NATIONAL contest at the invitation of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors, the Boston

Continued on Page 18, Column 5.

A Paper That Goes Into the Home, Dependable Fearless, Entertaining and Instructive.

BOSTON AMERICAN

A HOME PAPER FOR PEOPLE WHO THINK

BOSTON, TUESDAY, AUGUST 10, 1926

SECOND SECTION

U. S. CASH AND METHODS SOVIET'S HOPE

70-Day Tour Awaits Hub Movie Test Winner

HUB MOVIE CONTEST WINNER TO PAUSE IN EGYPT

ROYAL PALACE AT CAIRO

The occupant of this handsome structure, King Fuad, is the first independent monarch to reign in Egypt in twenty centuries.

LARGEST MOHAMMEDAN UNIVERSITY

Minaret of El Azhar Mosque, Cairo, Egypt, the largest seat of learning in the Moslem world. It houses more than 14,000 students and has a faculty of 587.

$100,000 FIRE IN PORTLAND

Portland, Me., Aug. 10 (A.P.)—The three-story frame building of the New England Grain Company and the stickerson coal plant on Brown's wharf, and the Portland Yacht Club building on Merchants' wharf, were burned early today.

Fire started in the grain company's building and quickly jumped across the dock to the yacht club. The loss was estimated at $100,000.

The Shipping Board steamers Baccarat and Seneca, the four-masted schooner James C. Hanson, and a steam lighter of E. Williams & Co., which were docked at Brown's wharf, were towed to places of safety by a fireboat without serious damage.

Hundreds of pigeons in the grain company's building were burned.

400,000 SIGN BRENNAN'S 'WET' PLEA IN ILLINOIS

Chicago, Aug. 10 (A.P.)—With a third more signatures obtained than are necessary, George E. Brennan, Democratic nominee for United States senator, has ready for filing his petition for a Volstead law referendum in Illinois next Fall. The petition now has more than 400,000 signatures, according to Brennan headquarters, who want the question of modification on the November ballots. State law demands that 260,000 signatures be certified and on file September 1.

Lost something? Turn to the Classified Lost and Found Column.

SOVIETS REFUTE REVOLT 'TALES'

Moscow, Aug. 10 (I.N.S.)—Reports of widespread disturbances in Russia were condemned as "ridiculously false" in a statement issued by the Soviet Foreign Office today.

"The tales that a military rebellion has started in Kronstadt, Leningrad, Ukraine," the statement declared; "that Trotzky was fleeing, or leading an army on Moscow; that Zinoviev has been exiled to Siberia, or is leading an army to attack the Kremlin; that Djerjinsky was poisoned or committed suicide; that Djerjinsky's house was searched and much hidden treasure found—all these are ridiculously false stories."

Stalin Holds Whip Hand, Says London

London, Aug. 10 (I.N.S.)—Out of conflicting reports of the Russian disturbances reaching London the fact emerged today that J. V. Stalin's control of the Communist party remains unshaken despite internal quarrels among the Soviet leaders.

A Riga dispatch stated that M. Manshinski, the new chief of the Russian secret police, had made thousands of arrests.

Stalin is understood to be following up his success in quelling the insurrection by replacing the followers of M. Zinoviev and other opposition leaders with his own supporters.

Kerensky Sees End of Soviet Control

Paris, Aug. 10 (I.N.S.)—"Courageous bands of exiles have infiltrated into Russia and have been steadily rousing the people, who are now about to speak out loudly and boldly," declared Alexander Kerensky, leader of the Russian Whites.

Kerensky predicted that it will not be long before the Soviet dictatorship ends, but he declared there will never be a return to the monarchy.

"What will succeed Communism will be, in my opinion, an alliance between the most moderate elements of Communism, now silent, and the popular or social revolutionary elements," said Kerensky.

ALBANIAN TROOPS MUSTER TO PUT DOWN REVOLT

Scutari, Albania, Aug. 10 (A.P.)—Serious disorders broke out in the town of Shaljsa today when discontented emigrants returning from Italy sought to foment an uprising against the government. They attacked the gendarmes, isolating them. Troops are being rushed to Shaljsa to defend the police.

Herrick Coming Home

Paris, Aug. 10 (A.P.)—Myron T. Herrick, American Ambassador to France, plans to sail tomorrow on the Mauretania for the United States.

$722,000 FOR MORE PHONES

Increases in service to be made throughout New England were evidenced today by the passing of an appropriation of $722,916 by the executive committee of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The money is to be used for extensions and improvements in plants, made necessary by the constantly increasing demand for service.

The sum of $106,377 will be spent in metropolitan Boston, $516,393 throughout Massachusetts, and the rest in New Hampshire, Vermont and Rhode Island.

WOMEN RUSH TO GAINES' TRIAL

Seattle, Aug. 10 (I.N.S.)—Women today stormed the doors of the courtroom where Wallace C. "Bob" Gaines, disabled war veteran, is being tried for the murder of his 23-year-old daughter, Sylvia, graduate of Smith College, whose battered body was found on the shores of Green Lake.

While attorneys for the defence and Prosecutor Colvin fenced over the question whether or not testimony regarding the alleged relations of Gaines and his daughter could be introduced.

When Frank B. Barrows was called to the stand to relate an episode alleged to have occurred in a hotel between Gaines and his daughter he was excused

RUSSIANS NEED NEW METHODS

Economic Crisis in Russia Revealed by Dershinsky Just Before His Death

By PROF. JEROME DAVIS, Of Yale University Who is Now in Russia.

Copyright, 1926, by Universal Service, Inc.

Moscow, Aug. 10.—I have just attended the funeral of Dershinsky, who was buried amid great pomp and ceremony beside the grave of Lenin in front of the Kremlin walls.

The Communists are master organizers of demonstrations, and the square was packed with hundreds of thousands of people—Red Army soldiers, agents of the G. P. U., and Soviet employes from far and wide.

Dershinsky was one of the ablest executives that the Soviet government has ever had. He not only was head of the Supreme secret service organization—the S. P. U.—but was in command of the Supreme Council of National Economy, which shares the national policy of the beats industries throughout Russia.

STALIN'S TRIBUTE

The story of his life would rival any melodramatic dime novel ever written. Under the Tsar's regime he was imprisoned five times, spending nine years in prison or in exile, and escaping three times.

Stalin, who is now the most powerful figure in the bommunist party, has just paid him the following tribute:

"Think of the difficult path of Dershinsky—prison, penal servitude, exile, the extraordinary commission for the struggle against counter-revolution, the reorganization of a ruined transport system, the reconstruction of an entirely new socialistic system of production— there is only one phrase with which to characterize such a masterful turbulent life—a burning torch leading a heroic fight.

The Bourgeois do not know a more hated name than the name—Dershinsky—who ever repulsed with a steel fist the blows of the enemies of the proletariat revolution. The terror of the Bourgeois—that is what Dershinsky was."

I had just arranged an interview with him when he was suddenly stricken with heart trouble—dying within three hours after delivering a masterful and stirring plea for the reorganization of industry before the central executive committee of the Communist Party.

DERSHINSKY'S POLICY

The message opposed a policy of trying to maintain and reconstruct industry at the expense of the peasant population. It was so utterly frank and contained so many striking explanations of the existing industrial situation that American readers will want to know the gist of it, which I give below.

We are passing through one of Continued on Page 18, Column 4.

Otto's Letter of Introduction -:- -:- By Collier

GROW
WHOA
SHOW
NOTICE
OH, STELLA SEE THIS CUNNING LITTLE DOGGIE! HE IS TRYING TO BITE MY HA-YUND
ISN'T HE TOO SWEET!
I THANK YOU ARE JUST A FLATTERER
OH, ETHEL COME AND SEE THE PERFECTLY DARLING LITTLE DO-WUG
NOW I KNOW WHY THEY CALL TH' DOG MAN'S BEST FRIEND.
GO

Make It Your Business

. . . . to have a business of your own. The one you want is listed under Business Opportunities in today's

Classified Ads

on the next-to-the-last pages

Maine metropolis will have a ball club for the remainder of this season at least.

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

Fred Dee, owner of the Portland, Me., Eskimos, in the New England League, has decided not to give up the franchise

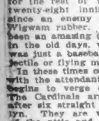
RHEM, ST. LOUIS ACE, TO TWIRL AGAINST TRIBE

CARDS HIT BY SUPERB HILL WORK

Hornsby's Pastimers Unable to Fathom Mystery of Benton's Offerings

By NICK FLATLEY

THE Braves, whose constitutions ..have been materially strengthened by a trio of shutouts, tackle the Hornsby Cardinals in the second contest of the three-game series today, with firm intentions of maltreating the second-place St. Louisians once more.



Nick Flatley

Flint Rhem, the Carolina collegian, is scheduled to attempt the subjection of the rampaging Tribe, and he will probably be opposed by Goldsmith, who has been performing favorably for Mr. Bancroft.

• • •

ONE begins to suspect that a city ordinance has been passed prohibiting scoring by hostile teams at Braves Field. At least, the Tribe has reeled off three successive shutouts against the Pirates and Cardinals, two of baseball's hardest hitting teams. The club is getting the kind of pitching that was expected in the Spring, and consequently is making life unbearable for pennant contenders.

It looks as if the Braves had figured it out that then can win the pennant by blanking the opposition for the rest of the season. An twenty-eight innings has passed since an enemy spike dented the Wigwam rubber. That would have been an amazing tribute to pitching in the old days, when the baseball was just a baseball, and not a projectile or flying machine.

In these times of the lively onion, with the attendant big scores, it all begins to verge on the incredible. The Cardinals arrived full of fire after six straight wins from Brooklyn. They are within two games of the safe spot in the pennant dreams. And Larry Benton calmly lies them down with five widely divided blows.

Not a card reached second base after the second inning, when O'Farrell doubled, and that explains perfectly just how much stuff the smooth Mister Benton had on the ball.

• • •

MANAGER BANNY and Coach Dick Rudolph have been claiming right along that if Wares had not been taken dick and Hearn suffered a broken finger in the early days of the campaign, the Tribe would be in there.

The facts of the present seem to back up that claim. The veterans were forced to work overtime, and as a result the whole staff went sour. The Bancrofts have won 23 games and lost 20 since July 1, and they started that month by dropping three double headers, two to the Cards and one to the Dodgers.

Hal Goldsmith, one of the new boy wonders, was due to toss the second game of this St. Louis series, with Flint Rhem the likely Hornsby choice. Flint is the ace of the Rajah staff, and Manager Rogers wants to win this ball game.

Hornsby and his merry men expect a knock off the pennant. They believe their own club will fly along with increasing power from here in, while the Pirates will flop off a bit, after their wild drive through the past month.

• • •

THE Cardinals have a very good ball club defensively as well as offensively. Hornsby is back in the game, and while he isn't quite normal yet he's on the way. The club has enough pitching to make even capital of the manager's natural .400 slugging.

Jim Bottomley continues to be the mystery of the ball club. He has been one of the game's greatest sluggers for three or four years, but in this campaign is something like 100 points below his 1925 batting figures. He has been ailing a bit, and is at present attached to several bills which may account for his slumping. Or perhaps it's pennant fever. The flaming desire to win has been known to wreck the mental and physical co-ordination that great hitters need.

MISTRESS OF SEAS A POWERFUL athlete

TRUDE BEATS DEMPSEY

The marvelous woman swimmer, Gertrude Ederle, has a chest expansion more than twice that of the heavyweight boxing king.

THE CHANNEL CONQUEROR

Miss Ederle's physical development is at once the surprise and admiration of her supporters. Herewith is shown her muscular right arm.

MISS EDERLE TAUGHT BY MOTHER

By MARGERY REX.
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.

New York, Aug. 10.—Gertrude's fame means famine to her mother. Ma Ederle hasn't had a square meal since the great news came that Gertrude swam the Channel. She'll get the broiler out of the oven, have the creamed carrots and peas smoking hot, and the rich blueberries all ready to toss in between the crisp biscuits and then comes along some one else to congratulate Ma on her water-nymph daughter.

"Diet, by the way, means nothing in the young life of any youngster whose mother swings as wicked a skillet as Mrs. Ederle.

"Gertrude owe anything to careful diet? Well, I guess not," said Ma Ederle, indignantly, as if someone had reflected seriously upon her "table."

"We all eat anything we like to eat. Gertrude wouldn't think of denying herself anything. My, how that girl can eat. I wish she was here right this minute to help us clean up all the good things we're going to have for lunch—Irma and me," referring to a younger daughter.

WILL POWER FACTOR.

But brothers grew cold, carrots and peas lost their youth, and piecrust fell in despair while Ma was pulled out again by Highlands, N. J., neighbors to pass for movies and "stills" and have her strong hand shaken and her broad shoulders patted.

"I guess I'll starve today, after all.

"I'll tell you about Gertrude," she said when the excitement subsided for a minute or two.

"She's swimming in the world but her own will power that took her across the Channel. When that girl makes up her mind there's nothing can stop her. I knew she'd do it sometime—I felt after she got over there it would be now.

"When she first swam? Oh, that's hard to say. We've always spent our Summers here at the Highlands, in this little cottage. And we'd jump right off into fairly deep water, seven feet at the most shallow part. She learned early. No we didn't throw our kids in and let them swim. I taught them.

TRUDE LIKES ICE CREAM.

"I was her first teacher—and her own will power carried her to championship and then across the channel.

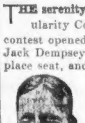
"Will power can do anything, I believe. I never tried to train her to strong will but I guess I mentioned my ideas about it once in a while.

"I wouldn't need to. Will is something Gertrude's got just like she's got her strength.

"Do you suppose you'd mind if Irma and I had our dinner now. I'm really hungry. The excitement last night kept me awake and I need something now.

Jack Dempsey Ousts Paddock from Fifth Place in Race

THE serenity of the first five place holders in the Hearst Popularity Contest, which has remained undisturbed since the contest opened, received its first jolt yesterday when Champion Jack Dempsey ousted the fleet Charlie Paddock from his fifth place seat, and hoisted himself up amongst the elite.

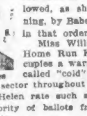


Bobby Jones

Jack now has 104 votes, three more than Charlie, but still a respectable heave from the leaders, the first of whom is still Helen Wills. She is followed, as she has been followed since the beginning, by Babe Ruth, Bobby Jones and Glenna Collett in that order.

Miss Wills' total now reads 511 to 494 for the Home Run King, showing that the tennis star occupies a warm spot in the hearts of the sometimes-called "cold" Easterners.

In no other sector throughout the country does Helen raise such support, the majority of ballots from New York to the Pacific being cast in favor of Red Grange, and Dick Howell, and those in the South failing to Bob Smith, twirler of our own Boston Braves, and Bobby Jones, Atlanta's foremost citizen.



Helen Wills

Gertrude Ederle, thanks evidently to the blow she struck for feminism in conquering the English Channel, has reached a tie for seventh place in the Boston totals, the tie being with Red Grange, who fares poorly in this locality.

MAY ELWELL POPULAR

A local swimmer, May Elwell of Revere, holder of the Boston Light swim record, continues to stay prominently in the running. She fares better than Gertrude and Red, and is in sixth place directly to the rear of Mr. Paddock. She has 64 votes.

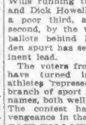
The news that Bob Smith has passed Bobby Jones in Atlanta came as a distinct surprise, as it shows the followers of the Tribe that it has a member of which they may indeed be proud.

The Chicago totals show Helen Wills running third to Red Grange and Dick Howell, the swimmer, and a poor third, at that. Grange is second, by the way, more than 200 ballots behind Howell, whose sudden spurt has sent him into a prominent lead.

The voters from the Middle West have turned in ballots for 250 athletes representing every known branch of sport and including many names, both well known and obscure. The contest has "taken" with a vengeance in that belt.

EAST FOLLOWS PACE.

The Easterners are not lagging in interest, however, and their choices appear to be most reasonable, and remarkably consistent. From day to day there have been but few changes in the relative positions of the contestants, and no changes at all above fourth place.



"Trude" Ederle

Don't forget that there will be prizes for the voters as well as for those who receive the votes. All who wish to compete for these awards should send in to the Popularity Contest Editor, Boston Evening American, a 55-word letter telling why the selection is made.

For the best letter relating to the football player highest in the voting, a football will be given; for the baseball player, a bat and ball autographed by a well-known star; for the tennis player, a racquet and so forth. Further information will be forthcoming soon.

The leading candidates in the contest in each branch of athletics as well as the winner of the greatest total, will all receive suitable prizes as well.

It is important that the voters follow instructions carefully. Ballots continue to come in with the names of foreign athletes, while some are even voting for sport writers and

Now we come to the wrist action stars of the illustrations. One enthusiast sent in thirteen ballots—only one is allowed.

Here are the rules again. They are simple!

1—Everyone is entitled to ONE vote.

2—Vote for the three athletes you like best.

3—Any American athlete, now in competition, is eligible.

4—Each coupon counts for one ballot.

5—Use the coupon printed in this paper.

6—Mail coupons to popularity Editor, Boston Evening American.

Today's Standing:

	Today	Yesterday	Total
Helen Wills	511	506	511
Babe Ruth	494	177	106
Bobby Jones	103	104	103
Glenna Collett	179	78	103
Jack Dempsey	104	104	104
Charlie Paddock	101	60	71
Red Grange	94	94	94
Gertrude Ederle	59	82	11
Bobby Jones	59	59	59
Ty Cobb	47	26	19
Mary Pinsegren	39	9	9
Jack Delaney	31	7	—
Ralph De Palma	31	7	—
Walter Johnson	29	13	6
Bill Tilden	29	9	9
Jack Sharkey	29	3	—
Katherine Marie	23	—	—
Alfred Bay Mitchell	22	—	—
Gene Tunney	20	3	—
Johnny Weissmuller	18	6	1
Clarence De Mar	17	2	—
Dave Bancroft	16	9	9

Inside Golf

In the forward swing, the drag-back of the clubhead from the ball is employed because, with expert golfers, this practically anticipates hitting the ball, and it has been proved that the drag-back yields the whip-cracker effect against the ball that delivers the hardest and straightest blow. Also it is the most natural and instinctive action—the one most closely paralleling the throwing of a ball or agate. The goal in golf always is to make the swing in the natural, instinctive manner. There is nothing mysterious at all about the golf swing. Players make the swing difficult for themselves because they go about it with such unnatural actions. So in the forward swing, when the drag-back is used in the back-swing, we gather the grand result, as will be seen in tomorrow's article.

(Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

This feature also appears in the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Read the real estate ads daily. It will pay you.

Howell Heads Nation Wide Vote Contest

Returns from the popularity contest being conducted by the Hearst papers in Chicago, Milwaukee, Atlanta, New York and Detroit in conjunction with the Boston Evening American follow:

	1st	2nd	3rd
Dick Howell	877	395
Helen Wills	721	545	453
Babe Ruth	690	481	387
Red Grange	522	457	419
Bobby Jones	399	343	344
Jack Dempsey	376	218	192
Ty Cobb	218	123	107
Hazel Wilson	196	106	106
Gertrude Ederle	160	184	177

With the PONIES

OPINION OF LEADING HANDICAPPERS
AT SARATOGA.

FIRST RACE—Fifth Overall. Points

1—Jenny Dean	26
Red Spider	26
Outing	15
2—Sympho	24
Motley's Buddy	16
Festival	16
3—Bonnie Pansant	26
Cleops	20
Donnie Mel	20
4—Edith Cavell	26
Black Maria	24
Rutilenia	19
Pompey	22
Croyden	22
Rumpler	20
6—Post Time	28
Fair Wind	24
Alley Cop	18

At Saratoga
FIRST RACE.

Horse	Jockey	Prob. Odds
Red Spider, B. Gelb.		3-1
Jenny Dean, G. Rose		4-1
Combination, Blackburn		5-1
Outing, F. Healy		6-1
Dauntless, Ross		8-1
Star Light, R. Lewis		10-1
Chief, F. Whitely		15-1
Headway, Farrington		15-1
Sporting Editor		30-1

SECOND RACE.

Rumpler, McDermott	5-1
Croyden, Ellis	6-1
Festival, J. Malley	8-1
Profiteer, E. Sande	8-1
Pleasant	10-1
Donnie, Callahan	15-1

THIRD RACE.

Bonnie Pansant, L. Mates	8-1
Cleops, L. Fator	8-1
Tipaloff, S. Field	4-1
Donnie Mel, B. Browning	6-1
Crystal Domino, M. Thorpe	10-1
Beatrice Noyes, J. Rutwell	10-1
Sir Harry, F. Wells	15-1
Fire Opal W, Kelsey	15-1
Rose Seale	15-1
Cross Word, McAuliffe	15-1
Quicksilver, F. Callahan	15-1
Rag Stock Jos. A. Johnson	30-1

FOURTH RACE.

Edith Cavell, F. Coltiletti	3-2
Black Maria, B. Browning	4-1
Rutilenia, L. Saunders	5-1
Tatting, J. Maiben	8-1
Ragtime, F. Wells	8-1
Laura Dixon, F. Stevens	15-1

FIFTH RACE.

Pompey, B. Browning	4-1
Croyden, L. Mates	5-1
Rumpler, E. Sande	6-1
Vanessa Richmond, J. Callahan	8-1
Clouland, E. Kummer	10-1
Jurmic, G. Ellis	15-1
Arne, R. Barnes	30-1

SIXTH RACE.

Post Time, F. Fisher	5-1
Palestine	6-1
Fair Wind, L. Sande	6-1
Chief Uncas	8-1
Forest Maid, J. Maiben	8-1
Miss Fish, F. Coltiletti	15-1
Celestia Maid, O. Fields	15-1
Wentworth, J. Pereira	15-1
Wellworth, W. Kelsey	20-1
Dance, Virginia C. Ewing	20-1
Wonderful One, W. Obert	30-1
Trouble, C. Turner	30-1
Mohamed Jamal, R. Fisher	30-1
Dunbeath, L. Saunders	30-1
Ship Along, McAuliffe	30-1
Intent, Fairbrother	30-1
Mamaia, L. Fator	30-1
Hazel King, A. Johnson	30-1

At Lincoln Field
FIRST RACE.

1—Scotland Yarrow	4-1
4—Caligula, R. Meese	4-1
2—Nalon, J. Sytsia	5-1
3—Good Times	10-1
5—Ralph B. Jones	15-1
—Turner	15-1
—Havana Able, S. Cooper	20-1
—Sarona	30-1
—Sky Flight, H. Jones	30-1

12—Floating Ballet, J. O'Brien	30-1
13—Parquet, R. Gustafson	30-1
—Cydonia	30-1

SECOND RACE.

7—Hydromel, J. Sytsia	3-1
8—Billy Baughan, Mern	3-1
5—Harry Winkler, L. Shaeffer	12-1
10—Vera Lark, D. Fraggale	4-1
4—Mercedes, D. Dodd	5-1
1—Captain Applejack	15-1
2—Bonnie Bell, Tedrowski	15-1
11—Winifred, M. Lunsford	15-1
3—Sweetness	20-1
—Frank McMahon, H. Elston	30-1

THIRD RACE.

16—Fabrail, R. Meese	3-1
2—Irish Brigadier, F. Peternell	8-1
1—Irish Lassie, J. Sytsia	8-1
12—Champional, D. Taylor	8-1
15—Bonfire, L. Saunders	10-1
—Magic Light, H. Elston	15-1
—Sea Fox, L. Shaeffer	15-1
—Miss Fox, Garner	15-1
11—Ruth, Wormell	15-1
14—Al Oaks, Ellis	30-1

FOURTH RACE.

1—Barlow, R. Finnerty	2-1
2—David, W. Johnson	3-1
—Chink	3-1
3—Thirlwood, K. Wormell	5-1
—Dolly Seth, D. Dubois	10-1
4—Bonnie Tu, F. Cheatham	15-1
6—The World, F. Baker	15-1
—Bonnie, G. Barnett	30-1

FIFTH RACE.

5—Child's Play, C. Stoten	2-1
—Devoni, W. Garner	4-1
4—Sonata, Mary Shaeffer	4-1
—Sandia, F. Pinkney	6-1
2—Tarbell, Ellis	20-1
—Thurwering, L. Fisher	8-1
3—Perkyboy, L. Johnson	15-1
—Marie	30-1

SIXTH RACE.

9—Vin Ginger, J. Sytsia	3-1
3—Parmelee, R. Finnerty	4-1
1—Jamaa, L. Shaeffer	4-1
—Firewater, W. Stamper	6-1
10—Chant, Jockey Reese	6-1
—Bolo, Garner	10-1
—Carolina	15-1
11—Lucky Mistake, G. Ladley	15-1
—Sunday	15-1
6—McComas	30-1

SEVENTH RACE.

8—McCulloch	3-1
9—Harmonia, R. Jones	4-1
12—Harney Castle, R. Cheatham	6-1
—Low Fox, J. Sytsia	6-1
—Running Fox	8-1
11—Rachel Fox, F. Baker	10-1
—Champee, R. Finnerty	15-1
—Speedy	15-1
10—Debon	30-1
1—Rae K. Y. McDivy	30-1

THE GRAPHIC FREE CODES—Marky Cade, Spheroid.

WEEKLY FLASH FREE CODES—Oxman, Mabel Rose.

STAR FLASH FREE CODE—Caligula.

BULLETIN HANDICAPPER'S BEST BETS—Barlow, Edith Cavell; Connaught, Miles S.; Lincoln, Hydromel; Defferts, Buddie Brown.

ADVERTISED TRACK SPECIAL—Childs Play, Lincoln.

CHICAGO WIZARD'S BEST BETS—Most probable winner, Caligula; best bets a chance, Rumpling parlay, Caligula, Bumpkin and Zeppelin, all in win.

RED SOX END LONG WESTERN INVASION

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 10.—The second Western invasion for Lee Fohl's Red Sox will come to a close with today's game here. While the Sox have not improved their standing in the American League community, they have convinced the West that they are on the right road to improvement.

Where the Sox were taking frequent socks on the chin for the first half of the season they are now disturbing the club that aspires to winning streaks.

When the Sox arrived here last Saturday the Browns heaved a sigh of relief and told their friends and neighbors they could pace the four games in the winning bag. However, the Sox refused to play second fiddle each day and have surprised the Browns as they did the Indians and the Tigers.

The additions of Bill Jacobson and Johnny Tobin form the biggest improvement in the Sox machine. And but for the injury to Ira Fingstead, Fohl could claim an outfield that would rank with the best in the league.

Nothing would please Fohl more than a Fence-busting swatter. Lee has his scouts combing the minors for a walloper.

"Rebuilding ball clubs requires time," said Fohl today. "Mr. Mack is well versed on this. When he tumbled from the top to the bottom he did not get back in the first division with one leap. I am not picking on Mr. Mack but I'll make this prophecy—The Red Sox will not trail the field as long as Mr. Mack's Athletics."

CHICK SUGGS SIGNS FOR THREE BOUTS

Chick Suggs, New England bantamweight and featherweight champion, has been signed for three bouts by Manager David Lumiansky. He will clash with Johnny Farr of Cleveland in the latter's home town on Thursday night. He will have Pete Sarmiento as an opponent at Cleveland on Aug. 24, while he will collide with Bushy Granam at Madison Square Garden on Sept. 3.

CHASING the CHAMPION

Written by HARRY WILLS for the BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

By HARRY WILLS—CHAPTER VIII

TO get back to my bout with Jeanette. That affair made me quite popular in New Orleans. People began to say that here was a boy from the old town who looked like championship material. They paid me only $350, Jeanette taking most of the receipts.

Lew Goldberg, matchmaker for the North Side Club, figured that a match between Sam Langford and myself would go big. Gomez, who owned the club, was opposed to it. He had visions of losing his best card. Goldberg went to Dominick Tortorich and they decided to run the battle.

To get Langford to come to New Orleans they had to guarantee Sam three matches. Langford was willing enough, because, like Jeannette, he heard little about me and figured on having an easy time of it. When the promoters went to Gomes to get me, he said: "Nothing doing!"

"Well, it's like this." I told Ehlrm. "I want to find out how far I can go and this looks like a good opportunity to do it. Suppose Langford does beat me. I won't lose anything. Suppose I win. That will mean that I can make some real money."

Langford Holds Wills Cheaply

So Gomez made the match although I could see he thought it very bad business.

Langford did not train very hard for that fight, although he was in fairly good shape. I thought he looked kind of surprised when he saw me stripped in the ring. I weighed about 185 pounds and was tall and well muscled.

Langford was confident enough for he was used to winning easily, his opponents generally being too afraid of him to make trouble. He thought it would be a good idea to throw a scare into me, so he said:

"Now kid, just step around and don't try to get fresh and I might let you go the limit."

I knew he was trying to get my goat. I figured I ought to let him know that I was not afraid of him, so I said:

"Don't do me no favors, brother. If I can get you I'm going to do it, so take my advice and keep your chin out of the way."

Sam growled something about a fresh kid and walked back to his corner.

Tar Baby Takes Boxing Lesson

When the referee gave us our instructions he spoke about clean breaks. Langford said he would not stand for that. He said that he fought under straight rules. That meant protect yourself at all times. I knew that he was not telling the truth, but I said:

"Anyway you like suits me. Let's come out fighting and not stop until either one has had enough."

Sam was so mad that as soon as the bell rang he made a rush for me and began shooting lefts and rights. That was not his usual way, for he generally was careful in the first round until he found out what the other fellow had. He must have seen that he had left a wide opening and I shot a straight right across, knocking him down for a short count.

That did not improve Sam's temper, but he was too cagey a ring general to make any more mistakes. He stopped rushing and began to box carefully. Langford was the best blocker I ever saw. Most fighters are satisfied to block and let it go at that, but Sam would catch a punch in one hand and hit you with the other.

Keeping my left hand in his face I threw him off balance every time he tried to set himself. Whenever I could get the jump, I'd slug for a few moments. I held the lead all the way through the 10 rounds and won the newspaper decision.

Harry Makes Good on Coast

Langford was nice about his defeat after the bout was over. He told me that I was too good to remain in the South. He advised me to go to New York.

The best with Langford was held in June of 1914. Jeanette wanted another chance and a month later I met him again. The bout was promoted by Tortorich and was a ten-round affair. The newspapers decided that I had won.

After that I decided to take Langford's advice. But instead of going to New York, where mixed bouts were not popular because of the trouble Jack Johnson had made, I went to Frisco.

Bouts there were limited to four rounds. I had an easy time beating Willie Meehan, Charlie Miller, Sailor Grande, Charlie Horn and Jim Cameron.

At Los Angeles they were still boxing 20 rounds and there I was signed to put Tom McCarey to meet Langford. The date was set for Thanksgiving Day.

(Copyright, 1926, by Kin g Features Syndicate.)

Tomorrow Wills tells of his memorable 45-round bout with Sam Langford.

Seven Classes at Dilboy Tourney

There will be seven classes in the open amateur boxing tournament of Dilboy Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, which will be staged at Tufts Oval on Thursday night. There will be matches in all championship classes other than the light heavyweight group.

The committee in charge of the show announces there will be six heavyweights on the job to furnish action. The big fellows always add a kick to amateur tournaments. New England and Pan-American champions will be seen in action in the open classes.

It is expected that a large crowd will attend the show. Many ladies will be numbered among those at the ringside.

Name Your Favorites

Here are my choices for the most popular figures of the day in the sport world:

First Choice .....

Second Choice .....

Third Choice .....

My Name is .....

My Address is .....

City or Town .....

Use this or a similar form for sending your vote. Only one ballot is allowed each person. Choices must be confined to athletes, either male or female, who are present day residents of the United States.

DUCK SEASON OPENS
SEPTEMBER 16
(Shore Birds Aug. 16)

SHOT GUNS
ALL THE LEADING MAKES ALL PRICES
GET IT AT IVER JOHNSON'S
The Most Complete Sporting Goods Store
155-163 Washington St., at Cornhill, Boston
606 Main St., Fitchburg—204 Main St., Worcester

Haverhill of the New England League will play an exhibition game Thursday evening.

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

Richard Ryan, second baseman of the Nashua team of the New England League, has been sold to Rochester.

ESSEX GOLF TOURNAMENT ATTRACTS BIG ENTRY LIST

128 ENTER FOUR BALL CONFLICTS

Newton, N. E. Amateur Champion, to Compete In Annual Classic

By BILL GRIMES

The annual Essex County Four Ball best ball invitation tournament will start tomorrow, over a real championship course, which is in great playing condition.

The usual field of 300 starters will be on hand. The players will be selected two-thirds of their state handicap, [illegible] come on the [illegible] match play from [illegible] to final round.

Bill Grimes

[illegible] the past two days Eugene F. Wogan, who is president of the N. E. P. G. A. and the professional at Essex has been busily engaged making up the drawing and working out the starting times.

The Essex four ball is the greatest tournament of its kind in this country. With but few exceptions the greatest players in this section are extended invitations to play.

There will be 64 teams start tomorrow morning and the winners of the first round will engage the 32 teams which drew byes, and the losers go into the supplementary division, which gets under way Thursday morning.

CHAMPION TO PLAY.

Although Frank C. Newton stated at the Country Club on Saturday that he would play in the Pittsfield Country Club tournament and not at Essex, the entry list from Eugene F. Wogan has the New England amateur champion teamed with P. W. Whittemore.

Due to the fact that the Essex invitation is a handicap affair it is almost an impossibility to pick a winner. The low handicap combinations in most cases fail to live through [illegible] rounds at Manchester.

Last year Charles Crane and Carl Ilyland [illegible] the Commonwealth [illegible] carried away the honors at Essex.

At the start of the tournament Crane and Hyland were not even seriously [illegible] as possible winners. They went along smoothly, making the best of the strokes their rivals gave them, and finally [illegible] Ted Frothingham and [illegible] Caner.

Walter Tuffs, from the Worcester Country Club and Johnson Simpson, who is chairman of the golf committee at Essex, is a team which will bear watching. They are both familiar with the Manchester course and have played fine golf recently.

JAQUES WINNERS ENTER.

Herbert Jaques and R. W. Estabrook, winners of the Jaques Cup at the Coronet Club last week, are entered. Jaques will play with Paul Moore, while Estabrook is paired with his old roommate at Harvard, Fitz Carleton of Philadelphia.

Dr. Caner and Ted Frothingham, who went through to the end last year, have split up, the former teaming with Pat Grant, who was one of the finest centres that ever wore the crimson, and the latter with W. H. Hunter, of the Dedham Country and Polo Club.

SOME STRONG TEAMS.

As Ray Gorton of Brae Burn has been out of competitive golf for some weeks he would give a fine account of himself. Gorton is playing with W. S. Carleton

Another strong combination is Tom McGinn from Belmont Springs and C. D. A. Grasse from Mt. Pleasant. McGinn is a fine four ball player, while Grasse is going at a fine clip, which won him the amateur pro championship at Kernwood last Sunday while teamed with Jack MacAndrews.

Jesse Guilford, the former national and State champion, who had planned to play with Myron D. [illegible] of Woodland did not receive any notification much to the surprise of everyone. A number of other familiar faces will be absent

VIEWS FROM TODAY'S CLASSIFIED PAGE

WHAT ARE YOU LOOKING FOR?

Are you looking for a good used car? Think of all the pleasure and enjoyment that could be derived from a good 2-passenger coupe, or perhaps a bigger car would suit your needs.

There is a good 2 Passenger Dodge coupe, 1921 model, listed in today's classified ads. If this is too small for you there are many bigger cars which would suit you.

And until a car every man must have his home. There is a beautiful 8-room house with electricity, furnace heat and all modern improvements for sale in the Real Estate Classified ads on the next-to-the-last page.

Indoor Sports By TAD

Y'KNOW HE YANKED ME OUT WIDOUT A CHANCE - I WALKS 2 MEN AN JANS TO HIM I'LL GET OU - OF DIS IN A MINUTE AN HE SAYS YOU'LL BE OUT BEFORE THAT AN I WAS
HE TOOK ME OUT BE CUZ THE FIELDERS WAS ASLEEP - 3 K'S IN A ROW OFFA ME BUT THEY SHOULDA BEEN 6 OUTS
YES SUH - THEM OUTFIELDERS GANG YOU OF SAME KIND OB SUPPORT AT A FOREIGN NOBLEMAN FROM AMERICAN HEIRESS AFTER HE MARRIES HER
SAY-THEM HITS WENT BY ME LIKE SO MANY PEAS DYE GET THE ALIBIS?
THAT OTHER GANG SURE DID FATTEN UP THEIR BUNTING AVERAGES TODAY - THEY ALL HIT .1008
INDOOR SPORTS
LISTENING TO THE TWO OUSTED HURLERS AS THEY TALK ABOUT THE GAME JUST LOST
TAD 8-10
© 1926 by Int'l Feature Service Inc.

MISS RYAN'S WIN DISCOUNTED BY MOTHER

New York, Aug. 10 (I N S.)—Having returned to this country from abroad, Mrs. M. H. Dudley Lee Angeles mother of Elizabeth Ryan, the tennis star, declared today that her daughter's victory over Helen Wills, at Scarsdale, was to be discounted by the champion's illness.

"My daughter is a sportswoman and did not wish to play Helen under the circumstances," Mrs. Dudley said. "I think it is only natural to expect that Helen could not do herself justice in view of her recent operation."

Miss Ryan Refuses Statement to Press

New York, Aug. 10 (I N S.)—"I never make any statements to the newspapers regarding my private affairs."

This was the only reply Miss Elizabeth Ryan, ranking tennis star in the conquering of Helen Wills, [illegible] to questions regarding [illegible] report that she would turn professional. [illegible] Miss Ryan [illegible] that an offer to [illegible] had [illegible] $10,000.

ST. ROSE H. N. S. SLATES FIVE BASEBALL GAMES

The St. Rose high [illegible] baseball team of Chelsea will play the following games this week, according to the schedule released by Manager Frank J. Fee.

WISE OR OTHERWISE

By Sted Chandler

THOSE boys who say "It can't be done" always run afoul of trouble before they day is done. It took Gertrude Ederle just 14 hours and 31 minutes to send a whole school of them into insolvency.

We noticed with amusement that one diarist prophet "admitted that he was wrong when he said no woman would ever swim the channel."

That's not news. It would have been news had he refused to admit the fact after Gertrude had walked out of the water at Kingsdown.

Gertrude did more than swim the channel and pad her father's pocketbook with delicious dollars. She rang a final curfew for all the anti-feminist dead-beats South of Nova Zembla.

* * *

THE eyes of the entire sporting world are focused upon Colonel Phelan, as Platiana awaits his decision in regard to the Dempsey-Tunney brawl. We wonder how he is Phelan.

* * *

THE crack Argentine polo team arrives in America this week, prepared to attempt another roughshod tour over our finest polo[illegible] such as marked its visit in 1922.

Lewis L. Lacey again leads the outfit, and with him is the veteran Jack Nelson, together with several promising newcomers.

Of the seven greatest polo players in the world four are Americans and three Argentines. Of the four greatest, two are Americans and two Argentines. Milburn and Hitchcock, and Lacey and Traill.

That indicates the class which the horsebred horsemen will have to face, and it indicates also what a small group has done for Argentina in this sport.

* * *

DEMPSEY escaped Wills by saying no, Suzanne by turning pro.

* * *

THE country's finest tennis players, both old and young, veteran and inexperienced, are at Forest Hills for the Davis Cup tryouts. They are, this year, most important trials, for America faces the novelty of entering [illegible] matches for [illegible] an overwhelming favorite.

We have the material, but [illegible] of a sudden, perhaps succumbing to the influence of [illegible] figures has become a most uncertain form of amusement.

We have the material, but it has lacked defeat so what have you?

* * *

A SWEDISH girl named Brita Hazelius has broken the women's record.

We are going to brush up on our Swedish and find out what this [illegible] Hazelius—it must mean something.

Dempsey Halts Career of Bat Levinsky

THIS is the twenty-sixth chapter of Jack Kearns' thrilling story in which he replies to the charges of Jack Dempsey. It is the first time that the man who put Jack Dempsey on the pugilistic map tells of his experiences when he was a prize fighter. Read this story every day in the Boston Evening American.

By JACK KEARNS

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

I KEPT telling Morgan that Dempsey would take Levinski and Morgan kept grinning. On the night of the fight, Morgan came to my hotel early and I asked him how his fighter was.

"Never better. You can cut loose for all you've got. Don't be afraid to send your man after this Jew boy. This boy likes to be crowded. The faster and the rougher it is the better he likes it, he answered." "If they're in there at the end of six rounds, a draw will please us."

Jack Kearns

The bell rang and Dempsey almost knocked Levinski's head off with the first left hook He had him groggy in no time. I saw that he would clip Hat early.

When Jack came back I told him to ease up a bit and give the folks a run for their money. He was trying to do that in the third when he let go a right cross for the jaw. It hit Levinski on the shoulder and down he went and down he stayed.

Jimmy Coffroth came on to New York about that time to put on a big war show. I told Jim that Dempsey would fight any white man in the world for the cause, that he would pay his own expenses and donate money to the cause. Mike Gumbost Smith, Fulton, Willard, all of them turned down Coffroth's offer. They selected Joe Bonds to fight Jack.

MANAGERS' TRICK FAILS.

When Dempsey got into the ring Joe Bonds was not to be found. Joe Jeanette, Kid Norfolk, Jamaica Kid, Soldier Parrfield and Jack Britton all got into the ring.

I looked to Coffroth and Charley Harvey and they could not explain the situation. I asked Coffroth what I'd do and he said: "Stand pat on your agreement. I want to see Jack fight somebody, but I won't stand for his being crossed up like this."

I told Jimmy that Dempsey would fight Jim Coffey, or any man in the house and would turn in $1,000 to the fund, if any white man got into the ring. You know I wanted to take all three of those negroes [illegible] Coffroth advised us to [illegible] the ring. We did it without fighting anybody. I've always admired Coffroth for being game enough to stand by us for a principle.

I put Dempsey into his own show after that. "The Dempsey Follies." We were offering $1,000 for the man who would stay four rounds with Jack. We opened at Long Branch.

I had no sooner made the announcement about Jack's offer, than the biggest guy I ever saw, outside of Willard, got up and yelled "I'll take that offer of $1,000; I'll stay with that fellow. He can't bluff me."

"That's Curley McGuire. Kill the big bum, Jack. Knock his brains out," someone shrieked from the gallery.

"My good man, you say you wish to accept this offer?"

"That's my story," he answered.

"We will take up your challenge at tomorrow night's show. Come prepared to stay the four rounds tomorrow night."

"I'll be here, tomorrow night, and if I don't knock that guy of yours sicking, I won't ask for a cent."

The next night you couldn't have driven a sword blade through any place in that house.

When I came to the theatre, Curley had a big crowd around him. The fellow was a giant in strength and I got a little weak in the knees.

What a fight it was. The fellow didn't know anything about boxing. As they milled around I was backed off into the wings and I yelled for Jack to knock him my way. Jack did and I socked him back of the ear and knocked him back to Jack.

ENTER TEX RICKARD.

I went over to New York and happened to drop into the Biltmore bar one day. I was talking to Jack McGraw, the famous baseball manager, when I looked around and saw Tex Rickard, standing right at our elbow. McGraw spoke to Tex and said to me: "You know Tex Rickard, Kearns, don't you?"

"Yes, I know him. I haven't seen him since he stole Les Darcy away from me." I said with all the acrimony I could produce. McGraw finally patched it up and Rickard and I began to talk shop. Deeds of Dempsey filled the air and Tex finally admitted to me that he thought Dempsey too small for a champion.

"You ought to promote this match between Willard and Dempsey, Tex. It would draw a lot of money. You ought to put it on." I told Tex. "Well, I'll be frank with you Jack, I'm broke. I haven't got a dime now am I going to promote this?"

"You get Willard and I'll show you how. Send him a wire. I'll do the rest." Willard is at Lawrence, Kansas. We'll shoot him a wire so the two of us can get the message, and sent it. "Collect."

(Copyright 1926 by The Christy Walsh Syndicate.)

Ogg Leads Pro Title Qualifiers

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 10.—Willis Ogg, home professional, led a field of 51 at the Worcester Country Club, in the New England qualifying round for the National professional golfers' tournament to be held at Long Island, next week.

The qualifiers were: Ogg, 148; George Aulbach, Ariemont, 150; Alec Simpson, Manchester, Conn., 154; Donald Vinson, Plymouth, 154; George MacLeod, Belmont, 156; Jack Stolt, Hartford, 156.

GARDINI DEFEATS SIKI IN TWO STRAIGHT FALLS

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 10 (A. P.)—Renato Gardini, Italian wrestling champion, took two straight falls over Reginald Siki, Senegalese grappler, here last night.

Jimmy London won from Stanley Pinta in a one-fall match.

SOME chaps are satisfied with their home-made radio set . . . until they hear a bigger and better set at their neighbor's. It's much the same with tobacco. You may think your present brand is the last word. But, until you smoke Prince Albert, you don't know how good that pipe can taste!

Among the biggest boosters this grand old tobacco has are the converts who figured: "Maybe I'm not getting all my pipe can give me in deep-down smoke-satisfaction. I'm going to try P. A." They did try Prince Albert and they've stuck. Tear a leaf out of their book.

No other tobacco is like Prince Albert. Buy a tidy red tin, throw back the hinged lid and breathe deeply of its wonderful fragrance. That's real tobaccol Cool when you smoke it . . . cool and sweet and fragrant as the breeze from an old-fashioned garden.

Why be satisfied with less than perfection! Go now to that nearby smoke-shop and get a tidy red tin of P. A.—the tobacco that has brought pleasure to so many men that it is known as the National Joy Smoke. Load up and light up. Your face will light up with the smile that P. A. regulars know so well.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half pound tin humidors, and pound crystal glass humidors with sponge moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT

the National Joy Smoke

©1926, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

The committee handling the arrangements for "Mathewson Day," Aug. 25, announces that already 500 amateur teams have agreed to honor "Matty."

Vincent Richards announced today he would not be able to take part in the Davis Cup trials at Forest Hills tomorrow because of an injured leg

FRENCH TENNIS STARS TO PLAY AT LONGWOOD

ACES SAIL TO COMPETE IN DOUBLES

Boreta Brugnon and Lacoste to Contest for National Championships

The entry of the aforementioned famous combination in the National doubles matches at Longwood, August 30, assures that event of foreign dash and color.

The teams, which are composed of the French Davis Cup players, will be paired with Rene Lacoste and Jean Borotra, the Bounding Basque, in one combination, and Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon in the other.

The invaders are hopeful of taking home with them not only the Davis Cup, emblematic of the world's supremacy in amateur lawn tennis, but also of lifting the American doubles title.

In addition to the foreigners virtually all of America's leading doubles pairs will compete. These will include the two Bills, Tilden and Johnston, R. Norris Williams 2nd, Vincent Richards, Lawford Davis, Louis Thalheimer, Edward G. "Bud" Chandler, 18 t. Lois, Alfred H. Chapin, Jr., and many others

Davis Cup Players Leaving France for United States

Paris, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—Three members of France's Davis Cup team are leaving tomorrow for the United States, more hopeful than ever before of bringing back the trophy which stands for world supremacy in lawn tennis team play.

Rene Lacoste, Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon are sailing on the Olympic from Cherbourg. The other member of the team, Jean Borotra, is detained here until next week by business. The team will have a non-playing captain also, Capt. Pierre Gillou, an official of the Lawn Tennis Federation.

The players expect to remain in the United States until the end of September, entering the national championships, in which Lacoste and Borotra will form one doubles combination and Cochet and Brugnon another. The line-up for the Davis Cup has not been decided. All the players are in fine condition and have been practicing regularly, favored by good tennis weather.

Lacoste said today he had recovered from the series of illnesses which followed his Winter trip to the United States.

COACHES COMPLETE THEIR TRAINING COURSES

Madison, Wis., Aug 10.—Ninety college and high school coaches have completed their six weeks of intensive training in the University of Wisconsin Coaching Training School. This group of athletic tutors assembled at Madison from all sections of the country to avail themselves of the courses offered by the Badger coaches. Seventeen States were represented in the enrollment.

Classes were conducted in football by Director George Little, baseball under Guy Lowman, and track tactics were administered by Coach Tom Jones. George Lewis handled the basketball groups, while Joe Steinauer taught swimming and training and conditioning.

CLOUDBURST SMASHES BRIDGES IN CROATIA

Agram, Croatia, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—A cloudburst has caused great damage in the western part of this city. Bridges over the river Save collapsed. A number large build ings, including the Custom House are submerged.

Hundreds of persons have been driven from their homes, but there are no reports of casualties.

BATTLING McCREARY TAKES ON FLOWERS TONIGHT

Atlanta, Ga., Aug 10 (A.P.).—Tiger Flowers of Atlanta, middle weight champion of the world, meets Battling McCreary of Boston in a ten-round bout here tonight.

It will be the last fight for the Georgia negro before his return match with Harry Greb in New York Aug. 19. The bout will not be for the title.

Table of Runs

DAY'S HIGH—LOW SCORES

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Monday—High, New York 9.
Monday—Low, Others 1

	R	H	E	W	T	P	S	Pct.
BOSTON	6	7	1	0	3	6	4	.571
New York	9	9	1	0	3	5	4	.556
Cleveland	7	7	1	0	3	7	4	.636
St. Louis	2	6	7	1	3	7	2	.500
Washington	5	5	0	4	1	3	4	.429
Chicago	3	11	0	1	2	5	3	.375
Detroit	1	5	2	0	4	3	3	.429
Philadelphia	1	6	2	0	4	3	3	.429
Totals	36	64	20	6	24	39	27	.500

a—Two games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Monday—High, Cincinnati 14.
Monday—Low, St. Louis 0.

	R	H	E	W	T	P	S	Pct.
BOSTON	4	8	2	a	1	6	3	.500
Brooklyn	3	6	1	0	3	5	3	.500
St. Louis	3	7	2	0	1	1	4	.200
Cincinnati	0	a	1	0	4	2	a	.333
Philadelphia	7	a	1	2	1	7	1	.800
New York	0	4	2	0	1	6	3	.250
Chicago	2	5	a	0	1	6	2	.250
Pittsburgh	7	7	1	a	1	6	3	.250
Totals	26	a	44	2	12	40	21	.364

a—No game.

Need money? Turn to the money to loan Classified Ads.

TROUBLES NOW OVER

SUZANNE LENGLEN

Tempersamental French tennis star says she is at peace with the world since she turned pro.

Suzanne Lenglen Tells of Her Ambitions

SUZANNE LENGLEN, foremost woman tennis player of the world who recently created a sensation by turning professional, tells, in the following interview with Thomas J. Topping of the Associated Press, of her feelings in abandoning her amateur status and of her hopes when she embarks soon upon her professional career with appearances in the United States

By THOMAS J. TOPPING

Feurville, France, Aug 9 (A.P.)

The nightmare is over." Thus did the temperamental Suzanne Lenglen enthusiastic over her prospective visit to the United States, greet a correspondent for the Associated Press who had come to this little seaside resort, near Dieppe, where the amateur woman tennis champion of the world turned professional.

Freed from the always present taought of having to defend her title Suzanne appeared five years younger, carefree and happy. "Some seem to believe I am tied up hands and feet by becoming a professional," she said. "To me it is an escape from bondage and slavery. No one can order me about any longer to play tournaments for the benefit of club owners. I got great fun out of tennis for a few years after the war, but lately it had become too exacting."

"Fireworks! Believe me, I will show them some fireworks in the United States," Suzanne exclaimed "With nothing to lose and nothing to gain, I will take chances on shots I never dared take before when each point loomed up as big as the Eiffel Tower and the match might depend on it.

HOPES TO MEET HELEN

"Who will play against me?" suzanne again exclaimed in answer to a question concerning her future opponents in her coming tour. "I don't know and I don't care. I am ready to meet them all. Tell them to come. I have done my bit to build up the tennis of France and of the world. It's about time tennis did something for me."

Do you think you might meet Helen Wills again?

"I sincerely hope so," Suzanne responded. "Perhaps it can be arranged. I don't feel that I should be ostracized because I have turned professional. Maybe the United States Tennis Association will permit a match between us to be staged in America. It would be the fulfillment of one of my most cherished ambitions." Obtains were found to permit amateur and professional golfers to meet and it is this Miss Lenglen is believed to have in mind)

Picking up the thread of the story of her career on the courts, which has carried her to such heights Suzanne, responding to the remark that she talked like a veteran, readily answered the usually taboo question.

"How old am I?" she flashed. "I am not afraid to say that I am twenty-seven years of age. I was born in 1899 and have been playing tennis for sixteen years. I began when I was eleven years old.

"Ouf! What a relief to be free once more." Jean Borotra summed it up in a few words when he said I was the only woman in the world that had no business to be sick, but all these cares and worries are now gone and I am feeling pretty good just now."

HER HARDEST MATCH

This w[illegible] ness when Mlle Lenglen was forced to withdraw from Wimbledon tournament Borotra, the young star among France's men players, begged Suzanne to come "dead or alive," to the courts, so as not to disappoint the crowd. Suzanne bundled into an automobile and played that day in answer to his plea. On those rare occasions, when she has allowed indispositions to interfere with her engagements, public criticism has distressed her greatly. In consequence she now seems extraordinarily responsive to censor for her appearance, but not always without display of that temperament that has so endeared her to the French people.)

What was my hardest match? Miss Lenglen continued. She gives emphasis to questions that interest her by repeating them. "It was my match against Mrs. R. Lambert Chambers at Wimbledon in 1919, where incidentally, I won my first world championship. I was a little girl, aged twenty, pitted against the best player in the world. Mrs. Lambert Chambers had been supreme in feminine tennis.

ADVICE TO BEGINNERS

"My advice to young players? Keep your eye on the ball; second, keep the ball in play; third, meet the ball on the rise, fourth, practise your worst shots, and fifth, don't worry.

"The last advice I ever myself could follow, but don't do as I did, do as I say. Control of the ball and accuracy is the secret of tennis success. I never had a wicked service, my forehand drive is not nearly so powerful as Miss Wills', but I have always been able to place the ball within inches of where I wanted it."

Some say that no champion in one sport can be proficient in another. Well, I think that's wrong," she continued. "I was France's feminine high jump champion in 1919 with a leap of 4 feet 6 inches. This is within 4 inches of Miss Elizabeth Atkin's world's record.

"There has been much talk for many years that you are an amateur in name only receiving money from small and big clubs," Suzanne was told.

NEVER RECEIVED MONEY

"Please spike this talk for a time." Miss Lenglen said vehemently. "I never received a sou either at Wimbledon or the French championship or at the modest little Riviera Club. I know I have a reputation for becoming fabulously rich. People could not believe that I was not making and spending fortunes."

Suzanne Says:

Keep your eye on the ball
Keep the ball in play
Meet the ball on the rise.
Don't worry
Control of the ball and accuracy are the secrets of tennis success

My hardest match was with Mrs. R. Lambert Chambers in

I have had less difficulty defeating Miss Elizabeth Ryan than any other topnotcher

I sincerely hope that I may meet Helen Wills again

HELEN SCORES IN NET JOUST FOR TITLE

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 10 (A.P.)—In her first competition since her defeat by Miss Elizabeth Ryan at Sea Bright last week, Miss Helen Wills, national champion, advanced to the third round in the women's New York State tennis championship at the West Chester-Biltmore Country Club today without the loss of a single game.

She drew a bye in the first round and defeated Miss Margaret Dwyer of New York, 6—0, 6—0, in the second round.

Mrs Molla B. Mallory of New York and Miss K. Browne of Santa Monica, Cal., both former national champions worked their way into the semi finals by winning their third round contests without difficulty. The summaries:

Women's Singles, second round—Miss Helen Wills California defeated Margaret Dwyer New York, 6—0, 6—0. Mrs. Kevin Morris defeated Mrs. M. T. Eaton New Jersey, 6—1, 6—2.

Women's Singles, third round—Mrs. Molla Mallory New York, defeated Mrs. Ethel Bailey, New York, 6—1, 6—1; Mrs. G. I. Lockhart, Canada, defeated Miss Anne Page Rye, N. Y., 6—2, 6—2; Miss Mary K. Browne, Santa Monica, defeated Miss Florence Sexton Montclair, N. J. 6—2 6—0; Mrs. Elsa Hayett Rosser, New York, defeated Miss Dorothy Andrus 6—0, 6—1.

Knotholers Play at Tepee Tomorrow

An intersectional battle predominates at Braves Field tomorrow morning. The Sullivan Square Juniors and an East Boston club known as the Bennetts will be the finalists in the Braves Knot Hole championships.

Manager Bancroft will manage the Juniors, while Harry, the Cardinal boss, will pilot the youths from the Neck.

The teams who were eliminated in the semi and third rounds of this play and will receive awards are Brighton West End Reds Coolidge Corner, Mattapan, Smith Pond South End, North End Dorches Roxbury, Franklin Field, Charlestown Roxbury and Boston

THE LINE UP

BENNETTS		SULLIVAN SQ
Caryl, 2b.		Jesson, 1f.
Stella, 1f.		Lyons, lb.
Magnasco, p		W. Jesson 3b
Hastbide, ss.		D'Doherty, p
Cano, r f.		Daino, ss.
Sammottino, 3b.		Drome, 3b
W. Petrone, c.		Keedy, c.
Carrerbeo, c f.		Fabian, c f
Doyle, lb.		Bentowsky, rf

Hewes Favorite in Philly Tennis

Philadelphia, Aug. 10 (A.P.)—Second-round contests were on the program today in the fourth annual public tennis tournament.

Four matches were scheduled, as follows: Theodore Brewer, St. Louis, defending champion, vs. Milton Dreyfuss, Buffalo; Ralph Rice, Chicago vs. Gus Amsterdam, Philadelphia, Lou Schaeffer, Buffalo, vs. Robert Considine, Washington, Elmer Rudy, Baltimore vs. Leo Lesjek, Chicago.

Drewes, No. 1 seeded player in the National Public Courts championships, was in top form yesterday and defeated Oscar Zeman, Detroit, in two fast sets 6—3, 6—4. 6—0 He is regarded as the favorite to annex the third straight title, winning first in 1924 and again at Baltimore last year.

Decision of Boat Race Postponed

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 10 (A.P.) Until the fishing schooners return from their present season on the grounds, no definite decision can be made by the Halifax authorities regarding the international schooner race off Halifax next fall.

This statement was made by H. R. Silver chairman of the board of trustees.

The date of the race, early in October, suggested by the Americans may not permit the Nova Scotia schooners to hold an elimination contest between the Halligonian and the Bluenose

BASEBALL STATISTICS

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Standing of the Clubs

	W.	L.	Pc.	Win	Lose
New York	71	28	.661	.655	.645
Cleveland	63	49	.563	.566	.558
Philadelphia	58	52	.527	.532	.522
Detroit	57	55	.509	.513	.504
Chicago	56	55	.505	.509	.500
Washington	53	54	.495	.500	.491
St. Louis	46	63	.422	.427	.418
BOSTON	35	73	.324	.329	.321

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Boston 7, St. Louis 5.
Cleveland 7, Washington 6.
New York 9, Detroit 1.
Philadelphia 2, Chicago 1

GAMES TODAY

Boston at St. Louis.
New York at Detroit.
Washington at Cleveland.
Philadelphia at Chicago.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Standing of the Clubs

	W.	L.	Pc.	Win	Lose
Pittsburgh	60	44	.577	.581	.571
St. Louis	59	49	.546	.550	.541
Cincinnati	60	50	.545	.550	.541
New York	56	51	.523	.528	.519
Chicago	56	51	.523	.528	.519
Brooklyn	52	57	.477	.482	.473
BOSTON	44	62	.415	.421	.411
Philadelphia	40	69	.367	.394	.385

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Boston 8, St. Louis 0.
New York 6, Chicago 2.
Pittsburgh 9, Brooklyn 3.
Philadelphia 7, Cincinnati 4 (first game), Cincinnati 10, Philadelphia 3 (second game).

GAMES TODAY

St. Louis at Boston
Pittsburgh at Brooklyn.
Cincinnati at Philadelphia.
Chicago at New York.

New England League

Lynn 11, Haverhill 2
Lewiston 3, Nashua 2
Manchester 2, Salem 6
Portland 6, Lawrence 4
STANDING OF THE CLUBS
	W.	L.	Pc.
Lynn	66	32	.673
Manchester	58	37	.610
Lewiston	58	42	.580
Haverhill	54	45	.545
Salem	52	50	.510
Lawrence	48	52	.480
Nashua	37	67	.356
Portland	26	84	.271

GAMES TODAY.

Lewiston at Lynn, 2 games
Manchester at Salem
Portland at Haverhill, 2 games
Lawrence at Nashua, 2 games

Twilight League

Fall River 8, Meadow 3
South Boston 6, Somerville 3
Dorchester 7, Waltham 2

STANDING OF THE CLUBS

	W.	L.	Pc.
Lynn	10	2	.833
Fall River	8	3	.727
Malden	6	3	.667
So. Boston	2	8	.200
Dorchester	1	9	.100

GAMES TONIGHT

Lynn at Waltham.
Malden at South Boston
Dorchester at Somerville

American Association

Minneapolis 3, St. Paul 1
Louisville 10, Milwaukee 4
Others not scheduled

STANDING OF THE CLUBS

	W.	L.	Pc.
Louisville	78	46	.629
Kansas City	74	48	.607
Minneapolis	71	49	.592
Indianapolis	66	55	.545
Milwaukee	64	64	.500
Toledo	58	70	.453
Columbus	55	73	.430
St. Paul	47	81	.367

Eastern League

Providence 9, Springfield 8.
New Haven 5, Bridgeport 3.
Pittsfield-Albany (2) Aug 8 doubleheader

STANDING OF THE CLUBS

	W.	L.	Pc.
Providence	70	43	.619
Bridgeport	66	48	.579
Albany	66	48	.579
Hartford	55	56	.495
Springfield	53	59	.473
Pittsfield	46	68	.404
New Haven	45	68	.398
Worcester	43	71	.377

GAMES TODAY

Springfield at Providence
Worcester at Bridgeport.

International League

Newark 7, Syracuse 6
(Only game played.)

STANDING OF THE CLUBS

	W.	L.	Pc.
Baltimore	78	45	.634
Newark	78	48	.619
Toronto	75	48	.610
Buffalo	73	49	.598
Rochester	69	60	.535
Jersey City	58	61	.488
Syracuse	47	77	.379
Reading	27	91	.229

HAGEN WILL PLAY AT CHAUTAUQUA TUESDAY

Chautauqua, N. Y., Aug 10 (A.P.)—Walter Hagen, the leading professional golfer of the world will make his second appearance on the Chautauqua golf course next Tuesday afternoon, August 17. He will be matched with professionals of nearby cities Inner Miser of Erie Harold Smith of Warren and George Underwood of Jamestown

FINNEGAN AND CHAPMAN GO ON AUG. 24

RED CHAPMAN and Honeyboy Finnegan, two of the leaders in the Boston Evening American's poll to name the world's leading featherweight, will fight it out in Braves Field on August 24 in a ten-round bout at a show to be staged by the Suffolk A. A. for the widow and nine children of the late John F. Mahony.

The weight for the contest will be 126 pounds at 3 o'clock. This is two pounds above the notch for the featherweight division.

Finnegan originally demanded that the contest be fought at 122 pounds, but later agreed to 126 pounds. Chapman was willing that the weight be as low as 124 pounds Red has not any difficulty in making the featherweight limit.

Dan Carroll insists that Finnegan can reduce to 126 pounds but he says he will only do so in the event the world's featherweight crown is at stake

Sammy Fuller, sensational North End featherweight who is giving Chapman and Chick Suggs a merry battle for honors in the Boston Evening American's poll, will clash with Johnny Brown of England, European featherweight champion in the semifinal of ten rounds

THE Chapman-Finnegan bout is one of the outstanding battles of the year. Matchmaker Tom Goodwin of the Suffolk A. A. secured options on the services of Chapman and Finnegan six weeks ago. He planned to run the show as a regular Suffolk A. A. feature

It was later suggested that a boxing carnival be conducted for the late Johnny Mahony. Goodwin was asked by the committee to arrange the matches. He immediately offered to promote the Chapman Finnegan contest for this deserving cause.

There will be a $3 top for seats, but in view of the two big bouts that will head the card as well as the object for which the show is being run the fans will give the affair their full support

SAMMY FULLER continues to furnish the big surprises in the Boston Evening American's poll. He is now within two votes of Chick Suggs who is pressing Red Chapman for first honors. The vote to date follows:

Red Chapman	1120
Chick Suggs	1014
Sammy Fuller	1012
Honeyboy Finnegan	840
Johnny Dundee	470
Babe Herman	315
Newsport Johnny Brown	210
Benny Bass	190
Joe Glick	110
Leo (Kid) Roy	101

THE Boston Evening American's featherweight polls close on Saturday night. So cast your vote today.

Read the Classified Ads for profit

Pick King of Feathers; Vote Here

- ☐ Benny Bass
- ☐ Red Chapman
- ☐ Johnny Dundee
- ☐ Honeyboy Finnegan
- ☐ Sammy Fuller
- ☐ Joe Glick
- ☐ Babe Herman
- ☐ Chick Suggs

Mark a cross (x) beside your choice and mail to Jack Conway, Boston Evening American. Winthrop square, Boston, Mass.

"Well, here we are Mac, shall we go to a hotel?"

"Perhaps, temporarily, but we're here for a long stay so let's settle down in a small apartment. I've been told that we can find plenty in the American or Advertiser classified ads."

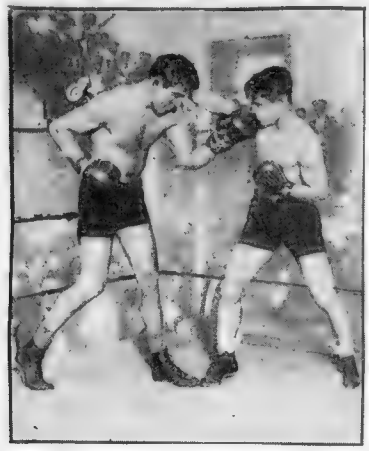
Joey Kaufman meets Marty Silver in the main go of twelve rounds at the Golden City A. A. tonight.

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

Lee Dickerman, until recently a pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals, has reported to the Oakland Oaks of the Pacific Coast League.

PHELAN SOLE ARBITER FOR DEMPSEY-TUNNEY FIGHT

TIGER JACK DEMPSEY, HEAVYWEIGHT KING, ONCE AGAIN BARES HIS CLAWS FOR ACTION



STEPPING LIVELY

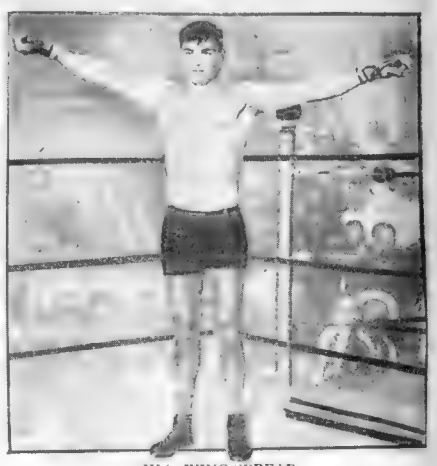
The champion, in preparation for his bout with Gene Tunney, indulges in a little sparring with Ted Moore in Stillman's Gym, New York, where Jack is in training.

THE DYNAMITER

The Manassa Man-Mauler takes a few healthy swings at the dynamite bag during one of his stiff workouts at Stillman's.

UPSIDE DOWN

This bird's-eye view of Mr. Dempsey shows him going through a leg exercise in the gymnasium. Jack is overlooking no detail of his physical training.



HIS WING-SPREAD

The Tiger stretches himself and exhibits his impressive wing-spread One must admit that he doesn't look exactly soft. He is training hard at Stillman's every day. (These photos by I.N.R.)

LICENSE BOARD HOLDS HEAVYWEIGHT TITLE BOUT IN BALANCE

Continued from First Page.

ing rules and regulations, the committee would act accordingly. He declared the applicants would have to convince him that they had conformed with the regulations in every way.

No decision would be made, Colonel Phelan said, until all angles of the case had been carefully considered.

Reports persisted that members of the license committee had demanded that Dempsey and his manager produce the contracts Dempsey and his manager had signed to fight Harry Wills and to explain his reason for not meeting the negro challenger.

The committee sent for Wills to hear his side of the story. As the grand negro came down the hall to enter the offices he bumped into Dempsey. The champion grinned and extended his hand. Wills shook it warmly.

The heavyweights, who are billed to fight at the Yankee Stadium on September 18 under the direction of Tex Rickard, had previously filed the necessary form required in all cases where a boxer requests a license.

The Athletic Commission at noon put the question of a Dempsey-Tunney bout up to the License Committee. The Commission stated it would not indulge in the matter.

There was a tremendous crowd outside of the Flatiron Building on Broadway when Dempsey, accompanied by Tex Rickard and Gene Normile, his business representative, arrived at noon.

Gene Tunney, the challenger, and Manager Billy Gibson arrived on the scene soon afterwards.

George E. Bower, the member of the commission who gave his support to Commissioner William Muldoon at the last minute, stated today that he would not have anything further to do with the Dempsey bout and that the entire matter is now up to the license committee.

Chairman James Farley, who has insisted that Wills receive first opportunity to fight Dempsey, also asserted the question of a Dempsey-Tunney bout was now in the hands of the license committee.

Jack Sharkey, New England heavyweight champion, appeared before the Commission today. Johnny Brokley, his manager, showed a contract calling for a bout with Tunney and stated that Gene had verbally agreed to the match. The Commission tabled the matter.

Squad of Police Guards Meeting of Ring Board

New York, Aug. 10 (A.P.).—A squad of 26 police was thrown around the Flatiron building today as members of the New York State Athletic Commission went into executive session.

The police were under orders to break up any demonstration that might occur as a result of the ruling of the license committee, which may issue or refuse to grant a license to the titleholder or his challenger, or both. The police were stationed around the entrances of the building, in which the commission's offices are located and in the halls.

As the commissioners went into session the officers had difficulty in keeping traffic moving because of the tremendous jam of fight fans waiting for the decision of the license committee.

Harry Wills Will Box at Arena on August 24

Harry Wills, leading contender for a bout with Jack Dempsey, will appear in a four-round exhibition bout at a show to be staged by the Boston Arena A. C. on August 24, as part of the convention of the colored Elks.

Wills will display his amazing ability as a boxer and puncher to his many admirers. He is sure to attract a huge crowd to the Arena.

Wills is now writing a series of articles on "Chasing the Champion" for the Boston Evening American.

FRANK SHUMAN JOINS MALDEN

By EDDIE DONDERO

FRANK SHUMAN, former Somerville Twi noundsman, has hit the trail, Malden-bound. He kicked over the traces when Frank Coughlin's contract proved attractive. A capable hurler with a poor ball club can always be sold. Tonight he labors against South Boston at the Christopher J. Lee playgrounds.

* * *

His acquisition gives the Malden supporters every reason to believe that the championship flag in the second half will be flown from the Pearl street stadium flagpole. With Shuman-Queen, Ashley and Shea alternating on the hillock, giving the club a firm foundation to launch its pennant drive, the outlook is promising.

* * *

Somerville, from now until the season reaches an end, attempts to play those remaining games away from home. Manager Norton has come in contact with much abuse by releasing athletes like Silva, Wenzer, Sheridan, St. Angelo, Shuman and Conroy. He has replaced them with mite schoolboys who are inexperienced.

* * *

The fans who patronized the Somerville segregation a month ago have lost all interest. Instead of visiting Tufts Oval they go elsewhere. Dorchester has a scheduled game with Somerville tonight, featuring the appearance of seven new players in the Norton lineup.

* * *

Eddie Morton, all scholastic shortstop at Medford High; Charlie Odoms Bud Edgerly and Webber Knox are other schoolboy sensations who will crash their way into the Twi circuit. Morton has not been hitting the size of his bathing suit with the Medford City Club, but he may recover from the slump with the change of scenery.

ZIVIC GROOMS FOR CONFLICT WITH LATZO

By JACK CONWAY.

JIMMY BRONSON, manager of Jack Zivic, stated today that the Pittsburgh welterweight would now train his guns on Pete Latzo.

"I think Zivic has proved he is the logical contender for a tussle with Latzo," said Bronson. "Jack has beaten most of the leading welterweights. Joe Lindee is the only outstanding welterweight in Zivic's path, and he won't risk an exchange of blows with the Pittsburgh puncher. And you can hardly blame him."

Jack Conway.

Zivic won over George (Kid) Lee in four rounds in their bout at the Suffolk A. A.'s show at Braves Field.

Referee Jack Sheehan stopped the contest at the end of the fourth frame when Lee's left arm was out of commission and he was trying to continue the battle with one arm.

The gross receipts for the Zivic-Lee bout were $13,000, while the net figures after payment of 5 per cent. State tax were $12,350. Six thousand fans paid to see the show.

Dr. John Connor, an official appointed by the Boxing Commission, examined Lee after the bout. He stated that the muscles and sinews had been torn away from the bone on Lee's left arm at a point where a six-inch incision was made when Lee had the arm broken in a tussle with Ted Marchant of England last Winter.

* * *

BETWEEN the fourth and fifth rounds, Referee Jack Sheehan asked Lee if he wished to have him stop the bout.

"I want to fight on as Zivic isn't hurting me," replied Lee.

Sheehan then examined Lee's left arm. He noticed that there was swelling at a point in the arm where the incision was made at the time the New England champion's arm was set last January. He did not believe Lee was in a condition to continue. Dr. Connor's examination justified the finding of the referee.

* * *

THE best bout of the show was the eight-round quarrel between Bobby Brown of Lowell and Vic Hirsch of Malden. The decision went to Brown after a torrid punching duel.

Jack Katchis of Pittsburgh was awarded the verdict over Bob Lowrie of Scotland in another frolic that produced all kinds of action.

In the other bout, Newport Johnny Brown stopped Lou Bedell of Portland in two frames.

Thinking of buying a home? Turn to the Classified Ads.

That Dempsey-Wills Muss

1922.

June 13—Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, posted a challenge and forfeit of $5,000 with the commission.

June 23—Commission gave Dempsey ten days to accept.

June 29—Dempsey formally accepted and urged immediate conference to decide on date.

July 18—Dempsey and Wills signed contract to meet within sixty days after a reliable promoter undertook to stage match.

1923.

February 7—William L. Muldoon, then chairman of the commission, and still a member, announced that Dempsey would not be permitted to meet either Wills or Willard in New York State. All heavyweight bouts were banned.

August 24—Licenses were granted to Dempsey and Kearns.

September 6—Dempsey, hearing Mullins attempted to prevent champion's bout with Firpo, said Wills never would get chance.

September 15—Wills' petition to stop Firpo bout was denied.

1924.

January 12—Mullins quoted as demanding $500,000 for Wills to face Dempsey.

May 1—Rickard announced Dempsey and Wills to meet in Jersey City in September.

July 5—Rickard announced Dempsey not to enter ring during year.

1925.

March 6—Commission issued ultimatum that Dempsey must agree within 24 hours to fight with Wills.

March 7—Kearns said Dempsey would meet Wills if commission financed match.

March 8—Time limit for accepting Wills bout extended to 15 days.

March 24—Dempsey placed on ineligible list.

April 23—Dempsey said he would give Rickard two weeks to arrange meeting with Wills.

April 28—Appeared before commission, but failed to answer question directly, leaving that to Kearns.

July 16—Returned from Europe and was signed by Rickard for Wills bout.

July 17—Appeared before commission and formally accepted Wills challenge.

August 4—Commission announced champion ineligible until signed for match.

September 28—Signed with Floyd Fitzsimmons to meet Wills—all forfeits posted.

Jeffries Picks Champ; Sharkey for Tunney

By BEN STERN,
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 10.—"Jack Dempsey will beat Gene Tunney."

With a smile, James J. Jeffries, the "big fellow" who used to bowl 'em over in the squared arena, turned back to the mirror and adjusted his tights prior to appearing in an exhibition bout at a local theatre.

There was a roar from the next room and in jumped Tom Sharkey, the fighting tar.

"What do you mean by that, Jeff?" he snorted. "It's a lead pipe cinch for the leatherneck."

It looked for a moment that the historic battle of Coney Island of 1899 when the barrel-chested tar fought the "big fellow" to a standstill might be repeated. But their manager interfered and another battle was averted.

"I have three good reasons for believing Dempsey will maul Gene Tunney," Jeffries calmly explained. "First, because Dempsey is the hardest hitting fighter in action today;

Second, because for a big man Dempsey is fast;

Third, because of the fact he is a title holder.

"That's all gravy," Sharkey retorted. "Dempsey hasn't had a real fight in years; he has been out of actual training for three years. That will tell. If he can't put away Tom Gibbons, who never was a real heavyweight contender, he can't put away this boy."

B. C. Leader Wins City Net Title

The Michael J. Curley bowl for the championship of the Boston municipal tennis singles tournament is held this year by Frank Totten, captain of the Boston College tennis team, who captured his first leg after two of those members had been annexed by Jack Davis for the past two years.

Davis was favored to take his third leg and the bowl, but the victory of the Heights racqueteer means that the trophy will remain in its place for another year at least. The score of the Davis Cup match was 6—2, 7—5, 6—1, 7—5.

Johnson to Take on Joe Costello

Ted Johnson, the "fighting soldier" from Fort Banks, hopes to continue his string of victories since turning pro when he clashes with Joe Costello of Boston in the main bout of eight rounds Thursday night at the Fort.

Major League Leaders

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Batting—Brewer, Reds, .356.
Runs—Cuyler, Pirates, 80
Hits—Brown, Braves, 111.
Doubles—Wheat, Robins, 31.
Triples—Walker, Reds, 17
Homers—Bottomley, Cardinals, and Wilson, Cubs, 15.
Stolen bases—Cuyler, Pirates, 24.
Pitching—Jones, Cubs, won 8, lost 2.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Batting—Fothergill, Tigers, .404.
Runs—Ruth, Yankees, 102.
Hits—Burns, Indians, 137.
Doubles—Burns, Indians, 37
Triples—Gehrig, Yankees, 18.
Homers—Ruth, Yankees, 36.
Stolen bases—Rice, Senators, 18
Pitching—Reuther, Senators, won 11, lost 4.

BRAVES FIELD
Tuesday at 3.15
BRAVES vs. ST. LOUIS
Tickets at Horace Partridge Co.
49 Franklin St.

Bouts Last Night

Newark, N. J.—Jimmy Maloney, Boston heavyweight, knocked out Charley Weinert in the third round. Earl Blue, St. Paul, Minn., heavyweight, defeated Ted McEwan, Philadelphia, ten rounds.

Boston—Jack Zivic, Pittsburgh, defeated George Lee, Worcester, Mass., when the latter was forced to quit because of an injured left arm.

Troy, N. Y.—Ted Herring, welterweight, of Gulfport, Miss., knocked out Jimmy Cooney, Philadelphia, in the third round.

Atlantic City—Vincent Forgione, New York, middleweight, beat Bob Jarrett, Philadelphia, eight rounds.

Hoboken, N. J.—Jack Demave Hoboken, heavyweight, defeated Jack Warren, New York, ten rounds.

New York—Tony Canzoneri, New York, bantamweight, beat Young Montreal, six rounds; Lew Kerner, New York, junior lightweight defeated Spencer Gardner, Newport,

Endurance

Graham Brothers Trucks are built to endure. That is why they make such mileage, last so long—and sell so readily to careful buyers.

[Graham Brothers Trucks with Dodge Brothers ¼-Ton Commercial Cars, meet 90% of all hauling requirements.]

1-Ton Chassis (G-Boy) $939.00
1½-Ton Chassis - - - 1308.00
MBM Low Chassis - - 1359.00
Delivered

HENSHAW MOTOR CO
TRUCK DIVISION
882 COMMONWEALTH AVE., BOSTON

GRAHAM BROTHERS TRUCKS
SOLD BY DODGE BROTHERS DEALERS EVERYWHERE

TWO comic pages every day. Full of the funniest of "funnies." A great treat for the kiddies by the cleverest artists.

Magazine Page

Trees of Stone

THE Petrified Forest of Arizona was set aside as a National Park in 1906. The trunks, lying prostrate upon the ground in a profusion of gorgeous color, look like the pillars of innumerable temples. This National Monument includes five forests.

BUDGET FINDS ADVANCEMENT CASH

Boston Evening American Offers Aid to Housewives in Planning Expenditures of Income

Budget Talk No. 122.
By MARTHA LEE.

AT the end of the Budget list we find our allotment for personal, often called advancement, usually alloted 15 per cent. of the total family income. This money is to cover all those things not actual living necessities.

Under this allotment the government Budget makes three headings, I. Health, recreation and education, II. church and charities, III. personal and miscellaneous.

Under our other Budget divisions we are limited by ironclad expenses, but here under personal we can use our money practically as we will.

On a $2,400 income Uncle Sam allows $444 for personal, which is nearly one-fifth of the income. This is approximately $100 each for a family of five. This fund is separated from the balance of the Budget which must cover the minimum outlay for adequate food, suitable shelter and clothing.

How shall the fund be spent? For greater comfort at home, larger rooms, a better neighborhood, better clothes, better protection for the future through increased life insurance or savings, extra advantages for one or more of the children, such as music lessons, worth while amusement such as theatre treats for father or symphony tickets for mother, new curtains for the living room?

The doctors' and dentists' bills must also come out of this fund. Again let's turn to government figures and we'll find that the single man and woman pay on an average of $32 and $43 a year respectively for these bills. The cost of maintaining health is heavy except for the very rich who can afford it, and the very poor who get their medical services free.

Great stress should be laid upon the family of the moderate man in regard to the health, for in this way much illness and expense will be prevented.

One family that I know presents a case in point. Last year they had $444 for personal, which they divided as follows: Husband, $144; wife, $144; children, $156. Out of the husband's $144 he paid $72 for clothing, $36 for dentist's bills, $12 for barber, $12 for papers and magazines, $12 for lodge dues. Out of the wife's $144 she paid $72 for clothing, $36 for dentist's bills, $12 for papers and magazines, $12 for lodge dues. Out of the children's $156 they paid $72 for clothing, $36 for dentist's bills, $12 for papers and magazines, $12 for lodge dues, $24 for incidentals.

Now, this family is not extravagant, but they are not saving for the future. They are not providing for the education of the children, for the old age of the parents, for the rainy day that is sure to come. They are not providing for illness and expense by taking the doctors' and dentists' bills out of the fund set aside for pleasure and amusement. So if one of the children overeats or father overworks and spills down her frock or the other children neglect their teeth, the punishment is shown by taking the money for these bills from the fund which would otherwise have brought them coveted pleasures.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Mr. F. R. H. started keeping a Budget January 1. Has a family of four including girl of three and baby eighteen months. Has worked only twelve full weeks in twenty-six. Income for wages for six months, $661.14 and from other sources $265.95, a total of $929.12. Expenses for the six months were, rent $108, laundry $7.20, doctors' bills $21.50, smokes $13.46, barber $13.50, papers and magazines $10.15, postage $3.16, telephone calls $1.70, carfare $25.40, entertainment $17.75, candy and ice cream $11.58, insurance $21.40, fuel including coal, wood, gas and light $57.10, church $15.41, house furnishings $124.65, clothing $148.98, provisions $299.26, total $848.19 leaving toward $80 annual insurance, due in September.

Has worked out this Budget: Food $11, clothing $8, fuel $2.50, shelter $4.50, personal $3, house furnishing $1, entertainment $1, savings $6. Total of $37 which is a full week's pay when he gets it. His rent is $18 a month, 20 miles out. Would like a car and hopes to buy one next year.

I think you have worked out an extremely good Budget. Perhaps you would like to compare yours with the Standard Budget figures which would allow you $4 for any one, $7 for shelter, $11.60 for food, $4.50 for clothing $4 for operating and $3 for personal.

From Grand Valley, Colorado, comes a letter from Mrs. P. W., whose husband owns a shop, bringing in about $700 a month in the Summer and $75 a month in the Winter. Has $1,400 mortgage on home with interest at 7 per cent. Taxes $68, insurance $78 a year on one policy, $4.25 a month on another. Fire insurance $6 annually.

During the Winter puts up their ice which costs this year about $30 for new sawdust. They have their own cow and chickens and vegetables, but buy their fruit, canning about 300 quarts each year. Husband gets $15 a month as town clerk. He receives $25 a month for musical work.

Four in family, including two boys, one of whom takes violin lessons at $4 to $5 a week. Water tax $12 a quarter, rent for shop $16 a month, electricity for shop $4. Coal costs $7.50 or $8 a ton. Hay $13 to $14 a ton for cow. Would like Budget.

I would Budget $40 a week which is figuring $100 a month for six months, $75 a month for six months and the additional salaries of $15 and $25 a month.

A $40 Budget will allow $8 for shelter which in your case means interest on the mortgage, fire insurance, taxes, repairs on the house, $13 for food and out of this you will have to buy the hay and grain; also the seed for the vegetable garden, and fruit for canning; clothing $5 operating, which means coal, kerosene and gas $2, savings $4, which should cover all insurance premiums, and personal $4, out of which must come the money for the music lessons.

The payments on the principal of the mortgage are supposed to come out of savings. You will find that you have a surplus under the shelter fund which can be added to the savings fund for paying the mortgage.

Mrs. B. L. P. would like to Budget $45 a week for family of three. Pays $15 a month rent and $20 a month to the co-operative bank, and asks if these expenses are in the proper proportion.

A $45 Budget will give you $4.50 for savings, including insurance, and must cover the co-operative payments, $10 for shelter and business carfare, $12.50 for food, $7.50 for clothing, $5.50 for operating and $5 for personal.

Mrs. F. N. A. F. would suggest on a $25 a week income for four, in Chicago, the following: $2.50 shelter $5.50, food $11, clothing $3 operating $4 and personal $2.

How to Succeed in Keeping Outgo in Bounds

Are you finding a hard climb to financial success? Budget will lead you straight to the pinnacle.

Home Budget Editor,
Boston Evening American.
Enclosed please find 2-cent stamp for which please send me one of your Home Budget forms:

Name.....

Address.....

Write or Print Very Plainly

Furnishing the Home

By Marian Moore

OCCASIONALLY tables represent a high degree of culture and civilization. The primitive man's life lay pretty close to the ground, which was his bed, his chair, his board and his catch-all.

The development of furniture and the decorative arts corresponds exactly to the cultural development of the race, as each effort was motivated by a definite need. Considered from this point of view, occasional tables acquire a very special significance. In the past, tables were for meals and for work.

Occasional tables combine these two purposes, but with a nuance: afternoon tea, midnight lunches, sunday suppers served in the living room are distinctly modern and often amuse the character of social rather than animal functions.

On the other hand, the work for which a handy table may be needed is not the manual labor of the family provider, but the hobby of the man or woman who likes to charm leisures by the pursuit of some light occasion.

Small tables are used besides for their esthetic value, to please the modern mind which craves beauty.

Their shape, their color, the pretty bowls and lamps that stand on them combine to satisfy needs that were unknown to the primitive man.

Above all, they are intimately connected with reading.

Some of them are equipped with book trounhs for magazine, shelves, others hold favorite editions between book-ends, all testifying to the tremendous intellectual advance of the race.

They mark a definite step in the evolution of the decorative arts and will survive the mere fads and freaks of fashion.

(Write to Marian Moore, care of this newspaper, for advice or information about your home furnishing problems, sending stamped addressed envelope for reply.)

Copyright, A. L. A.

The Making of a Husband, an Interesting Serial, By Ann Lisle

"I'VE got to let you live your own life—as you see—it," I repeated, staring at Jim with fatigue-hopeless-ness and wondering if this miserable woman sitting across the table from him in the studio of The Birches could really be I.

"I'll do the same by you." Jim said with a large magnanimity.

"That's the way men talk when they are tired of their wives," my little demon—the imp that often comes and sits on my shoulder—prompted me. "Ask him if he would feel that way if Ralph Lacy were in America—where you could summon him?"

But I couldn't ask Jim anything so crazy as this. I have too much respect for the quality of friendship in both him and me to allow such a thing. The other fact—of his acknowledged love for me—to stimulate the emotions of the man I love—my husband—Jim. . . . So all I said I—have a soul."

"A gentleman's When a man and his wife come to the point of forming such an—agreement—hadn't they better separate?"

"Perhaps," Jim said coldly.

"And you would be happier than a separation that—doesn't really leave either one free at all?" I whispered.

"You've talked divorce long enough Why don't you get one?" Jim decided to change the whole atmosphere by saying that over my head like the sword of Damocles. If you're in earnest, why don't you start the sword—and let the darn thing fall."

"It wouldn't—hurt you much—if it did fall?" I half breathed.

Jim looked out of my head—in the sense of lopping off my life and making me feel that everything has come to an end as far as I am concerned," Jim said curtly. "If you've lost faith in me if you can add one bit of circumstantial evidence to another and conclude that I have done something—distardly, it's time we separated."

Life without you seems—empty," I confessed wearily.

To myself I was saying desperately:

"You must keep him at any cost. You can't live without him. He is part of you. You can't cut him out of you. You must hold Jim."

I don't know whether this was the look on my shoulder or the real—the innermost Me. But I felt suffocated at the thought of separation. It wasn't mere weak emotionalism It isn't just that Jim appeals to me and stimulates my imagination and my feelings as no other man could do. It is because I feel so essentially his wife, his partner, the rest of his own self. But Jim misread me, and he said more coldly, more listlessly than he has ever before spoken to me.

"Agreeable humiliating—but I can't have you clinging to me because you think I'm sorry for myself."

"Stop!" I commanded, leaping to my feet in the wildest resentment I have ever known. "If you're a misfit one like this it is time we separated! You don't know me. You don't bother to look into my soul. I don't think you even know thing pointing to guilt, why can't you stand by me now?"

"And you don't know whether or not I have a rag of a moral to my name," Jim said slowly.

"Now you're turning the tables. What do you mean by that?" I demanded.

"You think I know more about the disappearance of a pretty child than I care to tell. You've added one circumstance to another—"

"Damning circumstances which you won't bother to explain or deny," I broke in.

"I shouldn't have to," Jim said coldly. You should trust me, no matter how things look."

I did that in the case of Brooks De Courcey," I said quietly.

"Yes, and didn't that teach you your lesson? You stood by when Jim came out of ten women wouldn't have been able to believe in my innocence—when I don't actually see how it was possible to trust me—when things looked blacker than pitch. And then there was a perfectly clean slate for me the moment the facts were known. I had nothing to do with the thing it looked as if I was entirely responsible for and guilty of if you could believe in me then, with everything pointing to guilt, why can't you stand by me now?"

"I've proved I can stand by. If you're perfectly free of the pitch that seems to defile you—why should you stubbornly refuse to tell me so? Why should you put me to the test again? Why should I have to re al through the tortures of uncertainty again?"

"Is it torture if you have perfect faith?"

"The reason you didn't confide in me then was because you didn't have faith in me," I declared bitterly.

"How do you get that way?" asked Jim irritably.

"It's true. You didn't trust me to join in protecting Jeanie from knowing how Pat was involved—"

"Has all that got to be rehashed now?" Jim snicked.

"No. But the situation can't be repeated, either," I said coldly. "I trusted you once in spite of appearances. You can't ask me to do that again. This time you must trust me—with facts. Will you?"

In breathless anguish I waited for Jim's answer.

"We're heading away from my main line of discussion," Jim said curtly, getting up and marching around the living room of the Birches with the air of a caged lion. "I said—and I stick to my story—that we have come to the point where we've got to allow each other complete freedom—or get free. Fine, epigrammatic, peppy sentence that, eh?"

"Don't," I protested. "Don't be clever—now."

I put my hands over my face to shut out the things that appealed so strongly to my eye that it was hard to get away from material evidence and think of abstractions. The living room of the Birches—so familiar and strange when we came to it half a year ago as a secluded spot that would afford us refuge from the world and its gossip—had become dear and familiar now. It was home. We had lived there a month and had stayed almost six months. We were beginning to be part of the community life of the little village of Woodston, which lay just forty hour by train.

"The Birches has come to be home to us," I said.

"We've a right to do with the matters under consideration. Can't you ever stick to your subject?" Jim asked.

"I'm thinking—toward a point," I insisted. "Remember how when we came here you were afraid to see folks—how all our oldest friends snubbed us—because of the once planned scandal from which our coming here looked like a flight?"

"Pull out the tremolo stops. Want me to cry?" Jim growled.

"No, I'm just reminding you how it was with us when we came here. We came out of a terrible experience which we need never have gone through if you hadn't let yourself be judged in terms of your past philandering—"

"I thought this was going to be a curtain lecture," Jim broke in, but I went on unheeding.

"You decided without consulting me that it would be better for you to be suspected of an actual crime that you didn't commit than for Jeanie to know Pat had been flirting with Miss De Courcey. You let me take your part in the slightest discomfort. But you let me in for—horror. And I tell you I won't go through with any more tortures again just because you refuse to confide me before you make your decisions."

"All right. You refuse. Then we part," Jim said in a dry tone, from which every suggestion of emotion appeared to have been wrung.

"But it's not a case at all that?" I protested. "Don't you see? Haven't I made it clear yet?"

"Made what clear?"

"That you owe me something."

"All right. You've differ about what I owe you. And so we settle it by parting," Jim said, turning back from his settled staring out of the window and facing me with remote eyes.

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

Copyright, 1926, King Features, Syn., Inc.

Looking for a cool room? There is a good selection offered in the Classified Ads.

"The Taxi Dancer,"

Continued from Page 9.

call it off right now," she said with quiet independence.

"Oh, Mercedes is done squawking." De Costa assured her. "Come on—let's go." As his helpmate grinned wryly in assent, Joslyn slipped out of her cape and moved to the centre of the smooth floor with De Costa.

"Now, remember—dance with your mind, not your feet," he reminded her. "We'll do some straight stepping first to get what I call the feel of each other's control a partner with my mind. It's something like telepathy—psychic. You'll catch on to what I'm going to do and follow me. You've read about simply automatic dancing partners by radio? Well, that's the way this gag works."

An hour later Joslyn's first lesson was ended. De Costa, with the infinite patience that marked him as a real artist, danced with her sparingly, without flourishes, until, as he had said, she began to feel something of the psychic control of which he had spoken. His arm around her waist, the touch of his palm grew lighter and lighter until she felt as though she were a puppet managed by invisible wires.

"That's great," he told her when they stopped, "I can make a great dancer out of any woman that ain't a cripple as long as I can control her but few of 'em can respond to the mental pressure. When I first saw you I knew we could work together fine."

Mercedes, who had been watching them intently from an easy chair, rose and smiled inscrutably.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Briefhalter will be completely annihilated by your acts," she said sweetly. "And, by the way, his car has been waiting the last half hour for you."

As Joslyn got into her cape, which De Costa held for her, he murmured: "At 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. You're fine."

"And about the gowns," Mercedes informed her. "Maurice said some things at first about your borrowing some of mine. I'm so glad it won't be necessary. I'm slightly taller and it practically ruins a dress to remodel it. The success of the act the next month will depend as much on your dresses, dear—don't you think? I'd suggest you go to Celia's for them. She has the smartest establishment on the avenue and she's outrageously high. But don't you mind. Jo'll probably be delighted to foot the bills?"

Mercedes, Joslyn realized slightly, was referring to Henry Briefhalter.

With her foot in a trap, Joslyn flushed. She had counted on borrowing Mercedes' costumes and now, by her own misrepresentation, she was maneuvered into a position where she was expected to buy her own, or, rather, to have Briefhalter buy them.

For a confused, baffled moment she was speechless, her cheeks stinging. With all of her daring Joslyn knew that she could not ask Briefhalter for money—and without the imperatively expensive wardrobe the prospect of dancing with De Costa at the Club Bombay was—out of the question

"You'll get over that in time—that blushing," Mercedes said lightly. "Why shouldn't he come across—he's getting his money's worth. You'll learn, my dear. And by the way—if you can arrange to visit Celia's in the morning I'll go with you. I'll really want to censor what you select—you see, I really own most of the dresses you have and I'd bring Briefhalter along if I were you. It'll give you prestige."

Joslyn, on the spur of the moment, was forced to accept the engagement for the morning, promising to phone Mercedes before noon. As she left the building and matched tensely to the foreign-looking car at the curb for her she was still hot with confusion.

The next instant it was even hotter, for Henry Briefhalter himself was waiting in the secluded luxury of the glassed-in limousine.

Copyright, 1926, International Feature Service, Inc.

To Be Continued.

Martha Lee's Pointers

I WISH I could have this whole page for the Peachy Recipes I have collected for you, built around this queen of our Summer fruits. Here are a few of them:

Peach Pie No. 1.—Bake a rich pastry shell on the outside of a pie plate, pricking the pastry all over with a fork. Slip the skins from the peaches which have stood in boiling water a minute; slice them and cook until tender with just enough water so that they won't burn. Sweeten to taste and let cool. Fill the crust with this mixture and cover with whipped cream, sweetened and flavored with vanilla.

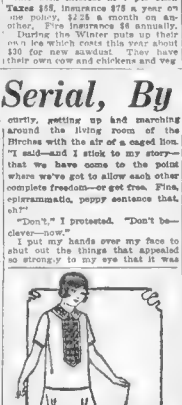
Peach Pie No. 2.—Make a rich pastry dough and roll out as usual. Make a filling with 2 cups of sliced peaches, 1 cup of sugar, 1 tablespoonful butter, ½ tablespoonful of water.

A delicious layer cake can be made using a peach filling made by mixing together 1 cup of powdered sugar, 1 cup of peach pulp, 2 tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and a dash of salt. Bakers' sponge cake cut in two layers and filled with this makes a delicious Sunday summer dessert.

From leftover pastry you can make tarts, shaping them in muffin tins and filling with a peach filling. To make this cook 2 cups of sliced peaches, 1 cup of sugar, 1 tablespoonful of lemon juice, 1 tablespoonful of butter and a few grains of salt until the peaches are tender. Let cool and fill the tarts with peach shortcake—Peach shortcake is always a welcome item on the family menu. Make a very rich biscuit dough or use your favorite shortcake recipe. My pet one on request. Peel the peaches, slice them and sweeten to taste. Split each of them to taste, mix with 2 tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and spread between the layers. Cover top layer with peaches and whipped cream, sweetened and flavored. I won't be doing my full duty by you if I omit a luscious emergency dessert.

Peach Melba.—Scoop out the center of a round sponge cake. Fill with fresh peaches which have been sliced and sweetened. Cover with flavored and sweetened whipped cream and decorate it with slices of peaches. Faithfully yours,

Martha Lee



5298

5568

$248. Child's dress.
Cut in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. A 10 year size requires 3¼ yards of 36-inch material with ½ yard of contrasting for collar, bosom and sleeve facings. Price 15c.

5515. Child's romper.
Cut in 3 sizes: 6 months, 1 and 2 years. A 1 year size requires 1¼ yards of 36-inch material if made without sleeves. With sleeves 1¼ yards is required. Price 15c.

FASHION BOOK NOTICE

Send 12 cents in silver or stamps for our UP-TO-DATE FALL AND WINTER 1926-27 BOOK OF FASHIONS, showing color plates and containing 500 designs of ladies', misses' and children's patterns. A CONCISE AND COMPREHENSIVE ARTICLE ON DRESSMAKING ALSO SOME POINTS FOR THE NEEDLE illustrating 20 of the various simple stitches all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Boston Evening American Pattern Coupon

IMPORTANT — Many orders come without name and size. Orders must have your name, street, size and number of pattern or order.

Pattern No.....
Size.....
Name.....
Street.....
City.....
State.....

Print CAREFULLY and mail (enclosing 12 cents—stamps or coin) to Boston Evening American Pattern Dept., Box 120, Times Plaza Station, Brooklyn, N. Y.

FADS AND FANCIES

BUSHING by Proxy—The up-to-the-minute flapper adopts blush pink for her sports costume. A blush is ever so becoming that the smart young miss who has not acquired the art of blushing can, at least, gain it in this second-hand way. This new shade is used for stunning cardigan jackets and matching pleated or circular skirts of flannel for flannel sports coats and for informal models in crepe de chine or crepe Roma.

Controlling and Consoling are the new brassiere-corset combinations of quadruple net, for they are so delightfully cool that they console the none too slim woman to the necessity of wearing a corset in mid-Summer. Of four-ply net, with elastic inserts, these garments control fleshiness, distributing it in a slenderizing manner.

If losing Appetite for Breakfast

BECAUSE it is totally and wholly different from any other cereal you have ever tasted, Puffed Rice tempts good appetites like done.

It's finest rice steam exploded to 8 times its natural size, then deliciously oven crisped so that it melts like butter in your mouth. Its flavor is like toasted nutmeats, only richer.

When the appetite is weary of the same old "seven and six"—or the family hard to please—just try this unique food—food that's good for you, yet gloriously delicious, too. Obtain at any grocery store.

try

Quaker Puffed Rice

Different from any other cereal known

Instant Relief for Chafing

Rashes, Itching, Scalding, Sunburn, Bed Sores, all Skin Eruptions of Infants, Children and Adults.

Sykes Comfort POWDER

Heals and Soothes Like Magic

Instant Relief for HAYFEVER

ERCOLIN cleans out nose and eyes, stops burning and itching immediately. Use ERCOLIN with eye cup, nasal douche, or any convenient method which allows it to reach the irritated mucous membranes. ERCOLIN breaks up attacks and protects against recurrences. Get ERCOLIN at your druggist's and enjoy a Summer without Hay Fever. Prescribed by physicians.

1815 STICKNEY AND POOR'S 1926

SPICES

"Spice to Taste"

ENGLISH SPICED FRUIT COOKIES

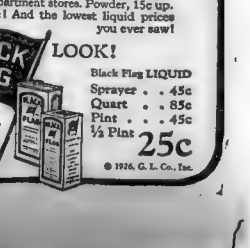
Recipe by Marjorie Mills

1 cup shortening
1½ cups medium brown sugar
3 eggs
3 cups flour
2 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Stickney & Poor's Cinnamon
¼ teaspoon Stickney & Poor's Cloves
Pinch Stickney & Poor's Mace
½ cup walnut meats
½ cup currants
½ cup raw raisins

Cream shortening, add sugar and eggs, beat well. Mix flour with soda, salt and spices, add to first mixture, work in nutmegs and fruits. Roll a small amount at a time on floured board. Use wide, small sharp cutter. Bake on oiled tin at 350 deg. F.

No bug escapes—not one fly, mosquito or roach survives BLACK FLAG. It gets them all!

BLACK FLAG kills every kind of bug in the home. Two forms—liquid and powder. At drug, grocery, hardware and department stores. Powder, 15c up. Powder gun, 10c! And the lowest liquid prices you ever saw!



LOOK!

Black Flag LIQUID

Sprayer . . 45c
Quart . . 85c
Pint . . . 45c
½ Pint 25c

© 1926, G. L. Co., Inc.

Beauty Hint

PUSHING the cuticle back with a warm olive oil several nights a week will keep it from growing rapidly and will ultimately do away with the necessity for cutting.

Several drops of lemon juice in last rinsing water of a shampoo will keep the hair light and glossy.

Largest Home Delivered and Evening Circulation in New England 15

The Plant Wizard, Nature's Ally and Rival

AFTER fifteen years' effort Luther Burbank transformed the cactus from a useless desert plant into a spineless food for cattle. Through his magic touch "a troublesome weed has become a beautiful flower and the prune is larger and sweeter."

Fiction Page

This Day in Our History

THE Smithsonian Institution at Washington was founded on August 10, 1846. The founder was James Smithson, an Englishman, who bequeathed his property, amounting to $575,000, to the United States.

TARNISHED WINGS

by BEATRICE BURTON
Author of "GILDED KISSES" and "PIRATE OF HEARTS"

Story of a Boston Girl Who Liked Jazz Music and the Bright Lights

CHAPTER XLVIII.

Copyright, 1926, Johnson Features, Inc.

NOT more than an hour afterward Merry was caught in the little "white lie" she had told to Bill Erskine.

It happened this way:

She was dancing with Cabby Marsh. Dancing a little too affectionately—even in these days of affectionate close-ups on every dance floor in the country, from Portland, Maine, to Portland, Oregon!

Her flushed face was pressed close to Cabby's, her lips were parted and her eyes half closed.

And yet, at that moment, Cabby meant no more to her than a good dancing partner. She was hypnotized not by his earnestness, but by the music and the joy of the motion itself.

"Don't get so close to me — old sausage-up," Cabby said suddenly, and pushed her a little further away from him.

Merry drew back her head and stared at him. Why, she always danced that way! It was the only way she ever had danced! Sausage-pup! Indeed!

"What's the matter with you, Solid Ivory?" she demanded, flushing deeply.

Then she saw what was the matter. Bill and Muriel were dancing just behind them and Muriel was watching them with narrowed, jealous eyes. As Cabby and Merry swung away from them, she said something to Bill that made him turn his head and look back at them over his shoulder.

The minute the dance was over he hunted Merry up. He found her in the dining room, with a tiny sandwich in one hand and a cup of fruit punch in the other.

He came up to her and asked her if she were ready to go home.

"No, indeedy!" she said in surprise. "It's only half past ten—"

"Well, you're going, anyway," he answered. "Go on up and put on your cloak." His face, cushioned with fat, seemed to quiver as he spoke.

With a little shrug of her bare shoulders, Merry put down her glass and her sandwich and started to obey him.

On the landing, half-way up the wide, curving staircase, there was a great leaded-glass window that rose straight to the ceiling. And outlined against its grayness stood a man and a woman locked in each other's arms, so that they were like one figure standing there instead of two.

The light from the lower hall struck up at them—at Fifi Fell's scarlet shawl and slippers, and at Morley's dark, glossy head bent over hers!

Merry took one look, flattened herself against the wall, and crept back down the stairs.

In the hall she came upon Cassie, haggard and worried under her paint and festive air.

"You haven't seen Morley, have you?" she asked as she hurried past her sister and turned toward the stairs.

Merry took one look, flattened herself against the wall, and crept back down the stairs.

In the hall she came upon Cassie, haggard and worried under her paint and festive air.

"You haven't seen Morley, have you?" she asked as she hurried past her sister and turned toward the stairs.

"Cassie!" Merry called sharply. She mustn't go up those stairs! Not for a moment, at least.

"Cassie!" Merry said again. "I want to say good-night to you—Bill is going to take me home."

"He can use my car if he wants to. You might tell him so," Cassie answered, putting one foot on the bottom step of the stairs. "Come along. I'll go up with you while you get your wraps."

There was nothing for Merry to do but go with her. Morley and Mrs. Fell must have heard them coming. For by the time they reached the landing they were sitting side by side on the cushioned seat that ran under the window, and Morley was striking a match for the woman's cigarette.

"Hello, Fifi, dear!" Cassie said to her gaily. "Keeping Morley entertained?" There was sharp sarcasm under her gay voice.

"Well, hardly amused," drawled Mrs. Fell.

"I could cheerfully murder her!" Cassie declared, when they were in the big, luxurious dressing room at the top of the stairs, with a door between them and the pair on the landing.

She dropped down on the cushioned seat in front of the silk-hung dressing table, and stared at her face in the glass, with hard, brilliant eyes.

Mechanically she put out one soft hand and picked up a lipstick. She drew it across her mouth and then threw it down with violence.

"I'd better go down and get him away from her, I suppose," she said, and, forgetting to say good-night to Merry, she got up and flashed out of the room.

Bill, in his overcoat, was waiting in the lower hall when Merry ran down the back stairs and through the dining room to him.

"Cassie says we may have her car," she told him.

He shook his head. "I'm using Morley's," he answered shortly. Bill was staying at the house during his visit and he was the kind of house guest who really makes himself at home.

Merry followed him to the garage behind the house. As the two of them settled themselves in Morley's big car and switched on the lights, a shrill giggle came from the darkness beside them.

And there, in Cassie's car, sat Cabby Marsh and Muriel, "necking."

They had a flash that they held up to view and they waved cheerfully to Bill and Merry in farewell.

"I wonder if that's the kind of life I want to lead." Merry said quietly to the man beside her, when the big house and the noise and the revelry were behind them.

"What d'you mean?" Bill asked.

"Oh, I don't know exactly," the girl answered, soberly. She was still feeling shocked and bewildered by the scene on the landing—by her mental picture of Fifi Fell and Morley Kaufman there, together. "All this jazzing around and drinking and carrying on—I wonder if it's the sort of thing I want for myself. Tonight, for instance, Bill, I saw a married man and a married woman making love to each other—and I tell you it was disgusting! It made me sick somehow—"

"Made you sick? Stab! That good!" Bill said nastily. "You been looked at, haven't you, miss yourself, I suppose!"

"Why, of course not—" Merry began innocently, and then stopped, as the thought of Les and Nonie Purcell popped into her mind.

"That's not what Muriel Kaufman told me tonight," Bill told her bluntly. "She told me some wild story about you and that bird Purcell getting tangled up together. She said his wife tried to kill herself—or kill him—I've forgotten the details. But you were mixed up in it, all right, all right!"

Merry knew then why he had dragged her away from the party! She knew then that Muriel had been so busily telling him while she danced with him!

"Muriel is a cat," she said evenly. "A jealous little cat! I didn't even know that Les Purcell was married until I'd been out with him a couple of times and then I never went out with him again."

"Then you sure do know how to juggle the truth," Bill declared. "Muriel saw you with him only a couple of weeks ago. You sure do know how to juggle the truth, Miss Locke!"

"Why, Muriel doesn't even know Les Purcell!" Merry blazed out at him.

"Hush, not so loud," Bill begged her in a smooth, calm voice that made Merry want to slap him. "She knows numbers when she sees them, though. And she looked up the number on his automobile license—"

"The rotten little sneak!" cried Merry, furiously. "I told you it wasn't with Les Purcell after that time you saw him at my house—and I mean it!"

Bill laughed an ugly laugh.

"That's your story and you're going to stick to it, eh?" asked Bill. It was plain that he did not believe the story she told him—and that he did believe Muriel Kaufman.

Merry did not see him again during his visit.

But a week after he went away he wrote to her to tell her that his father was dead.

She answered the letter, and he wrote another to tell her that he would be coming north again, soon, to see her.

"So I guess he isn't very peeved at me, after all," she said to herself, as she folded it up in its envelope and put it away.

But January went by and he did not come.

On the second day of February Bill Hepworth had to go out of town on business and Merry went to spend the night with Helen.

Helen was expecting to go to the hospital almost any day now, to bring home the new baby that was coming.

She was pale and tired and list-

Advertisement

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

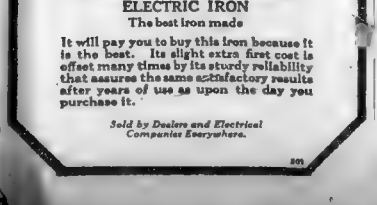
Mrs. Annie Kwinaki of 526 1st Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes that she became so weak and run-down that she was not able to do her housework. She saw the name Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the paper and said to her husband, "I will try that medicine and see if it will help me." She says she took six bottles and is feeling much better.

Mrs. Adams, who lives in Downing Street, Brewton, Ala., writes as follows: "A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and since taking it I feel like a different woman."

With her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grandchildren, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

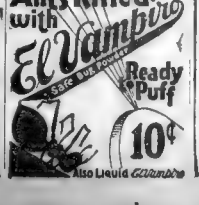
Thousands of women past fifty, say they owe their health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A Tonic Of Rare Value In Childhood
SCOTT'S EMULSION
Abounds In Health-Building Vitamins
Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 26-6



American Beauty
ELECTRIC IRON
The best Iron made
It will pay you to buy this Iron because it is the best. Its slight extra first cost is offset many times by its sturdy reliability that assures the same satisfactory results after years of use as upon the day you purchase it.
Sold by Dealers and Electrical Companies Everywhere.
801

HAY FEVER
No "cure"—but welcome relief from night distress may be had by applying Vicks at bedtime—also by inhaling vapors at frequent intervals.
VICKS VAPORUB
Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly



"Bill Is Going to Take Me Home," Merry Tells Cassie

Waiting for the Suitor Who Goes to Sea -:- By Beatrice Fairfax

The Sailor Boy Enlists — One Day He Meets the Girl — He Marries Her and Retires — And Lives Happily Ever After

EVERY now and then I receive a letter from a sailor. Very serious, sensible letters they are as a rule.

The young man enrolled in Uncle Sam's Navy has a problem of his own to meet when it comes to affairs of the heart. He is pledged to four years' service. For this reason he must look far ahead in his courtship and plans for marriage.

If he enlists early and remains in the navy sixteen years he may honorably retire with a pension of $75 a month, or more according to his rank.

Many a contented couple find this money a help in enabling them to lay aside for the little home or education of the children.

A sailor leads a clean and manly life with work and study. He is taught a trade in the navy, which enables him to support a wife, should he retires. He sees the world and is interested in "the most wonderful girl I have ever seen."

He plans to give up his seafaring life and undertake a position on shore if she should care for him.

He has not spoken to her of his love, though he thinks she must realize that he cares, and he feels that she cares for him. He is tempted to go to see again to find out her, because she ignored his most invitations to see him with him, although he fears that as a sailor he would have too much time to remember

Every girl who loves her country finds. Those of us who have read the unceasing record of their devotion to duty, even at the cost of their lives, go not need to be assured that sailors are chivalrous, ...nt and gentlemanly.

A letter signed "One of Your Sea-... Friends," recently reached me. The writer is outside the ... and admires courage has a ... place in her heart for navy ... that he is a young officer of the merchant service who has become ... great advantage—the mystery and lure of the sea and the reputation for chivalry and courage which cents a sinner ever men of the sea.

"Shall I try to see her again and talk to her?" he asks. "Or, under all the circumstances, shall I drop the matter?"

My friend, you underestimate the interest that women feel in the sea and men of the sea. If you feel that just because your knowledge is mostly of ships, the girl you love will fail to find you interesting and ... Your letter shows that ... sufficient education to write well.

When it comes to love you have a

"You Sure Do Know How to Juggle the Truth," He Declared

Doña
CASTILE
a delicious toilet soap for American women
Doña Castile! And what is Castile? The soap the beauty and fashion of Spain—and Europe—have used for six hundred years. An imported luxury, acknowledged everywhere as the toilet soap most nearly perfect for the delicate feminine skin.
But—let us say it boldly because it is true—we have improved this soap for you! In these respects. We have made it into a delightful shape for your hand. No more of these queer, shapeless slices cut off from a long loaf—each cake of Doña Castile is beautifully moulded and daintily wrapped. And here's a new virtue in Castile—Doña will give you a rich lather even in lukewarm water. It will rinse instantly, completely. Doña being "hard-milled" will last you a long time, and will not readily deliquesce. Finally this exquisite pure soap can be had anywhere. Armour, U. S. A.
Pure Olive Oil gives Doña Castile its color, fragrance and delicious blandness for delicate skins.
Doña CASTILE
10 Cents

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Bill Tells Merry why their marriage would be impossible. A tragedy awakens the Locke family in Chapter 49 of "Tarnished Wings."

THE THIMEE THEATRE

Who's Loony N?—By SEGAR

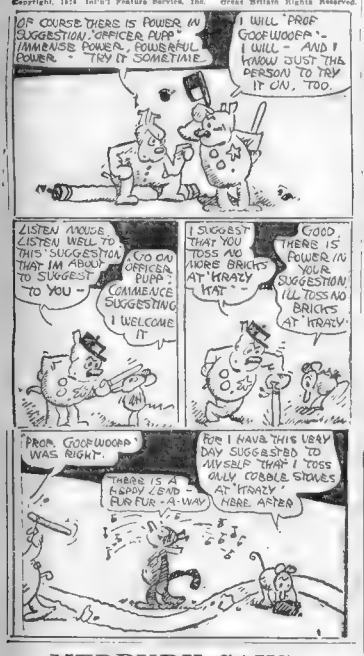
Copyright, 1926, King Feature Syndicate Great Britain Rights Reserved.

TRA-LA-LE-LA-TRA-LA
TE-DUM-TE-DE TE-DUM
HELLO CASTOR, WHAT ARE YOU SO HAPPY ABOUT?
I'M GOING TO GET MARRIED!
AND WHAT ARE YOU SO HAPPY ABOUT, BILL?
I'M GOING TO GET A DIVORCE

KRAZY KAT

Mouse and His Word—By HERRIMAN

Copyright, 1926 Int'l Feature Service, Inc. Great Britain Rights Reserved.



OF COURSE THERE IS POWER IN SUGGESTION, OFFICER PUP! IMMENSE POWER, POWERFUL POWER. TRY IT SOMETIME.
I WILL, PROF GOOFWOOFF. I WILL — AND I KNOW JUST THE PERSON TO TRY IT ON, TOO.
LISTEN MOUSE, LISTEN WELL TO THIS SUGGESTION THAT I'M ABOUT TO SUGGEST TO YOU — GO ON OFFICER PUP! COMMENCE SUGGESTING
I WELCOME IT
I SUGGEST THAT YOU TOSS NO MORE BRICKS AT KRAZY KAT — GOOD! THERE IS POWER IN YOUR SUGGESTION. I'LL TOSS NO BRICKS AT KRAZY.
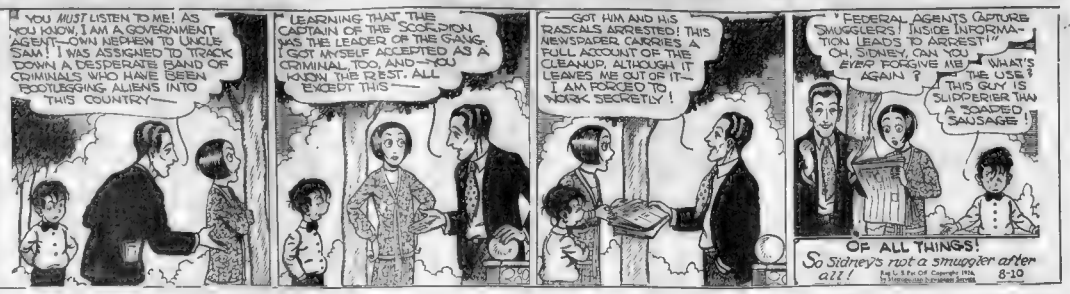
FROM GOOFWOOFF WAS RIGHT
THERE IS A HAPPY LAND — FAR FUR - A - WAY
FOR I HAVE THIS DAY SUGGESTED TO MYSELF THAT I TOSS ONLY COBBLE STONES AT KRAZY HERE AFTER

ELLA CINDERS

The Smoothe Explanation

By BILL CONSELMAN and CHARLIE PLUMB



YOU MUST LISTEN TO ME! AS YOU KNOW, I AM A GOVERNMENT AGENT—OWN NEPHEW TO UNCLE SAM! I WAS ASSIGNED TO TRACK DOWN A DESPERATE BAND OF CRIMINALS WHO HAVE BEEN BOOTLEGGING AGENS INTO THIS COUNTRY—
LEARNING THAT THE CAPTAIN OF THE SCORPION WAS THE LEADER OF THE GANG, I GOT MYSELF ACCEPTED AS A CRIMINAL, TOO, AND—YOU KNOW THE REST. ALL EXCEPT THIS——GOT HIM AND HIS RASCALS ARRESTED! THIS NEWSPAPER CARRIES A FULL ACCOUNT OF THE CLEANUP, ALTHOUGH IT LEAVES ME OUT OF IT— I AM FORCED TO WORK SECRETLY!
"FEDERAL AGENTS CAPTURE SMUGGLERS! INSIDE INFORMATION LEADS TO ARREST" OH, SIDNEY, CAN YOU EVER FORGIVE ME AGAIN?
WHAT'S THE USE? THIS GUY IS SLIPPERIER THAN A SOAPED SAUSAGE!
OF ALL THINGS! So Sidney's not a smuggler after all!

GOLDBERG'S CARTOONS

They Always Come Back For More

Copyright, 1926 R. L. Goldberg

By Rube Goldberg

COME ON UP HERE AND HELP ME WITH THESSE RIVETS
I'M NOT CRAZY! IF I WANT TO KILL MYSELF I CAN AFFORD TO BUY A GUN— I QUIT!
THANK GOODNESS I'M DOWN HERE ON TERRA FIRMA OUT OF HARM'S WAY— I'D TAKE A JOB AS A STREET CLEANER RATHER THAN GO UP THERE AGAIN
SAY, BOSS, WHERE ARE THOSE RIVETS YOU WANT FIXED?
THEY ALWAYS COME BACK FOR MORE!
FOOLISH QUESTIONS NO. 190,327
DID YOU COME TO THE TABLE WITHOUT A COAT?
NO DEAR— I'M WEARING MY GRAVY INSTEAD OF MY SHIRT SO I WON'T GET ANY GRAVY STAINS ON IT

FILLUM FABLES

A Cross-Country Motor Trip

By Chester Gould

Trails! EPISODE TWO
WHEN DORA DOBBIN'S FATHER ANNOUNCES HE IS GOING TO TAKE HIS FAMILY ON A CROSS-COUNTRY MOTOR TRIP, DORA IS THRILLED TO DEATH — AND SHE HURRIES TO TELL HER SWEETIE MORTIMER
AND MORTIMER, DEAR — HE'S GOING TO TAKE US ALL OVER NORTH AMERICA AND SOUTH AMERICA AND MILWAUKEE — AND WE'LL BE GONE TWO WHOLE WEEKS
MORTIMER — A TOUCHY LAD WITH A CONSCIENCE THE SIZE OF A DEHYDRATED RAIN DROP — GEO. O. SORUFF
BUT DORA — DO YOU THINK THAT'S THE WAY TO "TREAT YOUR FIANCE"? LEAVE HIM ALONE 2 WEEKS WHILE YOU TOUR THE CONTINENT WITH YOUR PARENTS?
BUT MORT DEAR — YOU CAN GO WITH US
OH DORA — YOU KNOW I CAN'T DO THAT — I HAVE THAT OLD CATCH IN MY BACK COMES ON WHEN I RIDE A CAR AND BESIDES, WHO'D TAKE CARE OF OCTAVE?
OCTAVE, MORT'S DOG — HIS EYES SAID YES YES, BUT HIS TEETH SAID NO NO
OH HELLO OCTAVE OLD BOY
YOU WON'T DESERT ME WILL YOU OLD FELLA?
OH MORTIMER — YOU MAKE IT SO HARD FOR ME WHEN YOU ON THE WAY TO BE CONTINUED

Skippy

Heavy Scoring

By Percy Crosby

WHAT ARE YA PLAYIN' — DUCK PINS? THIS IS THE BAG
WHAT DO YA WANT ME TO DO — BRING IT DOWN ON A TABLESPOON.
MIT SUCH A SARCASM GOIN ON SHOULD IT BE A WONDER THAT THEY SNEAK SIXTY TWO RUNS OFF'N ME IN ONE INNIN

MEDBURY SAYS---

ACCORDING to hundreds of recent judiciary verdicts, jilting is one of the most expensive pastimes in this country.

LAST year American men spent over ten million dollars for the privilege of changing their minds.

WOMEN are the only ones who can do it for nothing.

THE law entitles them to as many changes as they want, free of charge.

BUT once a man asks a girl to marry him he has to go through with it or pay the regular rates.

AND when it comes to giving out heart balm, the courts don't have any bargain days.

THERE'S no such thing as jilting a girl at popular prices.

FLAPPERS used to carry their "mad money" in their pocketbooks; now they get it from the judges.

HEART balm [illegible] than alimony. You [illegible] have to get married to get it.

A FEW years ago brides used to wait at the church for nothing, but today they get paid for their time.

WHEN it comes to a wedding, the groom either has to show up or send his check.

MONEY talks and a lot of women are hard of hearing.

ONE woman has become rich from being jilted.

SHE'S made more money away from the altar than she has in front of it.

THE tingling of the cash register is the only wedding bells she's ever heard.

AND the groom doesn't play her wedding march on the "No Sale" key either.

SHE always accepts an engagement ring from her sweetheart and then pawns the diamond to get enough money to sue him.

THERE'S nothing like killing a bird with his own stone.

OUR marital laws are too strict. If a man asks a girl to become his wife and then wants to back out of it, he should be allowed to change his mind at reduced rates.

Copyright, 1926, King Features Synd., Inc.

DAILY SHORT STORY

THE PROMISE

By Louis Arthur Cunningham

FREE! Under the grim wall of the prison, like a mole through its tunnel, Spencer had burrowed his way out of the gray, chill darkness into the warmth of a starry night.

Spencer broke from cover and ran. Fear lent him courage—fear of the tomb that he had left, of the dark days and darker nights; love lent him wings—love of her, the girl who had promised to wait for him, the girl whose love had proved stronger than the bars of his cell.

Ten years she had promised to wait for him. It was a godless stretch of time, but then Spencer's crime had been a godless one. The man he shot had a wife and kiddies to whom he meant all, as they all to him. Good family, a clean life, before that one slip which liquor had helped, the love of a fine girl and her efforts to save him—these things had helped Spencer.

But it was Joyce who had secured the light penalty. Joyce who as Spencer's lawyer, pleaded with skill and power and even deceit for his client. Spencer had never bothered much to consider why Joyce had worked so hard. The victory had not helped him or added to his practice, for in that small community of which he and Clara and Spencer were members, Spencer's crime was held as a black one and unforgivable.

But Spencer had not stayed long a prisoner. In less than a year his scheming brain had seen the way to freedom, the way to Clara and happiness. He had ingratiated himself with his jailers, he had lulled all suspicion of his apparent contentment, but all the while he tunneled and bored.

Before his escape would be discovered he would be far away—with Clara. He had only a few miles to go before he would be with her. He did not doubt that she would flee with him. What would she not do for his sake? He had never dared to free her from the promise she had given him.

No. Rather he had clung to her, and in those days of his disgrace and trouble she stood as a tower of strength to him; tender as a mother to a favored son who has been caught in sin.

Running, stumbling, panting Spencer hurried across the fields and into the town. A long raincoat reached to his feet. He went fearlessly, knowing that by boldness more than stealth would he dodge detection.

It was a little past midnight when Spencer stood in the shadow of the tall hedge in front of her house. A few lights burned. He would wait until all had gone to bed. Her room was at the side. A little gravel thrown against her window and she would come down to him.

His heart thrilled and glowed with the thought of her beauty, her sweetness. By tomorrow night they could be miles away, across the border to safety.

He did not think of that which he had to offer her and that which she must leave—a home of luxury and peace to share the wandering, hunted life of a fugitive from the law. There would be no peace for them, no real security ever from the dread, human power that never ceases to watch though it may not always see.

Selfishness had been the dominant force in Spencer's life. Selfishness had made him try to steal for her, selfishness had prompted his clever escape, it had brought him here now to claim her. His desire for her was only selfishness.

A car came slowly up the road. Spencer moved deeper into the shadow by the high gate posts. The car came nearer, stopping almost in front of him, so near that by stretching far he might have touched the arm of the man who sat at the wheel.

It was Joyce, his lawyer; with him was Clara. Spencer almost cried out with joy so pallidly beautiful was her face in the moonlight that allwaved the tree-tops.

"You are only ruining your life, Clara," Joyce was saying in that low, persuasive voice that had saved Spencer from death. "Ten years—the best ten years—you will wait for him. And when he does come, will you want him?

"For your sake, because you begged me to do it, I defended him with all I had. I did not know you would stick to your promise. I thought all you wanted was to help him."

"If you had known that there was no hope for you, Jenny, would you have fought for him just the same?"

"Just the same, Clara," Joyce returned. "Because it would be for you."

In the shadows a spasm of pain swept Spencer's face. He did not understand such love as Joyce's, but he saw its immensity.

"As long as he wants me, I am his, Jimmy," Clara said a bit wistfully. "I owe it to him. While he knows that I believe in him and wait for him, his life will be happier, his sentence easier to bear. I promised him and if he came tonight I would go with him."

"But do you love him so that you cast away a life's happiness and....?"

"And spoil yours. I know you are too noble to say it. No, Jimmy, I do not love him. I love you more. But it is he who needs me and I must be true to him."

The car turned at the drive. Spencer saw him take her hand and heard his low "good night."

The last light in the house had gone out. Spencer went around by the side. Gravel tinkled against the glass. Clara looked out.

"I'm free, Clara," said Spencer. "I escaped today with the help of . . . a woman. She's the wife of one of the guards—or should be. Anyway, we're running away together. I just thought I'd tell you. You've been so decent. But—but I love this one. I just stuck to you because we—we were promised."

He was gone before she could call him.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Into the Blgstebasket

By George McManus

OH! YES-I KNOW YOU ARE CALLIN' ON MY DAUGHTER, BUT I COULDN'T THINK OF YOU AS A SON-IN-LAW MY DAUGHTER COULDN'T LIVE ON COLLEGE YELLS.
BUT I'M GOING IN FOR NEWSPAPER WORK WHEN I LEAVE COLLEGE.
DON'T YOU THINK YOU ARE PRETTY OLD TO BE SELLIN' NEWSPAPERS?
HUH! I'M GOING TO BE A GREAT WRITER. DID YOU READ MY POEM?
YES. HAVE YOU READ IT TO ANYONE ELSE?
NOT A SOUL!
THEN TELL ME HOW DID YOU BREAK YOUR ARM?
?
© 1926 BY INT'L FEATURE SERVICE, INC Great Britain rights reserved

POLLY AND HER PALS

Real Tin Work

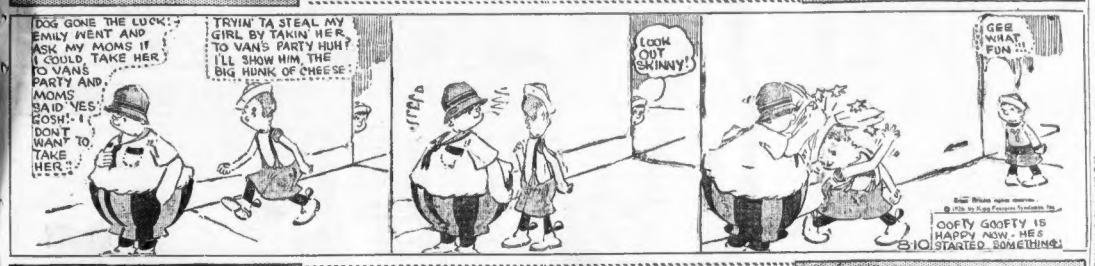
By Cliff Sterrett

DONT TALK ABOUT YOUR SWEETIE. LET'S TALK ABOUT MY SWEETIE!
I'VE HEARD SOME ROTTEN SONG BIRDS IN MY TIME BUT THEM BABIES TAKES THE CAKE!
PUTTY PUNK AINT THEY?
ODD THEY ALWAYS SING DUETS!
ITS SELF-PRESERVATION THAT'S WOT IT IS, ASH.
DOIN' A SISTER ACT, THEY KIN SPLIT THE BLAME. FIFTY-FIFTY!
CLIFF STERRETT

US BOYS

An Infomal Bout

By McNamara



DOG GONE THE LUCK! EMILY WENT AND ASK MY MOMS IF I COULD TAKE HER TO VANS PARTY AND MOMS SAID YES. GOSH!- I DON'T WANT TO TAKE HER.
TRYIN' TA STEAL MY GIRL BY TAKIN' HER TO VANS PARTY HUH? I'LL SHOW HIM, THE BIG HUNK OF CHEESE!
LOOK OUT SKINNY!
GEE WHAT FUN!
OOFTY GOOFTY IS HAPPY NOW - HES STARTED SOMETHING

ABIE THE AGENT

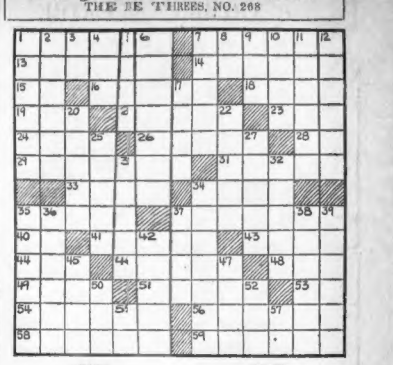
Registers Every Move

By Hershfield

I HEAR YOU'RE GOING TO BOX AT YOUR CLUB'S TONIGHT'S TOURNAMENT?
AND SUPPOSIN' YES DON'T WORRY- I'LL POSITIVELY BE THE WINNER!
THE WINNER - ABE CARIBBLE
- BUT EVERY TIME YOU LANDED A PUNCH YOU LET IT STAY THERE FOR A MINUTE
I WANTED TO BE SURE THE JUDGES GIVE ME CREDIT FOR EVERY POINT

Today's Cross-Word Puzzle

THE BE THREES, NO. 268



ACROSS	DOWN
1—coward	1—light carriage
7—straw roof	2—muster roll
13—deference	3—exist
14—refresh	4—front
15—like	5—personalities
16—din	6—conjunction
18—Arab chief	7—course
19—pronoun	8—pronoun
21—position	9—mature
23—point of the compass	10—mild
24—a bristle	11—conclave of physicians
25—conceals	12—unorthodox religious opinion
28—exists	17—rumored
29—raised	20—place
31—thought	22—postpone
33—river of eastern Asia	25—summits
34—seal with wax	27—carnelians
35—broaden	30—aira
37—heart-shaped	32—low tides
40—above	34—gather
41—part of a flower	36—injuries
43—pair of horses	38—guarantee
44—custom	37—Mohammedan judge
46—gloomily	38—make garments
48—rest	39—whole
49—canteen	42—disease
	45—black
	47—Christmas
	48—drunkard
	52—Russian river
	55—pair (abbr.)
	57—Greek letter

ANSWER TO PUZZLE NO. 267

C	A	R	A	V	A	N		A	R	R	A	T	E	S
A	M	A	L	E	X	A	N	D	R	I	N	E	S
B	I	T	T	E	R		S	T	O	N	E	D	S
I	C	S		T	R	A	M	P	E	D		N	I	P
N	O	S	E		E	L	I	T	E		S	N	S
E	N	L	A	D		A	R	A	F		O	C
T	O	R	S		S	A	K		C	H	E	S	T
		C	I	V	I	C		S	E	L	M	I	R	A
P	L	E	A	D		E	G	G		C	R	U	S
R	E	T	E	N	T		S	C	A	R
I	S	L	E		O	M	A	N		A	I	N
S	T	Y		E	R	E	N	I	T	E		R	A	N
O	U	R		R	O	N		M	A	I	N	E
N	E	R	A	S	T	U	R	I	U	M		S	T
S	I	G	N	E	T	S		S	E	S	T	E	T	S

'You Said It, Marceline!'

By MARCELINE D'ALROY

ON "FADED LOVE AFFAIRS"

MOST LOVE AFFAIRS
COME TO AN END
SOME TIME.
But the BEST time
For an affair to end
Is BEFORE it starts
To FINISH.
THIS may tinge it
With SADNESS, but
It CERTAINLY saves it
From SATIETY.
LOVE, left to GO ON
ITS WAY, is like a
ROSE—sooner or LATER the petals
MUST FALL
Maybe SLOWLY,
ONE BY ONE, or
Maybe ALL AT ONCE.
But EVENTUALLY
There will remain an EMPTY STALK,
Which, after all,
Is NOT MUCH
To HANG ON TO.
But the FRAGRANCE of
An affair CRUSHED
BEFORE it STARTED
To fade MAY bloom
In a heart FOREVER.

Copyright, 1926, Premier Syndicate, Inc.

Secrets of Health

By Charles A. L. Reed, M. D.
Former President American Medical Association

YOU may not be one of those much given to "massage" as a veritable fad.

If so, you cannot but be interested in a number of important facts concerning a practice which, within proper limitations, is really of great value, but which, outside of these limitations is really fraught with danger. Indeed, massage, which was known centuries ago, has now become an indispensable part of medical treatment.

Its chief value is in aiding nature's arrangements for ridding the body of waste products. The action of squeezing and rubbing the flesh expels blood and lymph from its tiny capillary vessels and teaches them to refill themselves more readily.

Thus, inflammation around a joint causes swelling or deposits of waste matter and adhesion of the tissues to one another. These swellings and adhesions restrict the movement of the joint, and when, after the inflammation has subsided they are removed by massage, the function of the joint is restored.

Sometimes, the spasm of the muscles is reduced by soothing stroking, the broken ends are then set with X-rays to control the result and the fractured bone is put in padded splints for a short time. But every day from the first it is taken out and massaged, or given a mild electric bath. Careful massage and movements graduated to every day's improvements restore function so efficiently that if no complications occur the average healthy person is able to go back to work in three weeks.

Massage of the abdominal organs will increase the flow of arterial blood through the mucous membranes of the stomach and the upper bowels and liver, and will assist their functional activity.

When through illness or injury the muscles have remained disused for some time, they waste away and lost most of their power. Even when the injury is healed or the disease cured they cannot at once take up their normal duty, but must be carefully re-educated.

This is one of the most important uses of massage. It requires the utmost skill, judgment and patience, but an expert can apply exactly the right amount of exercise to each muscle and can train other muscles to do the work of those which have been put permanently out of action. Massage has saved many a child from life-long deformity. The uses of massage can be summed up in: reabsorption, nutrition and the stimulation of muscles, nerves and organs.

But massage used in disregard of such indications as I have here mentioned has often done great injury. It ought, therefore, to be used only as a form of exercise by healthy people, unless prescribed by your physician.

Copyright, 1926, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By Helen Rowland

TO a pair of true lovers, the top of a sightseeing bus is an isolated as the darkest corner of a private limousine.

• • •

The average man could have a bully good time during his wife's Summer vacation, if she just would not keep on writing him that she's "coming home soon."

• • •

Every man would "hit the toboggan," now and then, if he felt that he could rely on some woman to drag him back up the hill again.

• • •

There are just three things in the world that one simply cannot "explain"—a hole in the stocking, the back of money for a tip and the fragrance of Spring onions.

• • •

Man wants but little here below—but, somehow, when it comes to a motor-car or a woman, that little always seems to be something different from what he already has.

• • •

When a man feeds a married woman a compliment and a few flattering attentions, it is, for her, like breaking a long FAST.

• • •

You can pretty well gauge a girl's modernism by discovering whether she regards a husband as a blessing, an achievement, a necessity, a luxury, an affliction or a joke.

• • •

The average man's heart is about as airtight as a tent; almost anything is likely to creep into it, when he isn't looking.

• • •

Ad. for a motor-car: Less expensive than a wife; speedier than a stenographer; more artistically upholstered than a bathing beauty; more exhilarating than a flapper; more comforting than a widow—and about as dependable as any of them.

• • •

Nowadays, when you talk of marrying "for love," all your friends seem to think you need a tonic.

Copyright, 1926, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Read the real estate ads daily. It will pay you.

Advertisement

END BUNION PAIN FOREVER

No Need to Suffer Another Day Those Agonizing Torturing Pains.

There is one simple yet inexpensive way to reduce inflamed, swollen toe joints and get them down to normal and that is to apply Moone's Emerald Oil night and morning and people who suffer from such enlargements would be wise to reduce them before they reach a more or less chronic stage.

Ask any first class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces last a long time and furthermore if this wonderful discovery does not give you complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded.

Special note: People who want to reduce swollen or varicose veins should get a bottle of Emerald Oil at once. Applied night and morning as directed they will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

The Boston Evening American will pay $1 for published smart sayings. Address "Smart Sayings," Boston Evening American.

Little Harry and his daddy were out one day when little Harry got lost.

"Oh, please, have you seen a man without a little boy?" he sobbed, meeting a policeman.

"Why, sonny," asked the policeman, in surprise.

"'Cos if you have I'm the little boy," wailed Harry.

G. LAWTON,
No. 28 Eleanor street, Chelsea.

Cuticura Talcum
Is Soothing
For Baby's Skin
Soap, Ointment, Talcum—25th everywhere.

JERITZA ON BEAUTY

By Maria Jeritza

A LOVELY skin is the natural result of a body in joyous good health. In order to attain and retain a complexion of rosiest texture you will have to exercise and bathe, rest and sleep, work and play, eat and drink wisely, sensibly and with systematic regularity.

In this way you will keep your body free from poisons and awake swift circulation. Simple care of the skin from without is effectual when there is the wise care of the complexion from within.

So first of all look to your health if you wish a clear complexion free from blackheads and blemishes. If you are in poor health consult your physician and follow his instructions.

Unless your body freely eliminates bodily poisons, those poisons will contaminate your blood, which in turn will lose its cleansing property. Then all your organs and tissues, every item of your beauty, including your complexion, will be endangered.

So help along bodily elimination by eating coarse food, such as bran muffins, oatmeal and gluten bread. Eat plenty of vegetables, including cabbage, carrots, spinach, lettuce, beets and beet greens, cauliflower and string beans and also such fruits as prunes, figs, dates, apples, raisins and oranges. Avoid eating meat oftener than five or six times a week.

"An apple a day" is an adage, practice of which is responsible for many a lovely complexion.

"A bath a day" is even more important, because daily bathing keeps the pores of the skin free from impurities, an uncloged channel for elimination of waste matter.

Eat slowly and chew your food well. Drink plenty of water. Milk and, better still, buttermilk, are good for the health and complexion.

Before your morning bath, practice five or six of the exercises I describe in this column from time to time.

To banish blackheads the skin must be kept absolutely clean and at the same time well nourished and active in its function of bodily elimination.

If your skin is oily and has blackheads scrub it thoroughly, but gently, at night with soft, warm water, soap suitable for a baby's skin and a camel's hair complexion brush. Rinse it in clear, warm water, gradually tempering it to cold.

Follow this with a mild astringent such as:

Witch-hazel, 8 ounces.
Tincture of benzoin, ½ ounce.

Apply this astringent on absorbent cotton wrung out of cold water.

If soap doesn't agree with your skin substitute almond meal, which can be obtained at any drug store. Mix the almond meal with a little oat meal. Rub this mixture over your face with the palms of your hands, then wash it off.

Mornings, after your bath, put pure cold cream into your skin. Remove the excess and finally go over your face thoroughly with cold water or a lump of ice.

In case blackheads and a dry skin are your problem, you will need a slightly different regime from that I've just described.

Copyright, 1926, Premier Syndicate, Inc.

THE BEST JOKE I EVER HEARD

The Boston Evening American will pay $1 for "Best Joke" published. Address "Best Joke," Boston Evening American.

Waitress—Is your cocoa hot, sir?
Bald-headed man (absently)—Oh, no; that's just sunburn.

THOMAS F. QUINN,
No. 79 Fort Hill avenue, Lowell.

Mothers of Famous Men

IT seems strange that the woman who taught George Washington those homely virtues which helped him achieve the brilliant career history has so often recorded, should have received almost no public attention. But this was because she had little personal ambition. Mrs. Washington was possessed of a strong character and her dominant trait manifested itself in her son.

On March 6th, 1730, when she was a girl in her twenties, she married a widower. Two years later the man who was later to become the first President of the United States was born. And of the six children born to her five lived to maturity. When her husband died, Mrs. Washington carried the burden of managing her large farm and rearing her children without help from any adviser. All of the children inherited her strength of mind and forceful personality.

When the French and Indian War broke out and her son George asked permission to go, she assented without a murmur, although she needed him. From then on he saw her only occasionally. But she wrote him frequently and gave him the benefit of her sage advice.

And although from that time on George Washington succeeded in making for himself a prominent place in the annals of the U. S., his mother was known to few. After the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown a ball was given to the future President and for the first time since marriage Mrs. Washington appeared at a public function. Everyone who saw the stalwart old lady paid tribute to her, and recognized in her the striking physical qualities characteristic of the great leader.

From this time on she saw her son very infrequently, and despite his pleas that she live with one of her other children she spent the rest of her life alone. She died on August 25th, 1789.

FOR Acid Stomach
PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little of "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this sour-ing waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

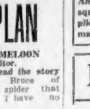
Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any druggtore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

CODMAN KEEPS UP WAR ON NEW B. & M. PLAN

By FRANK H. MELOON
Financial Editor.

Perhaps you have read the story of the Boston and Maine's fight to throw Codman and the spider that never gave up. I have no doubt that former President Edmund D. Codman of the Fitchburg Railroad could tell you about it. He has battled most persistently against the refinancing of the Boston & Maine. Every apparent defeat has proved only a temporary setback. Then he was Codman, a mythological wrestler who gained new strength every time his shoulders touched the ground. So it has been with Mr. Codman. There has just been made known his latest step in the recurrent battle. By this step Mr. Codman, as a Boston & Maine stockholder, asks the Interstate Commerce Commission for a rehearing of the decision authorizing the refinancing of the Boston & Maine.



Edmund D. Codman.

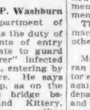
C. F. Sesinger, National Surety Co. official, is quoted as saying nine out of every ten Americans are "potential crooks." Facts compiled in the business world do not justify this view. Indeed, they severely contradict it. One big installment plan house, for example, reports that over a period of years it has proved to customers failing to pay approximates only a fraction of 1 per cent.

* * *

Commissioner Frank P. Washburn of Maine's State Department of Agriculture annually has the duty of stationing men at points of entry into the Pine Tree State to guard against any "corn borer" infected green corn, dahlias, etc., entering by way of New Hampshire. He says motorists when held up, as on the Maine-New Hampshire bridge between Portsmouth and Kittery, sometimes toss out tobacco or other containers into the river. He suspects his men are mistaken for "dry" agents.

* * *

Perhaps equally amusing to the average person is the fact that the agents sometimes force autoists to remove and throw away dahlias worn in buttonholes. Three years ago the "corn borer" was commonly to be found in corn sold in Greater Boston. In the past two years, however, writer has never had the misfortune to discover a "borer" and feels the pest must be on its last legs, if any.



Frank L. Sewell

Boston's city treasurer, Frank L. Brier, will receive bids until 11 a. m. Wednesday, Aug. 11, on a $2,000,000 loan, due Oct. 6, on interest to follow basis.

* * *

James Bruce has been elected vice-president of the International Acceptance Bank, Inc., and of the International Acceptance Securities and Trust Company. Mr. Bruce has for a number of years been associated, as vice-president, with the Baltimore Trust Company, Baltimore, Md. Other appointments are John A. Mihalluoti, assistant treasurer of the International Acceptance Securities and Trust Company; James P. Wood, manager of the foreign credit department of the International Acceptance Bank, Inc., and Benjamin Strong, Jr., manager of the domestic credit department.

* * *

Ira F. Burnham, a former vice-president, has been elected president of the Union Trust Company, succeeding Guy A. Ham, deceased.

* * *

MARKET was unsettled at the opening today and the speculative leaders sustained wide declines.

Advice Is Free

Before you buy or sell stocks or bonds you should secure expert advice. Send your inquiries with stamp to Frank H. Meloon, financial editor, Boston Evening American, No. 6 Winthrop square, Boston, Mass. No replies can be made other than by mail.

FINANCE

—By B. C. Forbes—

The rest of the world wants to find out how we are able to get so much out of life, out of industry, out of business, how employers can make so much money and at the same time pay workers such high wages, how capital and labor get along with so few serious strikes, how workers here manage to produce so much more than workers elsewhere.

The British government is sending over an industrial delegation consisting of two representative employers, two high officials of the Transport Workers' Federation, and the Amalgamated Engineering Union, as chairman, Sir William MacKenzie, ex-president of the British Industrial Court.

The American government is arranging to send a mission of eight employers and workers.

And certainly we were visited by a body of British trade Union workers who diligently sought answers to these same questions.

What made the greatest impression upon these union investigators was the spirit of co-operation between American employers and employes, their combined effort to obtain increasing and increasing production, the cordial, democratic relations between management and men, the considerate consideration exercised by the employers and the consequent loyalty of the workers.

The friendly attitude of American workers toward the introduction of new machinery also was commented—and made the British union men do some serious thinking.

The scale on which labor-saving machinery is utilized here was another eye opener.

Most of these visiting workmen ran across old shoppmates in the factories. They investigated. Time and again they discovered that foremen, department heads, superintendents and other responsible employes in these large plants were ex-apprentices whom they had worked with in the old country. The tales of these unexpected reunions were most interesting.

"How much do you earn?" was invariably asked.

The answers in many—in most—cases made their British cousins mouths water.

Here is one significant side light of the light wholly creditable to American employers.

Wherever they went the investigators inquired whether workers were paid by the hour or by piece. And, by the way, they were astounded to learn how much of America's industrial production is paid for by output, not by the hour or day or week.

After finding out how much a day a man averaged by the piece, this question almost always followed:

"When the company finds that workers can earn very high wages by working on piece, do they reduce the piece rate?"

In practically every instance the unanimous answer came.

"No."

This was usually followed by an explanation that the efficiency of each new machine enabled the operator to turn out more, then rates were readjusted accordingly, an arrangement that was strictly in accordance with the terms of the agreement that was made by the concern with the men. Hardly a single complaint of unfair readjustments was unearthed by the quizzing visitors notwithstanding that they went round the plants unaccompanied by bosses and chatted privately with the workers.

The rate of all new tasks with fellow-workers here and of all they saw on their own trips through plants and inside of workmen's homes was that the British labor representatives were impressed with that our employers are more considerate, more sympathetic, more democratic, more liberal minded, more progressive than British employers, more ready to share with their workers the financial fruits of scientific discoveries, of new inventions, of improved methods, to say nothing of the willingness, even eagerness, of many of our employers to have workers take advantage of stock-ownership, profit-sharing bonus and suchlike plans to add to the weekly pay envelope.

In short there was discovered here the Bolshevist-hating brotherhood.

Copyright, 1926, by B. C. Forbes.

State Street Notes

STOCKS of zinc in July showed decrease of 4 tons to 28,940 tons. Production in month was 48,403 tons and shipments 51,177 tons.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER normally broke ground today for dam and powerhouse at Grand Falls on St. John River, N. Br., one of greatest water powers east of Niagara.

CANADA will declare usual regular quarterly dividends of 2¼ per cent. on common and 2 per cent on preferred, both payable October 1.

TOTAL yardage under contract by Warren Brothers Company by June 30, 1926, was 11,189,719 square yards, an increase of 3,174,824 yards, or 39.6 per cent, over same date one year ago.

WARREN Brothers' South American operations are now well under way and the results for the year will substantially exceed the company's earnings for 1925.

BROKERS' loans of $58,617,000 with total of $2,888,717,000 reported as of August 4 by New York Federal Reserve Bank, no change.

PROPERTY and assets of Lawrence Manufacturing Company as going concern have been sold to C. Brooks Stevens of Olwell and associates for $1,900,000 cash. Papers pass November 4.

Cotton Is Lower

New York, Aug. 10 (I.N.S.).—Cotton prices resumed their downward trend today. Quotations were 6 to 13 points lower, with October at 18.60, down 10; December 16.52, down 13, and January 16.88, down .06.

NEW YORK STOCKS

	Aug. 10	Aug. 9	High	Low	Latest	Close
Adv Rumely ...	16	16	16	16	16
Ahumada L ...	8	8
Air Reduction ...	144½	140⅝	144⅝	140⅝	144⅝
All Ch & Dye ...	139¼	137½	137⅞	139¾
Allis Chal Mfg	91⅝	91⅛	91¾	89¾
Am Ag Chem ...	51¼	50¾	51¼	50¾
Am Ag Ch pf	62½	62½	62¾	61
Am Br Shoe ...	141	141	141	141
Am Brk Cor ...	44¼	45	45	44¼
Am Can ...	62⅜	61⅞	61⅞	60
Am Car & Fy ...	109½	109½	109½	107
Amerada ...	31⅝	31¾	31¾	31⅜
Am Intl Corp.	24⅝	24⅜	24⅝	24⅜
Am Linseed ...	24¾	24¾	24¾	24¾
Am Linseed pf	81⅞	81⅞	81⅞	82
Am Loco ...	106⅛	106⅛	106⅛	106⅛
Am Metal ...	23⅜	23⅜	23⅜	23⅜
Am Safety R.	69¾	69	69¾	69
Am Smelting ...	128	128	128	128
Am Steel Fdy	45¾	45⅜	45¾	45
Am Sugar ...	74¾	74⅜	74¾	74¼
Am Tel & Tel ...	144⅜	144⅜	144⅜	144⅜
Am Tobacco B.	118⅜	118⅜	119⅜	121¼
Anaconda ...	51⅛	51	51⅛	50⅝
Armour Ill A ...	10¾	10¾	10¾	10¾
Asso Dry Gds.	45⅝	45⅝	46⅛	46⅝
Atch T & S F	137¾	137¾	138¼	137¾
Atl C L pf	99	99	99	99
Atlantic Ref.	1226	1224½	1226	1226
Atl Refining ...	114¼	114¼	114¼	114¼
Baldwin Loco.	124½	124	124	124½
Balt & Ohio ...	101⅝	101⅝	101⅞	101⅝
Beechnut ...	51	51	51	51
Belding Hem.	30¾	30¼	30¾	30⅝
Bethlehem ...	46⅞	46⅝	46⅞	46⅝
Bloomingdale.	33	33	33	33⅜
Bklyn Un Gas	95	94⅝	94⅝	94⅝
Brklyn & Sup.	41¼	41¼	41¼	41¼
Case Thresh.	168	165	165	168⅜
Butterick ...	60¾	59	59	57½
Calif Pete ...	23	23	23⅛	23
Cal Zinc Lead.	2	1⅞	1⅞	1⅞
Can Leather ...	4¼	4¼	4¼	4¼
Cerro de Pasco	72¾	72¾	72¾	72¾
Cert Teed Prod.	47	47	47	48
C Pac & Ry ...	145¼	145¼	145¼	145¼
C M & St P pf	20¾	20	20¾	20
Chi & Alton pf	8¾	8¾	8¾	8
Chi Gt West.	7¾	7¾	7¾	7¾
Chi & N W. ...	74¾	74¾	74¾	74¾
Chi R I	69¾	69	69¾	69¾
Chrysler	37¾	37¾	37¾	37¾
Chile Copper...	34¾	34⅝	34¾	34⅝
Coca Cola ...	163	163	163	163
Colo Fuel & I.	46⅛	46¼	46⅛	46⅛
Colum Carbon	62⅞	62⅞	62⅞	62⅞
Col Gas & E.	83¼	83¼	83¼	83¼
Congoleum ...	24⅛	24¼	24⅛	—
Consol Cigar	72¾	72¾	72¾	72
Consol Oil ...	17¾	17¾	17¾	17¾
Conti Can...	84⅛	83⅜	83⅝	83⅞
Consl Motors.	17¾	17¾	17¾	17¾
Corn Prod....	46⅝	44⅝	46⅝	45⅝
Cuba Cane pf.	40¼	40¼	40¼	40⅝
Cuba Co	3	3	3	3
Cuban-Amer...	26¼	26¼	26¼	26
Davison Chem.	39⅜	39⅜	39⅜	39⅜
Del & Hudson.	184½	183¾	187¼	186⅝
Del L & W...	146	146	146	145
Den Rio Grande	13⅝	13⅝	13⅝	13⅝
Dodge Bros...	32¾	32¾	32¾	33⅜
Dupont d N...	306½	306¼	306¾	310¼
Elec Bd & Sh.	97¾	97¾	97¾	97¾
Elec S Battery	85⅞	85⅝	85⅝	85⅝
Erie R R ...	85	84¾	84¾	85
Erie R R 1st...	43¾	43¾	43¾	43¾
Famous Plyrs.	117⅞	116⅜	116⅜	117⅞
Fisk Rubber.	18¾	18¾	18¾	18⅝
Fleischmann ...	51¼	50¾	50¾	50¾
Foundation Co	93	91¾	91¾	93
Fox Film	73¾	73¾	74	—
Fox Film	74	73¾	74	—
Gabriel Snub'	32⅜	32⅜	32⅜	—
Gen Asphalt ...	71	71	71	71
Gen Gas & E 50	50	50	50	50
Gen Electric . 90	89¾	89¾	90¼
Gen Motors ...	219	217¾	219	220¾
Granby	25	24⅝	25	25
Gen Ry Sig ...	90¾	90¼	90¾	90¾
Gimbel Bros ...	56⅛	56	56⅛	56⅛
Gilden	18¾	18¾	18¾	17¾
Gold Dust ...	42⅛	42⅛	42⅛	42⅛
Gt Nor Ore...	19¾	19¾	19¾	19¾
Gulf States St	74¾	74¾	74¾	74¾
Hartman Corp	73¼	73¼	73¼	74¼
Household Pr.	43¾	43¾	43¾	—
Houston	38	38	38	38
Hudson Motor	71¾	71¾	71¾	71¾
Hupp Motor...	26⅞	26⅝	26⅞	26⅞
Interc Pumping	28⅜	28	28⅜	28⅜
Int Harvester.	132½	131¾	132¾	132¾
Intl Com Eng.	59¾	58¾	59¾	59¾
Intl Paper ...	54	53	54	54
Intl Tel & Te.	119⅝	118	119	119
Jordan Motor.	24⅝	24⅝	24⅝	24⅝
Kan City S ...	80	80	80	80
Kennecott Cop	58⅜	58⅜	58⅜	58⅜
Kelsey Wh Co ...	63¾	63¾	63¾	63¾
Lago Oil	32	32	32	32
Liggett Ser B	84⅞	85	85⅛	85⅛
Loew's Inc ...	41¼	41¼	41¼	41¼
Loose Wiles.	152⅛	152⅛	152⅛	156⅛
Lorillard & Co	31¾	31¾	31¾	31¾
Louisville & N	136	136	136	136
Mack Trucks.	129¼	127¼	127¼	129¼
Mahual H Sup	37¾	37¾	37¾	37¾
Macy	111¼	111¼	111¼	111¼
Maytag	23⅝	23⅝	23⅝	23⅝
Marland Oil...	58¾	58¾	58¾	59
Mathieson....	78	78	78	77¼
Mex Seaad Oil	11⅜	11⅜	11⅜	11¼
Miami Copper	31¾	31¾	31¾	31¾
Mid Cont Pet.	32¼	32¼	32¼	32¼
Mo Kan & Tex	32¾	32¾	32¾	32¾
Mo Pacific...	38¾	38¾	38¾	39
Mo Pacific pf.	91¾	91¾	91¾	91
Montgy Ward.	73¾	73	73¾	73¾
Moto-Meter A.	41¾	41¾	41¾	42
Motor Wheel.	26	26	26	25
Nash Motors.	59¾	59¾	59¾	59¾
Nat Biscuit ...	69¾	69¾	69¾	69¾
Nat Dairy Pr.	73	72¾	73	72¾
Nat Dept Sts.	26	26	26	26
Nat Distill ...	41¼	41¼	41¼	41¼
Nat En & Stge	22¼	22¼	22¼	22¼
Nat P & L ...	22¾	22¾	22¾	22¾
Nat Cross Cop	17¾	17¾	17¾	17¾
NY Air Brake	43¾	43¾	43¾	43¾
NY Canners ...	49¾	49	49	49¾
NY Central...	127¾	127½	127¾	127¾
NY NH & H.	45¾	45¾	45¾	45¾
NY Ont & W ...	24¾	24¼	24¾	23⅝
Natl Tea	153	153	153	—
Norfolk & W.	158¾	158¾	158¾	158¾
North Am ...	56¾	55¾	56¾	56¾
Nor Pacific...	85¾	85¾	85¾	85¾
Omnibus Corp	16¾	16¾	16¾	16¾
Otis Elevator.	60	60	60	60
Packard Motor	43¾	43¾	43¾	43¾
Paige Detroit.	16¾	16¾	16¾	—
Pan-Am Pet B	51⅛	51	51⅛	51
Pathe A	57¾	57¾	57¾	58⅝
Penn Shd Sti...	1¾	1¾	1¾	1¾
Penn Mex Fuel	6	6	6	6
Phila & R Co.	38¾	38¾	38¾	38¾
Phillips Petrol	41¾	41¾	41¾	41¾
Phillip Morris.	22¾	22¼	22¾	22¾
Pierce Arrow.	30½	30¼	30½	31¾
Pierce Oil pf.	17¾	17¾	17¾	17¾
Postum Cereal	104	104	104	103½
Pub Serv N J	91¾	91¾	91¾	91¾
Pullman	125¾	125¾	125¾	125¾
Punta Alegra.	36	36	36	36⅜
Pure Oil	37¾	37¾	37¾	37¾
Reading	91¾	91¾	91¾	91¾
Reminton T ...	123	123	123	123
Republic Rub.	21	21	21	21
Reynolds Spg	97	97	97	97
Royal Dutch .	49¾	49¾	49¾	49¾
Schulte Stores.	40	40	40	40
St Jos Lead...	44	43¾	44	43¾
Sears Roebuck	87¾	87¾	87¾	87¾
Shell Union ...	27¾	27¾	27¾	27¾
Shubert T...	69	69	69	68⅝
Sinclair	21¾	21¾	21¾	21¾
Simmons Co...	34	33	34	33¾
Skelly Oil...	34½	33⅞	33¾	34¼
Southern Pac	107⅛	106¾	107⅛	107⅛
So Dairy A ...	52	52	52	52
So P R Sug...	115	114½	114½	116
Spicer Mfg ...	24½	24	24½	24
Std Gas & El.	55¾	55¼	55¾	55¾
Std Oil Calif..	59¼	59¼	59¼	59¼
Std Oil N J ...	43	43¼	43¼	43
Stewart-W Sp...	76¼	75¼	76¼	76¼
Stromberg Cb.	68¼	68¼	68¼	68
Studebaker ...	66¾	66	66	67
Tenn Cop & C.	13⅝	13⅜	13⅝	13
Texas Co. ...	53⅝	53⅜	53⅝	53¼
Tex Gulf Sul.	109½	109½	109½	171¼
Tex & P C&OI	146¾	146¾	146¾	146¾
Timken R B.	61¾	61	61¾	61¼
Tobacco Prod.	103	102	103	102
Transcontl Oil	4¾	4¾	4¾	4¾
Un Bag & P.	61⅝	60¾	60¾	60
Union Asbestos	60	60	60	60
Un Oil of Cal.	53	53	53	53
Union Pac...	157¼	157¼	157¾	156¼
Un Alloy Steel	31	31	31	31
Un Cigar Sts.	104½	103½	104	104
Unit Fruit ...	134	134	134	134
Univ Pipe pf.	77¾	77¾	77¾	77¾
U S C I Pipe.	241	240	240	243
U S Distrib...	56¾	55¾	56¾	56¾
U S Rubber ...	58⅞	58	58⅞	58
U S Steel....	158¾	157¾	158¾	158¼
Vanadium	34¾	34¾	34¾	34¾
V C Ch & pc pf	45	45	45	45¼
Vivaudou ...	31⅞	31⅝	31⅞	31⅝
Wabash RR ...	46	45¾	46	46
Ward BakingB	23⅞	23⅝	23⅝	23⅝
Warner Bros.	23¾	23¾	23¾	23¾
Warner Pic ...	29⅞	29¾	30¼	30¼
Western Md ...	13⅞	13⅝	13⅞	13⅝
Western Un ...	97	97	97	96¾
Westing's El...	70¾	70¼	70¾	70⅝
Wheel W & M.	55¾	55¾	55¾	55¾
Weston Elec...	185¾	185¾	185¾	187¾
White Eagle O	26	26	26	25¾
White Motors.	45¾	45¾	45¾	45¾
Willys-Over...	23¾	23¾	23¾	23¾
Willys-Over pf	95¾	95¾	95¾	95¾
Wilson & Co pf	58¾	58¾	58¾	58¾
*Woolworth ..	169	169	169	169
Wright Aero...	97	97	97	96¾
Yellow Truck.	34¾	33	33¾	34¾
Youngstown S	95	93¾	94	96

*Ex-dividend.

Boston Stocks

	Aug. 10	Aug. 9	High	Low	Latest	Close
Am Can	62¼	62¼	62⅜	62⅜	63
Am Smelt ...	188½	188½	188½	189	140
Am Pneu ...	21	21	21	21
Am Pneu l pf.	21	21	21	21⅜
Am Wool pf...	71	71	71¼	71
Amoskeag ...	49¾	49¾	49¾	49¾
Anaconda ...	51¼	50⅝	51¼	50⅝
Art Cons ...	6¾	6¾	6¾	6¾
Balt & Ohio...	101¼	100⅞	100⅞	101⅜
Bigelow Hart..	79¼	79¼	79¼	78
Bingham	6¼	6¼	6¼	6¼
Bos Elev 1 pf.	120	120	120	—
B M C	65	64¾	65	64¾
Beth St	46¾	46¾	46¾	46¾
Cal & Ariz ...	72¾	72¾	72¾	73
Cal & Hecla...	13¾	13¾	13¾	13¼
Cons Gas ...	111½	111½	111½	111¾
Chrysler	37¾	36⅝	38⅜	37¾
Eastern S S ...	20¾	20¾	20¾	20¾
East S S 1 pf.	94	94	94	—
Edison	230	230	230	229
Gillette	59	59	59	—
Gen Asphalt ...	71	71	71	71
Gen Elec	42	42	42	—
Gen El pref ...	90¾	90¾	90¾	91⅜
Gen El special	11	11	11	—
German C	18½	—	—	18
Gillette	94¾	—	—	94¾
Greenfield ...	13	13	—	13
Hood Rub ...	58	58	58	57½
Int Cement ...	57⅝	57⅝	57⅝	57⅝
Int. Com rts.	60c	60c	60c	60c
Isle Royals ...	14	14	14	14
Lewis'n Mch ...	8	8	8	8
Lib McN L ...	8	8	8	8
Mack	128¾	127¾	127¾	128¾
Maryland	37¾	37⅞	37⅞	37¾
Mass Con M	60c	60c	60c	60c
Mass Gas ...	92	92	92	92
Mex Invest ...	10½	10½	10½	10¾
Mo Pac	38¾	38¾	38¾	39¼
Mohawk	42¾	42¾	42¾	42¾
Nash	59¾	59½	59¾	59¾
Nat Leather ...	2¾	2¼	2¾	2¼
New Cornelia.	22¾	22¾	22¾	23¼
N E Tel	114½	114	114½	114½
N Y Air Br ...	43¾	43¾	43¾	43¾
N Y Central ..	128	127¾	127¾	128¾
North Butte...	2	2⅜	2⅜	2⅜
Pullman	40	40	40	40
Phillips	42	42	42	—
R & R Lims...	60	60	—	—
Reece	22	22	22	21¾
Studebaker ...	66	66	66	67¼
Swift & Co....	114¾	114¾	115¼	115¾
United Or 1 pf	88	87	87	88
United Shoe.	48¾	48	48¾	48
U S Rubber ...	58¾	58¾	58¾	58
U S & F S pf.	110	110	110	110
U S & F S p pf	86	86	86	84
U S Steel....	158¾	158	158¾	158¾
Waldorf	21¾	21¾	21¾	21¾
Warren Bros...	50	50	50	50
Willys-Ov ...	28⅛	28⅜	28⅜	28⅜
Winona	21c	21c	21c	—

DRAPER MELON IS VOTED

In addition to the regular quarterly $1.75 payable Oct. 1, Draper Corporation declared special dividend of $25 a share, payable in two instalments to stock of record August 28. The first instalment will be payable Oct. 1, 1926, and the second of $12.50 on Jan. 15, 1927.

Directors also propose to change the present capital stock from 175,000 shares of $100 par value to 350,000 shares without par value, exchanging two new shares for one of old. If shareholders approve the recapitalization it is the expectation of directors that dividends thereafter will be based upon the rate of $3 per share annually, payable on the calendar quarters at the rate of $1 per share.

Special meeting of shareholders to ratify the proposed recapitalization is called for Sept. 9 at Portland, Maine.

Wall Street Gossip

PUBLIC Service Corporation of New Jersey earned $4.17 on common shares in first six months.

UNITED Fruit Company earned $1.41 a share of common in first six months to June 30.

VIRTUALLY all leading investment houses in Wall street are expected to bid for $25,000,000 New York State bonds to be awarded September 1.

CONSOLIDATED Cigar earnings are running at rate of $10 a share.

JULY production of steel ingots approximated 5,000,000 gross tons, against 3,750,653 in June and 3,054,417 in July, 1925.

CALL money renewed at 4½ per cent.

CHICAGO& & Northwestern moved 53,964 revenue freight cars in first week of August, against 49,436 in same period of last year.

SALT Creek Producers' Association will No. 1, in Wyoming, has been completed, flowing 2,000 barrels first 24 hours.

ALASKA Juneau Gold reports for July gross receipts of $149,000, against $166,100 in July, 1926. After interest and capital expenditures deficit was $19,200.

ATTRACTIVE STORE IN WHICH TO SHOP

BASEMENT ADDITION

New Hovey downstairs store, latest to be added to C. F. Hovey Company, is latest word in modern business marts.

70-DAY TOUR FOR WINNER

NEW HOVEY STORE OPENS

Continued from Page 9.

Evening American being the only New England newspaper entry, and the only one there are to be NATIONAL prizes.

The First National Prize will be a trip for two around the world on the steamship Belgenland of the Red Star Line. This trip will occupy 137 days, and will be worth, at a very low estimate, $4,000.

Second National Prize will be a trip for two to the Philadelphia Sesqui-Centennial Exposition, FOR TWO PERSONS. Everything paid, everything free, including railroad transportation, meals, other hotel expenses, and all the Exposition tickets you can use.

KODAKS AWARDED.

The Third National Prize will be a collection of passes, good for two persons and for one year, to more than 500 of the best motion picture palaces throughout the United States.

Other National Prizes, twenty-five of them, will be Eastman Cine-Kodaks equipped, with film and all ready for the prize-winners to begin taking their own motion pictures.

There are twenty-eight of these National Prizes, and the 28 Boston Evening American sets of answers which are to be adjudged to be the best 28 sets placed before the Boston Evening American judges will be sent to New York to compete with the National Awards with similar "best 28s from other cities.

A winner in this Boston Evening American contest will have an opportunity to win one of the National awards, also.

It is not impossible, for example, that the winner of the $500 in the local contest will prove to be the winner of the trip around the world on the Belgenland. It is not intended, however, to stress the National Awards above the Local Awards—the Mediterranean cruise, the $500 and the others—Because, while the National Awards MAY be won by Boston Evening American readers, we know the local awards MUST be won by Boston Evening American participants.

The contest itself is best explained by the "sample picture" which is printed in this newspaper.

Every day for 28 consecutive publication days the Boston Evening American will print one picture from some well-known motion picture play. Contest picture No. 1 will appear next Monday, August 16th.

From each of the contest pictures the face of the star performer will have been removed, cut out.

The "Game" will be to name the star whose face is missing and name the photoplay from which the scene is taken.

And that will be every last thing you will be expected to do, except write a letter of not more than 100 words on "Why I Like the Movies."

When the contest is over, you will send in your complete set of 29 pictures, correctly identified so far as you are able, together with the letter on "Why I Like the Movies."

LISTS OF PLAY TITLES.

There will be helps for you every day in the columns of the Boston Evening American. Clues to the identity of the stars whose faces are missing will be printed. There will be a list of 30 motion-picture play titles, and another list of the names of 30 celebrated film stars. In these lists may be found the titles of the 29 plays and the names of the 29 stars which form the foundation of the contest.

The Boston Evening American wants every reader to take part in this contest who is at all familiar with the movies. It is truly going to be a great contest, the greatest, perhaps, this newspaper ever has conducted. The reason for it is that the film industry is celebrating its 30th anniversary. Hence, the Greater Movie Season, which is almost upon us.

To take part in the Greater Movie Season Contest will cost you nothing. You are not to send in your name until it comes to the Contest Editor, finally, with the set of answers. Men, women, boys and girls may take part, every member of the family.

First contest picture next Monday, August 16.

Foreign Exchange

With the exception of demand sterling, which was firm around $4.85 15-16, most of the active foreign exchanges displayed a heavy tone. French francs receding an overnight loss of 10 points at 2.84 cents.

$3,000,000 Plant

Plans have been completed for a terminal warehouse and cold storage plant on Houston ship channel, to cost close to $3,000,000.

PRODUCTION of Consolidated Coppermines Corporation during first month following signing contract with Nevada Consolidated amounted to over 1,200,000 pounds at cost of less than eight cents a pound sold.

INDUSTRY NEAR COLLAPSE

Continued from Page 9

the most difficult periods of our Social and industrial economy," he said. "We are experiencing the inevitable pains incident to our swift development. What should have taken us ten years to accomplish, we have done in five.

"We have nearly exhausted the capital which we inherited from the Bourgeoisie. We are having to renew our machinery and equipment as we are engaging our factories so fast that we have to take on new and inexperienced technical experts. The unfailing inefficiency means that we cannot yet pay pre-war wages except in the case of those industry which were previously terribly exploited.

"Our difficulties have been staggering—sometimes they seem to contradict each other. Sometimes they seem unsolvable—some of our countrymen though there are not many of them—seeing the present industrial situation become panicky and in spite of all our attainments, utterly lose their wits because they do not know how to deal with our difficulties.

LABOR IS THE SOLUTION

"All the problems we are facing can be solved only by intense labor. The fact is that without reorganizing the whole of indust

Is Your Name Below?--It's Worth $5.00 in Passes at Revere Beach

THE BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN
CLASSIFIED CORNER
Summer and Devonshire Sts.
Liberty 4000

Classified Advertising Indexed, Standardized and Popularized.

All ads are restricted to their proper classification and to the regular Evening American style of type.

Advertising orders and "Stop" notices must be in one day before insertion date.

Count an average words to the line.

Ads stopped before expiration will only be charged for the number of times the ad appeared and adjustments made at the rate earned.

Rate per line for white space is the same as a line of type.

Publishers reserve the right to edit or reject any classified advertising copy.

Telephone Liberty 4000.
Ask for an Ad-Taker

Announcements

Phone Ads to American — Liberty 4000

Deaths 1

ALCOCK—In this city, Aug. 8, Mary E. (nee Burke), widow of James A. Alcock. Funeral from her residence, 134 Canton St., Tuesday, Aug. 10, at 8:15 A. M. Requiem mass at Cathedral of the Holy Cross at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited.

CADOGAN—In Wakefield, Aug. 8, Catherine A. (nee Shea), beloved wife of Frederick Cadogan (nee Shea). Funeral from her late residence, 6 Lake St., Wakefield, Tuesday, at 8 A. M. Solemn high mass of requiem at St. Joseph's Church at 10 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited.

CHOWILL—In Somerville, Aug. 8, Capt. Fred A. Crowell. Funeral services at his late residence, 6 Bellevue Highlands, Somerville, on Tuesday, Aug. 10, at 2:30 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. Interment at South Yarmouth, Mass.

DONOVAN—In Brookline, Aug. 8, John W., son of the late Joseph W. and Ellen M. Donovan. Funeral from the residence of his brother, Joseph W. Donovan, 15 Kelley Rd., Brookline, St. Kanatica Plain, Wednesday, Aug. 11, at 8:30 A. M. Solemn high mass of requiem at St. Aidan's Assumption Church, Brookline, at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends respectfully invited.

HUTCHISON—In Lynnfield Center, Aug. 7, Charlotte M., 50 years, widow of Charles J. McGrath. Funeral services from home of daughter, Mrs. Carl Clever, Pearson Road, Lynnfield Center, Tuesday, Aug. 10, at 3:30 P. M. Relatives and friends invited.

For any information concerning LOST and FOUND ARTICLES call the LOST AND FOUND BUREAU Liberty 4000, at Classified Corner, 99 Summer St. Open daily for Miss Beale, Boston Evening American—advertiser.

F. Lincoln, 36 Maple St., Weymouth.

Lost and Found 10

FOUND BY THE POLICE—Keys—Bunch of 7 keys, on metal plate—Mass. Reg. No. 529,581, Div. 9 Keys—Bunch of 5 iron keys, one steel key on ring, one brass key —Brindle and white, Boston terr dog, has collar on Registry—National Coal Briquette Co., No. S-313259 Y-711, tag mkd. Colonial Hotel—Gent's overcoat, 108 Pleasant St., Div. 17. Call Liberty 4000, Miss Beale.

Barry Locca, 171 Thorndike St., Boston

AUTO CAMP TENT—Lost between Fitchb'g and Worcester or Boston, Sunday, Aug. 8. Snow Co., Moody st., Wat'n. Wal. 2730.

Frank Liberto, 46 Clark Ave., Watertown

BAG—Lost, black handbag, lady's, rosary beads and keys. Reward. Return to 1 Main or Jackson Sts. Waltham 2896-M.

Florence Gould, 42 Fairview Ave., Dor.

BAG—Lost on last car City Point to Dover Grant Heights. Reward. R. Box 2166-M. Revere.

Herbert Hatch, Wakefield, Mass.

BILLFOLD—Lost between Dudley and Everett Station, Saturday, Aug. 7. Reward. Call Liberty 4000.

BOSTON BAG—Black, in or near Western, Mass., golf links, Tel. Lib. 5780 or address 1110 Tremont St.

J. F. Lyons, 46 Frederick St., Dorchester

DOG—Pomeranian, male, white, lost on South Swansea Rd., headed for Boston, Sunday, last; answers to name of Prince Tritz; will the man please communicate with H. S. Dexter, Providence, R. I. Dexter 4007. Reward.

Hugh Harkins, 19 Hanson Ct., Woburn.

DOG—Lost, white toy poodle, Watertown, Belmont, 02/22. Call 0022-M.

EYE-GLASSES—Found between Irvington and Wood Aves., Roxbury, owner may have same by paying for ad. B. B. 1454.

FOB—Lost, Saturday, Natyna, Massa- lia, Boston. Copley 4807-J.

HAT BAG—Lost on car to Boston, between Broad and Harvard Sts., Aug. 5 187-198 Bridge St., near Sheffield. Hyde Pk. 1283-J.

F. P. Keane, 63 Cerham St., Somerville.

RING—Address person who found diamond ring on Carolyn Ave., Revere, please call to communicate with Mrs. Cliff Woods at once. Reward $1.00. Company will follow case relentlessly.

Business and Professional Services

Phone Ads to American — Liberty 4000

Miscellaneous 15

SEWING MACHINES skirts repaired by expert at small cost; also skirts made. Mrs. S. Brown; Copley 6177-J.

Attorneys 19

ADVICE—Free in legal matters; all cases reliable, confidential; reasonable terms; specialists marriage troubles. White's Law Office, 3 Summer St., Room 826, Boston.

Florence Holt, 68 Robbins St., Waltham.

Beauty Aids 20

PERMANENT WAVE, $10

Do not make appointment by phone week, but have your Permanent by Hair Specialist with 20 years experience. Permanent operator will come to your home. Mrs. Brindley, 1402 Tremont St.; Beach 1402. Rm. 508.

Wm. G. Hovey, 122 Mt. Auburn St., Camb.

MARCEL 50c—Reburn 50c, scalp treatment 50c, French cut 50c. Mme. Rose, 130 Tremont St.

James Hurley, 20 Park St., Wakefield

PERMANENT WAVE $12, Manicure 75c. Aug. and Sept. Esther Beauty Shops, 126 Mass. Ave., Boston. B. B. 3338.

SPECIAL THIS WEEK—Permanent wave with marcel $10. Lucille Beauty Shop, 126 Tremont St. Rm. 509. Beach 6060.

Medical and Physicians 25

PLASTIC SURGEON

LOOK MANY YEARS YOUNGER
Att. FACIAL WRINKLES, DARK CIRCLES, FACE SAG, DEEP LINES, CROW'S FEET, MOLES, RED VEINS, WARTS, FROWNS, BAGGY EYELIDS, PIMPLES, SCARS, ACNE AND ALL BLEMISH DISORDERS.
CONSULTATION FREE

DR. E. P. REID
300 Boylston St., Rm. 320, Hancock 1890
OVER 30 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

Dr. Daniel Joseph X-RAY
Walsh, 18 Boylston Street, Boston

You will give you FREE an examination and total treatment with the new light treatment, must you call at this office before provided you call at this office before Aug. 16, no matter what you claim may be, except Tues. and Fri. thus 9 to 11, 2 to 4, 7 to 8 P. M. 10 A. M. to 4 P. M.

Andrew Hales, 683 North St., Randolph

DR. ESTHER MERRILL—Specialist. Hair permanently removed. Electrolysis. Mme. M. Hagopy, 299 Tremont St., Rm. 406. Dewey 9017-J.

Charles Daily, Revere St., Lexington

Business and Professional Services

Phone Ads to American — Liberty 4000

Detective Agencies 26

RAY Detective Agency, Inc., 100 Boylston St., established over 30 yrs.; men, women of character; secrecy; go anywhere.

Heating, Plumbing and Roofing 28

PLUMBING and heating; good materials, good workmanship, fair prices and the best of service. Why not try us? The McVarish Co., 158 Main St., Charlestown.

Painting, Papering and Decorating 29

PAINTING—Paper hanging and interior carpenters. Tel. Highlands 0255.

John Joyce, 200 Main St., Hingham

Repairing and Refinishing 30

HARDWOOD polishing a specialty, satisfaction guaranteed; estimates given. R. E. Maguire, 206 Bedford St., Boston.

Frank Kelly, 367 Boston St., So. Boston

Educational

Phone Ads to American — Liberty 4000

Trade Instruction 42

Barbering and Bobbing

Expert instruction in most modern system of Barbering and bobbing; success assured. Day-evening classes. Vaughn's Barber College, 19 Washington St., Boston.

HALL'S BARBER SCHOOL—648 Wash. St., Boston, "earn while learning"; day-eve.; terms reasonable; call or write; Rm. 806.

Frank Knight, 5 Kinnaird St., Cambridge

Help Wanted

Phone Ads to American — Liberty 4000

Situations Wanted—Male 48

•OFFICE MANAGER—Seeks connection with some concern where his knowledge of a trained executive; opportunity to represent a growing business more important than salary; detailed information in regard to my ability will be furnished upon request. Apply Box 2-62, this paper.

Margaret Langtry, 107 Ocean St., Dor.

Help Wanted—Female 50

AMBITIOUS women for work with large mfg. organization; promotion possible. Give phone address. Box W-85, this paper.

Patrick Leonard, 446 Quincy St., Dor.

LADIES—Catholic, pleasant outdoor work; subscription campaign, good pay to willing workers. 9:30-5. 105 Tremont St., 7th floor.

Wm. J. Lewis, 116 Marine Rd., So. Boston

WAITRESSES—Wanted for American Plan Hotel. Apply to the Hanover Inn, Hanover, N. H.

F. Lincoln, 36 Maple St., Weymouth.

Help Wanted—Male 53

SALESMEN

We have openings in Greenfield Boston for four high type salesmen to represent a large Western house manufacturing a Thermostatic device that automatically controls the Home heating plant to keep the room temperature always uniform. Must have some selling experience and own an automobile. Call with references for personal interview.

MR. E. N. ROCHE OR
MISS V. BURNS
92 SUMMER ST.,
BOSTON, MASS.
Vocational Bureau, Boston Advertiser-American.

WANTED AT ONCE

RIVETERS HOLDERS-ON HEATERS
REAMERS
DRILLERS
SHIPFITTERS
SHEET METAL WORKERS
JOINERS
HEAVY WIRE MESH WORKERS
SHIP CARPENTERS
WHARF BUILDERS

APPLY TO MR. ROCHE
VOCATIONAL BUREAU
BOSTON ADVERTISER-AMERICAN
68 SUMMER ST. BOSTON, MASS.

Wm. Loring, 776 Ashland St., Melrose Highs.

LINOTYPE OPERATORS—Calon, exper. on bubbles, week; permanent; nam storeys not wanted. 2-3 Lyon Co., Albany, N. Y.

SAVE MONEY IN BUYING THE AMERICAN CLASSIFIED WAY

Help Wanted

Phone Ads to American — Liberty 4000

Help Wanted—Male 53

PROOF READERS—Sales, exp. on pub. trade, $30 to $35. Lyon Co., Albany, N. Y.

SALESMAN—Who can finance himself two weeks on earn $1,000 month, commission basis, terms; no canvassing; no outfits, no delay. Room No. 56, Adams House.

Help—Male and Female 57

Fur Operators, Nailers

Wanted immediately, Henry Burg & Co., 267 Washington St., Boston.

WAITRESSES—Kitchen help, also chamber maid (female), dishwasher (male). Call Mills 0137 for information.

Herbert Mann, 8 Perry Pl., Everett

Business Opportunities 62

Phone Ads to American — Liberty 4000

Educational

Phone Ads to American — Liberty 4000

LODGING HOUSE

901 Tremont St., 9 rooms, bath; some rooms have running water; electricity, steam heat; rent $85 per month. Apply F. Pearce, Jr., 15 State St., Congress 2855.

ESTABLISHED business with $500 stock, Dorchester location; $350 cash. Mgr. 2970-M.

Edwin Brooks, 79 Tremont St., Boston

FIRST CLASS candy, ice cream store; good location; doing good business; owner in other business; reasonable. Apt. 2, 1 Hancock St., Boston

Frances Hope Woods, 3 Sutherl'd Rd., Brook.

LODGING—House 9 rooms, good condition; location near Kilburn Mills; rent $50; price reasonable; owner. Waltham 8086-W.

C. H. Williams, 139 Brooks St., Medford

MONTREAL—25-room hotel-tavern and dancing cafe; 3 blocks west of Windsor Hotel and railroad stations; one block to the main incoming visitors' thoroughfare; wine, also guarantee for transfer of license. Owner will lease building or together or separately. To be sold immediately on sales entail; to interested wire or write to J. Rancourt, 580 Dorchester West, Montreal.

Helen Concannon, 6 Perham St., W. Roxy.

ROOMING house 13 rooms, good location and condition, rent reasonable. Apply 1 Bowdoin Sq., Room 1, Boston.

ROXBURY—Grocery, meat and confectionery, located on corner near schools; American neighborhood; doing good business; good buy; quick sale. Hen. 0619.

A. J. Wenzlaff, 13 Gardner St., Arling.

SHOE SHINE—Hat cleaning, clean, candy store for sale; established 8 years. Upham Corner, Dor. Dor. 0122-M.

E. M. Craig, 4 Cushing Ave., Boston.

VALET SHOP—For sale, established five years, no competition, busy year round. 32 Huron St., 4486 Plainfield, Mass.

VARIETY store, groceries, tonics, ice cream and confectionery; American neighborhood; doing good business; low price rent to responsible party. Owner's illness. Everett 3008-W.

Financial

Phone Ads to American — Liberty 4000

Money to Loan—on Real Estate 69

WE LEND MONEY
To property owners at 6% for repairing, remodeling, improvements, new buildings, new indoors, no liens. Home Repairing & Remodeling Corp., 1 Beacon St., Boston; Main 8317.

Com Cushing, 1411 Milk St., Boston.

MORTGAGE FUNDS—Plenty of money for investment in first-class city and suburban properties. Attractive rates of interest. Benj. G. Tower, 87 Milk St., Boston. Hub. 2100. Charles H. Flint, Proprietor.

Furnished Rooms 99

•BAY STATE RD.—212, Furnished rooms, $6-$7. Private home. Cop. 2686-M.

J. C. Sullivan, 1 Bay State Rd., Boston

•BOSTON—Leyland House, 94 Warrenton St., nr. Tremont; 50 rooms $1 up; Summer rates. Dewey 4803-R.

•BOSTON—62 Fayette, sunny rooms, steam, hot water, $5 up; Summer rates. Dewey 1001-J.

•CAMBRIDGE—Bright rm., 3 min. to Park Sq., gentleman preferred. Camb. 1000.

Channing Williams, 40 Broad St., Boston

•DORCHESTER—Furnished room, Dorchester, pleas. room in private American family; suitable for gentleman; rent reasonable. 1052 Dorchester Ave., Dor. 0300.

L. J. Sullivan—Desirable rms., rear; near beach, trains. Breakers 7513-M. Hotel 0022-M.

Mrs. Hotel, 2 Gateway St., Beach.

•NORTHAMPTON ST., 184—Square, club room; also single room. Dewey 1001-J.

W. NEWTON ST., 37—Every room a dream, $6, $7, $8 week. Men only. Tel. in every room. Shower bath. Private baths, Day rates, $2, $2.50, $3. 9 P. M. B. B. 1454.

J. A. Colmes, 210 Chestnut Hill, Brighton.

•WINTHROP—1 or 2 rom. rms., facing water; also garage. Winthrop 1001-J.

A. J. Craddock, 611 Neponset Ave., Dor.

•WOLLASTON—Single front room, private family; convenient to beach; reas. Oma. 4847-J.

David Cullen, 208 St. Botolph St., Boston.

WE WILL FIND—
For you exactly the kind of a room you want—anywhere, any price and a list of rooms for Rent Dept., "Classified Corner," Liberty 4000, Boarding American and Advertiser, 93 Summer St. Rooms 4000. Free service to room seekers.

Rooms in Hotels 99

CAMBRIDGE—Near City Hall, pleasant rooms, $5 to $7, 42 Bigelow St.

•HOTEL BRUNSWICK, Boylston Ave.; daily, $1.50 to $5; weekly, $7.50 to $21; homelike.

Rooms for Housekeeping 93

•CAMBRIDGE—Furn. rm., kitchen, water, gas, electric, bath, $5 week. Univ. 1708-J.

CHARLESTOWN—2 light housekeeping rooms; rent reasonable. Kenmore 1708-J.

Angelo Leo, 122 Pond St., Braintree.

CHARLESTOWN—Two light housekeeping rooms; rent reasonable. Kenmore 0741-R.

•E. NEWTON ST., 4a—Large front cosy room, suitable for 2. Dewey 9017-J.

MASS. AVE.—426, furn. and bkng. rms.; convenient to Symphony Hall; also for storage. Kenmore 1708-J.

•MEDFORD—77 Second St., large pleasant, homelike rooms, newly furn., sun parlor, bath, hot water, gas range; also single room, kitchen privs.; reas. Myrtle 1070-M.

A. E. Bowen, 1 Bay State Rd., Boston

ROXBURY—3 lge. beam. rms., small kitchenette, gas, priv. entry, bath, $5 week; also gas, elec., heat. Roxbury 4705-W.

ROXBURY—Nicely furn. rms., every conv., heating, rooms, $6. Tel. Rox. 1036-M.

J. Manoogian, 56 Dover St., Boston.

•SOMERVILLE—Sunny, large, new rm., turn., complete; bkng., elec., ice chest, bath, gas. Somerville 1708-J.

•TENNEY ST., 3—Large sunny front room, rooms and kitchenettes; all impts.; reas.; 1 block to car. Dor. 0300.

Sarah McGrew, 17 Barrows St., Dedham.

•UPHAM'S CORNER—90 Alexander st., 3 rooms, gas, electric, bath, $5 week; also 2 kitchenette, for couple. Highlands 0971.

•WARREN AVE.—Sunny front room, $4.50; 2 or 3 rooms, kitchenette, Geneva 7562.

SEE YOU NEVER STOP—To consider that the spare room in your house is costing you money every day? Do you know that it can be easily rented? Do you realize that at only $5 per week $260.00 per week means $260.00? This is extra money that you can easily get. Just phone your ad to Rent Dept., Liberty 4000, about your room, phone number, location and price wanted, and we will write it just as you have already talked it over with us. Rooms 4000. Boarding American and Advertiser, 93 Summer St. Classified Corner, Boston. Liberty 4000.

Apartments, Flats—Unfurnished 97

ARLINGTON—87 Cornell st.; 5-6 rooms; all mod.; screened piazza; nice locs.; reas.

BACK BAY—5-6 rooms, rent $35-$45 per month; bath, elec., bark piazza; just off Huntington Ave. Arthur P. Pearce, Jr., 15 State St.; Congress 2855.

SAVE STEPS IN SHOPPING THE AMERICAN CLASSIFIED WAY

Real Estate for Sale

Phone Ads to American — Liberty 4000

Suburban for Sale 93

YOU ARE READING
THIS advertisement because you are looking for a home. I am advertising because I must sell 7-room, modern, day-bed-room, sun parlor, fine condition. Rent, Lexington. Phone Bolton 2290-J-R.

MEDFORD

Grant Ave., 9 family, 6-6 rooms, steam heat, all improvements; 2 cars; front and rear entrances; quick sale $16,700. Everett 2258-R.

MEDFORD

Near square, $8,900; 2-fam., 5-5 rooms, all impts.; 8,000 ft. of land; $1,500 cash. Owner, Mystic 1000.

BELMONT—New 7-room single; breakfast nook, fireplace; hot water heat; price $9,800. Call Arlington 1589.

BRIDAY, 147 Bay St.—2-fam. gar., fireplaces, all impts; $12,000. Roxbury 0353.

WESTON—Single house, 7 rooms, sun room, breakfast room, fireplace, garage, hot water brass, near Charles River, 22,000 sq. ft. land; price, Newton 1791-W.

WINCHESTER—Practically new, 7 rms., 2 car garage, 10,000 ft. land, hardwood all kinds shrubbery. Winch. or 1603-J.

BEAUTIFUL ROCKS—6 rooms, electricity, furnace heat, 3 baths, garage, 2 acres; near Mansfield Depot; $25 per month, just listed; this is a bargain. Also 2 cottages; a nice farm for sale, 16 acres, house, barn and poultry house, all stocked with fruit of all kinds, wood for home, about all cut and corded, hay for sale; everything, all farming tools, terms; $6,900. Agency. Mansfield Realty Co., 2 Park St., Room 200. Mrs. L. E. Hake, at the Depot, Mansfield Realty Co., Mansfield. Tel. 158-M.

Fay, 56 Kilby St., Boston.

$7,900 BARGAIN—Near Turtle Calling, new 9 family, Hudson House for sale; all on one floor; large lot land. F. C. Friend, 462 Washington St., Somerville. Somerset 2930.

Beal, Codman, 126 Mass. Ave., Boston.

Rentals

Phone Ads to American — Liberty 4000

Detailed information regarding any room ad marked with one star (•) in the Boston Evening American and Boston Advertiser classified columns may be obtained, Liberty 4000, or call at our office. Daily Hours—Corner Summer and Devonshire Sts. Ask for Mr. Roche.

Board and Room 97

•ARROWFORD RD., 20—Rm., first floor, with board if desired. Call Regent 5071-M.

•CAMBRIDGE—Elderly people or invalids cared for; home privileges. Univ. 1708-J.

MEDFORD—Near Fellsway lge. furn. room, board if desired; bath; Myrtle 0962-R. Apt.

•MEDFORD—Single rooms $4, $6; board optional. Mystic 2701-W.

Vacation Places 99

CAMP ELIZABETH

PINE BLUFFS
NEWPORT, VERMONT

Tel. 354 ring 11

For people who like the beauties of Vermont we need only say that CAMP ELIZABETH is on Memphremagog Lake, and others let us suggest boating, bathing, fishing, tennis, golf and croquet, all at reasonable weekly rate.

Charles H. Flint, Proprietor.

Furnished Rooms 99

•BAY STATE RD.—212, Furnished rooms, $6-$7. Private home. Cop. 2686-M.

J. C. Sullivan, 1 Bay State Rd., Boston

•BOSTON—Leyland House, 94 Warrenton St., nr. Tremont; 50 rooms $1 up; Summer rates. Dewey 4803-R.

•BOSTON—62 Fayette, sunny rooms, steam, hot water, $5 up; Summer rates. Dewey 1001-J.

•CAMBRIDGE—Bright rm., 3 min. to Park Sq., gentleman preferred. Camb. 1000.

Channing Williams, 40 Broad St., Boston.

•DORCHESTER—Furnished room, Dorchester, pleas. room in private American family; suitable for gentleman; rent reasonable. 1052 Dorchester Ave., Dor. 0300.

L. J. Sullivan—Desirable rms., rear; near beach, trains. Breakers 7513-M. Hotel 0022-M.

Mrs. Hotel, 2 Gateway St., Beach.

•NORTHAMPTON ST., 184—Square, club room; also single room. Dewey 1001-J.

W. NEWTON ST., 37—Every room a dream, $6, $7, $8 week. Men only. Tel. in every room. Shower bath. Private baths, Day rates, $2, $2.50, $3. 9 P. M. B. B. 1454.

J. A. Colmes, 210 Chestnut Hill, Brighton.

•WINTHROP—1 or 2 rom. rms., facing water; also garage. Winthrop 1001-J.

A. J. Craddock, 611 Neponset Ave., Dor.

•WOLLASTON—Single front room, private family; convenient to beach; reas. Oma. 4847-J.

David Cullen, 208 St. Botolph St., Boston.

WE WILL FIND—
For you exactly the kind of a room you want—anywhere, any price and a list of rooms for Rent Dept., "Classified Corner," Liberty 4000, Boarding American and Advertiser, 93 Summer St. Rooms 4000. Free service to room seekers.

Rooms in Hotels 99

CAMBRIDGE—Near City Hall, pleasant rooms, $5 to $7, 42 Bigelow St.

•HOTEL BRUNSWICK, Boylston Ave.; daily, $1.50 to $5; weekly, $7.50 to $21; homelike.

Rooms for Housekeeping 93

•CAMBRIDGE—Furn. rm., kitchen, water, gas, electric, bath, $5 week. Univ. 1708-J.

CHARLESTOWN—2 light housekeeping rooms; rent reasonable. Kenmore 1708-J.

Angelo Leo, 122 Pond St., Braintree.

CHARLESTOWN—Two light housekeeping rooms; rent reasonable. Kenmore 0741-R.

•E. NEWTON ST., 4a—Large front cosy room, suitable for 2. Dewey 9017-J.

MASS. AVE.—426, furn. and bkng. rms.; convenient to Symphony Hall; also for storage. Kenmore 1708-J.

•MEDFORD—77 Second St., large pleasant, homelike rooms, newly furn., sun parlor, bath, hot water, gas range; also single room, kitchen privs.; reas. Myrtle 1070-M.

A. E. Bowen, 1 Bay State Rd., Boston

ROXBURY—3 lge. beam. rms., small kitchenette, gas, priv. entry, bath, $5 week; also gas, elec., heat. Roxbury 4705-W.

ROXBURY—Nicely furn. rms., every conv., heating, rooms, $6. Tel. Rox. 1036-M.

J. Manoogian, 56 Dover St., Boston.

•SOMERVILLE—Sunny, large, new rm., turn., complete; bkng., elec., ice chest, bath, gas. Somerville 1708-J.

•TENNEY ST., 3—Large sunny front room, rooms and kitchenettes; all impts.; reas.; 1 block to car. Dor. 0300.

Sarah McGrew, 17 Barrows St., Dedham.

•UPHAM'S CORNER—90 Alexander st., 3 rooms, gas, electric, bath, $5 week; also 2 kitchenette, for couple. Highlands 0971.

•WARREN AVE.—Sunny front room, $4.50; 2 or 3 rooms, kitchenette, Geneva 7562.

SEE YOU NEVER STOP—To consider that the spare room in your house is costing you money every day? Do you know that it can be easily rented? Do you realize that at only $5 per week $260.00 per week means $1.56.00? $5 a week means $260.00; $5 a week means $260.00? This is extra money that you can easily get. Just phone your ad to Rent Dept., Liberty 4000, about your room, phone number, location and price wanted, and we will write it just as you have already talked it over with us. Rooms 4000. Boarding American and Advertiser, 93 Summer St. Classified Corner, Boston. Liberty 4000.

Apartments, Flats—Unfurnished 97

ARLINGTON—87 Cornell st.; 5-6 rooms; all mod.; screened piazza; nice locs.; reas.

BACK BAY—5-6 rooms, rent $35-$45 per month; bath, elec., bark piazza; just off Huntington Ave. Arthur P. Pearce, Jr., 15 State St.; Congress 2855.

SAVE STEPS IN SHOPPING THE AMERICAN CLASSIFIED WAY

Rentals

Phone Ads to American — Liberty 4000

Apartments, Flats—Unfurnished 97

BACK BAY—Allston, furn. and unfurn. 1, 2, 3 to 7-rm. suites; by the wk. or month; $10 to $100. F. White, 776 Beacon St. Kenmore 1006-1727.

BACK BAY—3 rooms, newly renovated, heated, modern. 56 St. Germain St. Cop. 1667-J.

A. Robbins, 14 Vinton St., Somerville.

BELLEVUE—Attractively kept, newly occupied, bath, kitchen, oak floors, screened fireplace, porch, $75. Adults only. Beach 4705-M E. A. Noble, 82 Hawthorne St., Malden.

CHARLESTOWN—2 apts., good repair; all impts.; gas, elec. 46 Sever St., Church.

COMMONWEALTH AVE.—Aberdeen, 3 beautiful rms., bkf., mod., ideal loca. Highlands 2930.

DORCHESTER—8 attrac. rms., every impt., mod. home, near everything. Call 2091.

DORCHESTER—8 Coleman St., 5 rms., all mod. imp., 2 porches, $40. Dor. 2091.

M. Ghatsis, 34 Michigan Ave., Dorchester.

JAMAICA PLAIN—3 sunny rms., all mod. impts., very reasonable. Jamaica 5492-M.

JAMAICA PLAIN—3 rms.; all impts., $32 to $35. Jamaica 1708-J.

W. H. Anderson, 50 Vinen's Rd., W. Roxy.

MEDFORD—5-6-7 rms., near Ford plant. Apply A. J. Fisk, Mystic 3407.

ORIENT HEIGHTS—6-rooms, all modern; also one room, garage optional. Bob Malone 0136-M.

ROXBURY—69 Humboldt Ave., 7 light rms., 1st floor, corner location, electric lights, hot water heat, janitor service, $75. Apply 71 Yankeevale. Roy 4845-J or Hig. 0831.

Michael Agnes, 69 Humboldt Ave., Roxbury

ROXBURY—6 rooms, $35. Apply 32 Valentine St. Tel. Roxbury 2165-M.

SOMERVILLE—Powell Ave., 94; two 5-rm. modern suites, garage. Univ. 0413-M.

WEST END—4 rms., $17; 4 rms., $20; all impts., gas, elec., hot and cold water, bath. Apply 247 Chambers St., corner Auburn.

A. B. Atwater, 25 River St. Beach.

WEST ROXBURY—Near to bath, hot water heat, electric light, space for car, $6.50. Jamaica 2538-W.

TO BATAVIA ST.—2 rooms, kitchenettes, bath, $30-$35; every improvement. A. Bellefleur, owner on premises daily, 8 to 7 P.M. Main 4062.

Moving, Trucking, Storage 99

RETURN VAN LOAD

Wanted by August 16 from Long Island, New York City, or en route, Household Express, 727 Belmont St., Waverley. Belmont 1000.

Lawrence Bay, 16 Magnolia St., Arlington.

ALLSTON—Trucking, furniture, etc. Carroll Trucking Co., 49 Court St. Congress 1217.

Suburban—for Rent 103

Dorchester

Modern 7-room apartment in 2-family house, situated in pretty residential section of Dorchester, near Codman Sq. Convenient to transit, near electric car line. Rent $60. Geneva 6305.

Dr. D. Roberts, 17 Fairbanks St., Boston.

ALLSTON—Kitchenettes, 1-2-3 rms., large reception hall, rents $33-$58, Janitor, 172 Warren St.; Aspinwall 7035.

Nathan Berman, 33 Wenonah St., Roxbury.

Miss Lodge—Desirable 5-room apartment, 1st floor, 1 Cambridge Park. Apply A. J. Fisk; Mystic 3407.

SOMERVILLE—In 6-apt. brick house, 5 in-rooms, 2 baths, hot water heater, $75. Apply 3rd floor, 40 Cedar St.

H. E. Bishop, 28 Adelaide Pl., Somerville.

SOMERVILLE—5-room apt., all mod. impts., $45. Somerville 3077-J.

W. SOMERVILLE—Upper 7-room apt., good location; call Sun. 2105-M.

C. E. Bonham, 21 Pearl St., Boston.

WINCHESTER—Upper apt. of 8 rooms, all impts., steam heat, roof garden, $100; other reasonable. Apply 61 Sheridan Circle.

WINCHESTER—5-6 rooms, modern, heated with priv.; central location. Win. 0282-M.

Business Places for Rent 104

HYDE PARK—Store formerly used as drug store, made big grocery or meat market. Geo. Washington St., Beach 0130.

E. G. Richards, 15 Winter St., Woburn.

KENMORE STATION—2-floors suitable for bus. of any kind. Will divide. Apply 1 Beth Vincent, 285 Beacon St., Boston.

WINDOW—Best and storage space, price, phone 1276 Tremont St., Rox. Reg. 0000.

Anna Carroll, 58 Evergreen Ave., Somer.

Office and Desk Room 105

CENTRAL TRADES BLDG.—Office to rent; reas. 161 Highland Ave. Som. 3100.

Charles Chase, 42 Webster St., Everett.

For Sale—Miscellaneous

Phone Ads to American — Liberty 4000

Musical Instruments 114

NORRIS

181 Tremont St.

Whatever you may need for a piano will be found at our warerooms—161 Tremont St., 181 Tremont St. Steinway Piano, Player Pianos, Uprights, Grands, Victrolas, Victor Records, Sheet Music, Rolls, Player Rolls, Player Benches, Stools, Scarfs, Lamps, Pictures, Mirrors, Bargains in Used Pianos

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE ☆ ☆ BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN ☆ ☆ BOSTON AUGUST 10, 1926

What 'Proof' Is Possible After Four Years

Millions of Women, Sympathizing With Mrs. Hall, Will Ask This Question

MRS. ELEANOR R. MILLS

After a few days in prison, Mrs. Edward W. Hall, accused of murdering her husband and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, a singer in his choir, four years ago, is released on $15,000 bail. The judge indicated that he did not consider the new evidence sufficiently serious to warrant refusing bail.

Detectives and the prosecuting attorney on the other hand, who haven't revealed their evidence, say it is all new, and it will be OVERWHELMINGLY CONVINCING.

The trial of the accused widow will probably be held in September. Then the State will bring forward all of its evidence; the ablest lawyers that money can hire, backed by the researches of private detectives, will be arrayed in Mrs. Hall's defense.

Governor Moore, of New Jersey, intends that the case shall be thoroughly tried once and for all, every particle of evidence produced that there may be no suggestion of wealth or influence defeating justice.

The Governor's desire is to GET THE FACTS. He is far from prejudice or bias in the matter, but, on the contrary, hopes, as many men and millions of women hope, that the result will prove Mrs. Hall, after all her suffering, innocent of the dreadful charge of murder.

When she was released from jail in $15,000 bail, Mrs. Hall was calm and, as the reporters put it, "as cool" as when she was arrested at midnight and taken to prison.

In fact, as she left the prison, Mrs. Hall smiled at the reporters gathered at the prison gate, and with her lawyers and friends posed smiling while photographers took her picture.

Newspaper reporters and detectives tell you that such calmness as Mrs. Hall showed indicates little, one way or the other. Sometimes the worst criminals are absolutely calm, apparently unmoved. Carlyle Harris, who poisoned his young wife whom he had married secretly, and of whom he wished to be rid, impressed reporters with his calm and suavity.

THE REV. EDWARD W. HALL

This writer, at Carlyle Harris' request, saw him take his seat in the electric chair, that he might report to Harris' mother how her son had died. The mother was told that her son's death was a scene of absolute calm and serenity, until the electricity was turned on.

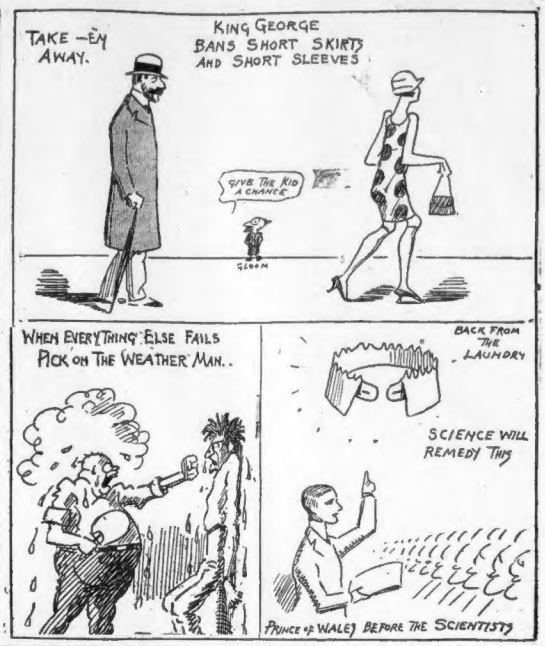
As he walked through the little dark door into the execution room, facing the electric chair with its wires and straps, Carlyle Harris was as cool as when he had discussed the crime and proclaimed his innocence in the presence of reporters in the Tombs prison.

With steady voice and polite sweeping gesture of his hand he said to the prison head, "I should like to say a few

Continued in columns 7 and 8.

I See by the Papers

By T. E. Powers



TAKE 'EM AWAY.
KING GEORGE BANS SHORT SKIRTS AND SHORT SLEEVES GIVE THE KID A CHANCE
GLOOM
WHEN EVERYTHING ELSE FAILS PICK ON THE WEATHER MAN..
BACK FROM THE LAUNDRY
SCIENCE WILL REMEDY THIS PRINCE OF WALES BEFORE THE SCIENTISTS

ELBERT HUBBARD OF EAST AURORA

By DR. FRANK CRANE

ONE of the most peculiar geniuses of America was Elbert Hubbard.

The institution he founded at East Aurora still exists and is doing business at the old stand.

He was primarily a writer, but was also a lecturer, a master craftsman and a business man.

Hubbard has always been regarded by many people as a sort of "bad boy."

The man who knew him best, Felix Shay, has written a book about him called "Elbert Hubbard of East Aurora." It reveals him as a very human character, a man not without faults, and yet one with many excellent qualities.

He was personally abstemious and temperate. His habits were simple. He was a hard worker. Perhaps he was a bit of a poseur, for all men are, but he was more of a playboy, if you get the distinction.

He loved his work and transacted it in the spirit of play.

Hubbard was a man who could do many things and do them all well. He had a genius for success. He succeeded in his business and in his writing.

His success is all the more remarkable because he entered into it through the back door. When learned publications refused to publish his writings he printed them himself.

He became a national figure and probably did much good for the American people in making them think.

His works are still very widely read and contain much common sense philosophy.

Shay's volume contains a wealth of anecdotes about Hubbard and is a careful estimate of his life.

It can be at least said of him that he was very highly esteemed by his fellow workmen and by those who worked for him.

He was a kindly man and had many friends. Most of his enemies consisted of those people who did not know him.

While we may differ from him in many of his opinions most of us have learned that we must not expect a forceful character to agree with us in everything. The best he can do for us is to stimulate our own thought.

As a stimulator Hubbard was a success.

People who knew Hubbard will revel in this book. People who did not know him will become acquainted with him through it.

It does not praise Hubbard. It depicts him as he was.

Whatever his faults, he generated health, happiness and a wholesome desire to work in nearly everyone who made contact with him. He did it just as naturally as a dynamo generates electricity. He was built that way.

Felix Shay manages to convey that current of joy and fun, foolishness and high purpose, idealism and practical common sense. He waited ten years after Hubbard's death before writing this book. Authors of biographies should take note of this man's performance.

Ten years is not too long to wait and reflect, if it enables you to write so fresh and simple and kindly a book as "Elbert Hubbard of East Aurora."

(Copyright, 1926, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Liberty is to be subserved, whatever occurs.—Whitman

All that is human must retrograde if it does not advance.—Gibbon.

Disdain hatreds.—Napoleon.

These little things are great to little men.—Goldsmith.

A true friend is forever a friend.—MacDonald.

Error of opinion may be tolerated where reason is left to combat it.—Jefferson.

There are two modes of establishing our reputation, to be praised by honest men, and to be abused by rogues.—Colton.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

"EVERYTHING'S based on selfishness," says the Cynic.

Good people are just as selfish as bad people. They do what they like to do, and since it happens to make us comfortable, we call it a virtue. But they really deserve no credit for it. The saint is following his own inclination as much as the sinner.

"Look back in history and consider the people who have done the 'greatest things' for humanity. We talk as if they deliberately gave their lives for others. They didn't. They did the thing that made life most interesting and valuable to them. They were exactly as selfish, in impulse, as the blackest criminals.

"We hold up mothers as examples of shining unselfishness. We speak of their long years of devoted service and sacrifice. But it pleases mothers to work and sacrifice. They are as selfish as the rest of us.

Well, suppose they are, my friend?

What of it?

The rising of the sap in a tree is probably a purely selfish affair. Yet you find shelter under the cool leaves fed by that sap. Why then fuss about the precise nature of the sap rising?

When Marconi was trying to put his wireless theory into form it is highly improbable that he lay awake at night, weeping big, wet emotional tears over the lives the radio would save some day and the souls it would hearten. What he was deeply interested in was his radio. Radio desire rose in him like sap in a tree —crowding out all other thought and desire, swelling in him until at last radio came. And now you and billions of other men profit by the radio. Why raise such a row, then, over whether Marconi's dream was selfish or not?

The mothers and martyrs, the heroes and valiant adventurers, the poets and prophets, even Christ himself would have them all barred from honors because "they were really pleasing themselves when they did the things they did—they were thinking only of their own desires."

Well, what's wrong with that?

Since the fruit of those desires was so good for all of us isn't it a blessing that such purpose focussed in them until it came to its perfect fulfilment?

And isn't it a gracious dispensation of Providence that those who do the good work should get intense satisfaction out of it?

We've assumed an entirely wrong attitude toward that word "selfishness."

We've messed it up a lot of hypocrisy and sentimentality.

We've made Self seem a wicked, abominable thing and the development of self a crime.

We're afraid to be happy about ourselves and our own desires. We're like savages in the jungle, offering up bloody sacrifice lest the jungle gods grow jealous and fall upon us.

Fool the Gods

So we try to fool the gods by pretending that we don't love ourselves at all—that we don't find any fun in attending to our own affairs.

We've talked that way so long, we've tried to fool the gods for so long, that we've ended it fooling ourselves. We've actually talked ourselves into believing that self-satisfaction is a vile and perverse thing and that we must hide all evidence of such. And Cynic believes he has put us to shame. There's nothing shameful about healthy selfishness. It is, indeed, the natural and legitimate attitude. You're not supposed to think of the whole world when you take a glass of jelly to sick Mrs. Brown. You're supposed to take glasses of jelly to sick people to get a lot of satisfaction out of doing so. You're not being a missionary for some mysterious Deity. You're being a good servant to the healthy, rising sap of life within yourself.

Selfish? Of course, it is. And we'd have a lot clearer world if we'd stop pretending to be ministering angels and start getting a kick out of making a good job of ourselves.

Copyright, 1926, King Feature Synd., Inc.

ARE YOU MASTER OR THE SERVANT OF YOUR EMOTIONS?

How are your spirits—way up or way down?

One day dejected, the next elated over you know not what.

Do you allow little things to have too great an effect upon you in making you either sad or happy?

And you wonder why it is that some people never seem especially jubilant nor discouraged nor depressed.

It is because they have control of their emotions—they are masters of themselves.

You are quite the reverse. You are blown about, wafted, with the wind of good or ill-filling.

Why not train yourself to be bigger than the little daily worries?

Everyone meets misfortune and discouragement—exasperating circumstances and really serious situations, but most folks control their emotions.

You would be happier if you would get yourself under control.

Why don't you do so?

Copyright, 1926, International Features Service, Inc.

What 'Proof' Possible?

Continued from columns 1 and 2.

words, I suppose I may be permitted," and again repeated that he was innocent. His voice was level, not a break or a tremor. The reporters, on the other hand, when they looked later at the notes that they had written putting down his last words, found that their hands had shaken violently and the written words could be read only with difficulty.

Calmness or agitation, according to those that understand crime, means nothing.

One man or woman, guilty, is calm and cool.

A crowd of professional gunmen, as guilty as sin itself, recently came into court, weeping, shivering, begging mercy of the law that were to testify against them.

It is not innocence or guilt, but the CHARACTER of the man or woman accused that produces calmness or hysterics when the accusation is made.

As for Mrs. Hall, every woman knows that the agony she endured, while she knew of her husband's faithlessness, was such as to make all other shocks and surprises, even AN ACCUSATION OF MURDER, seem unimportant.

Having gone through what SHE went through, while her husband's faithlessness and guilt were forced upon her, nothing could make much difference.

Now that the judge has allowed Mrs. Hall to return to her home, under $15,000 bail, the public will ask, "How can guilt be proved beyond any reasonable doubt after a lapse of four years?"

One woman who became conspicuous in the early time of the crime, the keeper of a pig farm, near the old crabapple tree, declares that she saw Mrs. Hall near the death rendezvous on the night of the crime.

If that statement was not convincing four years ago, how can it be convincing TODAY?

How could a woman retain through four years an exact memory of another human being?

What value will other testimony have?

Four years have gone by, the dead clergyman and the woman that died with him, have long since fed the worms, and gone to their reward or punishment elsewhere.

The old crabapple tree is gone, carried away by souvenir hunters with morbid minds.

The unfortunate, accused widow has grown four years older, as have all the witnesses. Memories grow dim in four years.

Millions of women who sympathize with Mrs. Hall, knowing what she must have suffered, and hoping for her exoneration, will ask, "How can anything be proved NOW?"

No one need fear that the case will be hushed up, or any influence used sufficient to prevent full justice being done.

Governor A. Harry Moore, of New Jersey, thoroughly impartial, intends that the State in its prosecution shall have every assistance.

He has appointed as special prosecutor for the State, Senator Alexander Simpson, one of the ablest lawyers in New Jersey and a keen prosecutor.

Every fact will be brought out, including evidence that Prosecutor Bergen, originally in charge of the case, declares to be convincing, but not to be revealed at this time.

Whether or not Mrs. Hall will go on the stand in her own defense is not known. It is probable that she could tell the judge and jury such a story of her own suffering, before the crime, as would make conviction, or at least infliction of the extreme penalty, difficult and improbable.

Millions will follow with interest this strange case of a middle-aged woman, highly educated, wealthy, calm and quiet as the Sphinx, standing up alone against the horrible charge of having murdered her husband, a clergyman, killing at the same time the young and attractive woman, Mrs. Mills, a singer in his choir, and a partner in his guilt. Such a case, in its strangeness, mystery and pathos, is unknown in the history of crime.